The Landgraves of HESSE before the Partition.

HESSE, or Hassia, bounded on the North with Saunschweig, on the South with Peteravia, or Uettersau, on the East with Thuringia, and on the West with Westphalia, was anciently inhabited by the Catti, or Chatti. It was first conquered after the Romans left it, by the Wessi, from whom it was call'd Hesse, or Hessen; and these Hessi were soon after subdued by the Thuringians, and made the Subjects of the Landgrave of Thuringia, till the Death of HERMAN, the last of the Male Issue of Lewis Barbarus, (Table 246.) for then there arose several Contentions with the Marquisses of Misnia about the Succession; but at last Sophia the Sister of the said Herman, and Wife of HENRY Duke of Brabant, obtain'd Hesse for her young Son HENRY, who exchange'd the Title of Landgrave of Thuringia, for that of Landgrave of Hesse. ## The Old Counts of ASCANIA and BALLENSTADT.

ASCANIA is by some deriv'd from ASKENATZ the Grandson of Japhet and first King of the Germans. Table 213. But That seems to be too far fetch'd; especially that we read how THEODORIC King of Genty having made Peace with the Saxons, assaulted next the Thuringians, in which War he was aided by 9000 Saxons commanded by their eminent Chief Bernwald or Bernibobald A. D. 524. THEODORIC rewarded the Saxons with some part of Thuringia contiguous to them, and particularly bestowed on Bernwald the Towns of Ballenstadt and Ascania, from which old City this Country seems to be call'd ASCANIA; but the Germans call it Ascherleben. The Successors of this BERNWALD were call'd the Lords of Ascania and Ballenstadt untill

TABLE CCCXIV.

The House of Croy so call'd from an old Castle of that Name, not now subsisting, but in place of it is a Village call'd Croy or Crouy.

From whom the Princes and Counts of Arschott, Chimay, Croy, Habre, Rœur, and Solre are descended, all Roman Catholics.

JOHN of Croy descended from Andrew the Son of ANDREW II. King of Hungary was slain 25 October 1415. in the famous Battel of Azincourt or Agen-Court, where HENRY V. King of England defeated the French, slew in Battel 10000 Common Soldiers and 1000 of the prime Nobility, and gave no Quarter to the Prisoners who exceeded the Number of his own Army, which consisted only of 15000 Men, and so inconsiderable was his. Loss that at most it is computed to amount to 500 Common Soldiers and 4 Persons of Note, viz. the Duke of Burgundy and the Earl of Suffolk and two Knights.

TABLE CCCXLV.

The Ancient and Modern COUNTS and BARONS of the German Empire, and first of the two old Colleges, WETTERAU and SCHWABIA.

THEY have now, or have had, most of 'em, Princely Power and Authority, tho' many of 'em also are Homagers to Princes, and are too many for this Book to be deduced in Genealogical Tables, as the learned Mr. Hubner of Hamburg has done most of 'em in a Folio Book by themselves, published in High Dutch Anno 1727. to which I refer the curious Reader; for That belongs not properly to my Undertaking of the Genealogies of Sovereigns: Only because they are next to Princes in Power, are descended from Princes, or have Princes descended from them, I exhibit their Catalogues, not in Mr. Hubner's Method, but according to their four Colleges in the Imperial Dyet at Ratisbon, where they sit and vote like Princes; and to avoid the Controversy of their Antiquity and Precedency, I shall place them Alphabetically.

The two old Colleges are WETTERAU and SCHWABIA.

The COUNTS of Holland, Zeeland and West-Friesland of the Line of Aquitain.

THE WRITERS of Antient History inform us that a certain Scythian King in ancient Germany had two Sons BATTUS and ZELANDUS, who being afraid of Poison or Murder by their cruel Step-Mother, fled down the Rhine, and BATTUS settled on an Island which from him was call'd Battavia now Batavia, while ZELANDUS travel'd a little farther, and settled in the Country and Islands from him call'd Zetland. They became powerful Commanders, built many Cities, Castles and Forts, and their Successors in time became famous for their valiant opposing the Romans, Saxons, Gauls, Danes and Norwegians, who plagued them by Sea and Land. But the last of these, viz. the Danes and Norwegians having planted themselves in these Countries gave them the Names of Seland and Deland (according to the learn'd Junius) with reference to two Islands in the Baltick, from whence they came of that same Name. At last Charles the Bald King of France being Master of the Netherlands and the adjacent Countries, did, at a general Convention of his Princes and Barons at Bladel in Campaign, advance the two Sons of his Uncle Haghen or Sigebert, as follows:

HAGHEN Count of Aquitaine, or according to others SIGEBERT Prince of Aquitaine, the Uncle of Charles the Bald King of the French.

ROBERT III of Artois, Count of Beaumont le Roger, had a severe Contest with his Aunt MATHELDIS about the Inheritance of Robert II. he claiming as the Representative of his deceased Father Philip the eldest Son of Robert II. but she claim'd as the only surviving Child of Robert II. for that in Artois the Right of a Representative had not yet took place, and by her Marriage obtain'd the Sentence in the Court of the Peers in her Favour. ROBERT endeavouring to maintain his Rights by Arms was reduc'd by King Philip Legus, and Artois confirm'd to MATHELDIS, only to mitigate his Grief the King gave him Beaumont in Normandy. ROBERT afterwards by his Affinity and good Offices became the Favourite of King Philip Valefius, and renew'd his Claim but in vain, for Philip would not reverse the Decrees of his Predecessors. ROBERT then us'd little Arts in producing forged Tables, and by his Influence excited the King's Wrath, who got him imprisoned by the Parliament, and his Wife and Children imprison'd, while he fled first to the Duke of Brabant, and next into England, where King EDWARD III. of Richmond, whereby he became the Author of all those Wars and Calamities the French. At length, being sent by King EDWARD to succour the Count of Montreuil at the Siege of Vannes, and returning to England † of his Wounds 1343.

He erected fourteen Biſhopricks in the Netherlands, which introduced the Inquiſition, at which the People repine 1560, and complain to the King of Granbel the Pro-pagator 1561, but he gave them no ſatisfaction, they renewed their Complaint 1562, and then Granbel was recalled into Spain. The Proteſtants were perfecuted by Means ofthe King's Proclamations, the Nobles ſtand upon their Guard 1565, and enter'd into an Aſſociation (which they call'd the Compromiſe) which was ſubſcribed by 400 Perſons of Qua-lity to defend the Proteſtant Religion 1566, the Images were pull'd down, and the Proteſtants permitted to build Churches in Antwerp. ## The Sicanbrian KINGS, from whom the present KINGS of France are descended.

THE Kingdom of Sicanbria, which first appeared, was upon the Borders of Germany, near the German Sea. At their first coming here they were call'd Newmages (or new Kindred) afterwards Sicanbri, and lastly Franks, or Frantoniens, or French. They were originally from the South of the Danube, from whence they were expell'd by the Goths. Some Authors say that the first Stories of them are fabulous, and that these People were never heard of till the Time of the Emperor Galen. But however it is that they first appear'd, other Historians have recorded these following Kings.

65. LEWIS XV. the present King of France.

THE Gauls, the ancient Inhabitants of this Country, and of the same Original with the old Germans are famous in History for a valiant and potent People; as Julius Caesar found when they afforded him ten Years hard Work with ten Roman Legions before he could compleat his Conquest; nor did he ever totally subdue them. After they had been near 500 Years under the Dominion of the Romans, the Francians or Franks a German People, having expell'd the Vandals, Alans, Suevians, Goths and Burgundians out of Gaul, became Masters of the Country, now from them call'd France. And ever since the Government has been in the hands of Franconian Kings of three principal Races, viz. the Merovingians from MEROVAEUS, the Carolinians from Charles Martel or from CHARLEMAIN, and the Capetingians from HUGH CAPET, whose Original has occasion'd much Debate among Historians. Some deriving him from WITKING the Great as in Table 215, which Opinion, the modern French Historians oppose, believing their Kings not to be descended from Foreigners, and are at great Pains to prove their Descent either from the Merovingians or Carolinians; those who deduce them from the Carolinians are much divided, and their Opinions are in Tab. 374. But those who plead for HUGH CAPET's Merovingian Descent, say it was either from ALBERO or SIGIMER his Brother, the Son of CLODIO the Son of PHARAMUND as in Table 374. or according to Table 373 from Sigebert the Natural Son of THEODORIC II. King of Metz. See the other Opinions of this Affair in Table 374. But however the Capetingians are descended; it is certain that from them directly spring the Dalesian and Bourbonian Kings down to the present King LEWIS XV.

These Modern Authors reckon up the immediate Predecessors of PHARAMUND in this Order, viz.

FRANCUS who liv'd in the third Century. in the Reign of the Emperors Valerianus and Gallienus.

GENEBAUDS reign'd cotemporary with the Emperors Maximinus and Constant II.

PRIM cotemporary with the Emperor Theodosius Magnus. And MARCONIS flourish'd in the same Emperor's Reign. He was the Father of,

The Old KINGS and COUNTS of Bretaine.

Armoria. Originally called from its Situation on the Sea, came to be called Bretaigne, as some think, from a Colony of Britons brought or sent hither by MAXIMUS the Roman Governor of Britain, when he rebell'd against the Emperor GRATIAN and set himself up to be Emperor about A. D. 385. Those Britons becoming Masters of this Province, it was from them named Britannia Minor (Little Britain;) but this being only first mention'd by Geoffrey of Monmouth, and by no Author before him, it is look'd upon as fabulous: As for the Welch, or ancient British Words, found still in some Parts of Bretaine, they may more justly be counted the Remains of the ancient Gallie Language, of which the ancient British was a Dialect. Others affirm that Armoria was fill'd with a People call'd Britanni from Gallia Belgica that fled upon the Incursions of the Northern Nations, and settl'd here; but That has no more certainty than the former, only 'tis generally believ'd that some Britons, either from Gallia Belgica, or from the Island of Great-Britain, made, in process of time, a considerable Settlement among the Armorians, but the Time is uncertain, though it seems to have been begun some time before the Franks made any Settlement in Gaul, for the People of this Country are not Franks. They were govern'd at first by their own Kings, who being only mention'd in the Romantic Legends of the Monks, whose Writings cannot be depended upon for accurate Truths, I shall overlook them all, save King ALDROENUS or Auldran the Son of King SOLOMON, who (according to Geoffrey of Monmouth) was solicited by the Insular Britons, to help them in their Distress against the Scots and Picts, and sent over his Brother CONSTANTIN with a well appointed Army to their Aid, who having repuls'd the Enemy, was made King of Britain A. D. 433, for whose Posterity see the old Britannic Tables. They that begin the Kingdom of the Britons in Armoria with the Days of MAXIMUS A. D. 385, call their first King CONAN, the Father of GRALLON, the Father of SOLOMON, the Father of ALDROENUS, or Auldran, and of CONSTANTIN King of the Insular Britons. Auldran was the Father of BODES, the Father of HOEL, the Father of ALAIN, the Father of HOEL, the Father of SOLOMON, the Grandfather of ALAIN II. the last King of Bretaine of the Race of CONAN; who dying without Male Issue, his Kingdom was distracted by Competitors, and at last subdued by CHARLEMAIN. And though they recover'd their Liberty and Kingdom in the time of LEWIS PIUS, yet they did not long enjoy the quiet Possession of it. And after the Murder of two or three Usurpers of the Royal Title, the invidious Name of KING was laid aside, and the Title of COUNT was substituted in its Place, which COUNTS are as follow, viz.

Charles Orleans born 10 October 1492
† 6 December 1495.

IV. CHARLES VI. born at Paris 5 December 1368, was a Minor at his Father's Death, and Lewis of Anjou his Uncle was made Regent. He assumed the Government 1388. he reduc'd the Duke of Gelders to his Obedience and made a Peace with the English, and ratify'd his Father's League with Scotland. He marched against John Duke of Montfort and Bretagne 1392, and the next July being enter'd the Forest of Mans a ghastly Fellow came up to him and said, Stop King! whether you or I am betrayed! This put the King into a Frenzy; and therefore the Dukes of Orleans and Burgundy mightily contended for the Regency during the King's Incapacity, which Contention mightily weaken'd France and gave the English Leisure to land in Normandy, where they lost Harfleur 1415, and 25 Aug. that same Year HENRY V. King of England gave the French a great Overthrow at Azin-Court, as described at length by the English and French Historians; and after the French had lost several Towns to the English, Roban, Normandy and Main were all conquer'd 1418, and the next Year John Duke of Burgundy was murder'd by CHARLES the Dauphin, 10 Sept. 1419, which Action was abominated by all Nations; wherefore a Peace was concluded with HENRY V. of England, whereby HENRY should marry Catharin the Daughter of CHARLES, and be Regent during the Life of Charles whom he was to succeed after his Death, for that the Dauphin had forfeited his Right to the Crown. But both HENRY and CHARLES † soon after; Charles † 20 October 1422. and so the Dauphin succeeded.

V. CHARLES VII. the 2<sup>d</sup> Sonately Dauphin born 21 Jan. 1402, slew the Duke of Burgundy 1419, and was therefore declar'd to have forfeited the Crown; yet he got himself crown'd immediately after his Father's Death, though King HENRY VI. of England had been proclaim'd King at Paris. He had had Success at first, and was in Derision call'd by the English the King of the Bourges. He was worsted at Mons in Flanders by the Duke of Burgundy, and also at Crevant near Auxerre 1423, and at Verneville in Perche 1424, and at last was besieg'd at Orleans and was almost brought to a Nonplus, till Joan of Arc, call'd the Maid of Orleans, a Girl about 18 Years of Age presented herself before him and repuls'd the English 1429. But she was next Year taken by the English and burnt for a Witch at Rouen. 6 July 1431, by order of the Duke of Bedford. CHARLES having often worsted the English was crown'd at Rheims 1430. Then he Overthrew the Prince of Orange. pacified the Duke of Burgundy by the Treaty of Arras 1435, and gain'd many Cities to his Party. Then he took Metz, renew'd the War with the English, from whom he took Rean and all Normandy 1449, and after the Batel of Castillon he gain'd Guienne also 1452. The English only kept Calais. This King admir'd a young Woman call'd the Fair Agnes and † 22 July 1461, having obtain'd 7 Days from Eating, for fear of being poison'd.

VI. LEWIS XI. born 6 July 1423, crown'd 15 August 1461. He was a most cunning Prince, who laid the first Foundation of the arbitrary Power of France, of which the great Men of the Kingdom foreseeing the Consequences, enter'd forthwith into an Association, which they call'd, La Ligue du bien public, or Communealtie-League. Charles of Burgundy one of the Chiefs of this League, A. D. 1467, fought the Batel of Montleberg; and Anno 1477, being slain at Nancy, leaving no Male Issue, Lewis took Possession of Burgundy, pretending an Escheat of it to the Crown. He united Provence, Anjou and Mons to the Crown which he got by the Will of Charles of Anjou the last Count of Main. This King's Proverb or Axiom of State was, Qui nescit dissimulare nescit regnare, or none but a Knave can be a King. In his last Days he liv'd miserably, and became ridiculous by his continual fear of Death and † 30 October 1483. His first Wife Margaret Stewart, Daughter of JAMES I. King of Scotland, married 1436, and † at Chalons 1445. before he was King. She had no Issue. See Scotland. But when he came to the Throne, in respect to her Memory, he moved her Corps from Chalons to the Abbey in St. Leon of Thouars in Poitou where it lies.

VII. CHARLES VIII. born 30 June 1470. He was betroth'd to Elizabeth, Daughter of EDWARD IV. King of England 1475. But this Match being broken, after 7 Years, he was next betroth'd to Margaret, Daughter of Maximilian of Austria 1483. When he was King he intended to unite the Dukedom of Bretagne to the Crown of France by Force; but perceiving that Maximilian of Austria had concluded a Match with Ann the sole Heire's of Bretagne, and fearing the growing Greatness of the House of Austria, he oblig'd the Bride, what by Force, and what by Flattery to renounce Maximilian (as in Table 378.) and to be married to himself. He made Peace with HENRY VII. King of England and with the Emperor MAXIMILIAN 1493. Then he claim'd the Kingdom of Naples and undertook an Expedition thither 1494, which occasion'd continual Miseries to Italy for 40 Years. CHARLES had good Success at first, he march'd to Rome and was invested in that Kingdom by Pope Alexander VI. and was also there crown'd Emperor of Constantinople. Then 1495 he took Capua and made his solemn Entrance into Naples with loud Acclamations; when the whole Kingdom submitted to him except the Isle of Itria and the Cities Brundish and Gallipoli. But the French, by their ill Behaviour, soon lost the Favour of the Neapolitans, who soon revolted; and the Emperor, the Pope and FERDINAND King of Aragon made a League to expel the French from Italy. CHARLES therefore, that his Retreat might not be cut off, march'd into France, but was met with on the Way by the Confederate Army near the River Taro, where CHARLES was victorious, but still kept on his March till he came to France; and then FERDINAND with Ease retook the Kingdom of Naples to the just Dishonour of the French, in not maintaining Naples one Year. The Prince of Conde under Pretence of his old Age was d. smil'd the Court. Thus arose great Animosities between the Houses of Guise and Bourbon, which occasion'd all the ensuing Calamities to the Kingdom of France. But FRANCIS † 21 Orleans Dec. 1560 without Issue. Henrica married 1625, † 1682.

N. N. of Valois Count of Auvergne, born 1631, † 4 October 1637.

XII. CHARLES IX. crown'd June 1552, crown'd at Rheims 15 May 1560, and being a Minor was under the Guardianship of his Mother, who was very careful to keep up the Differences between the Houses of Guise and Bourbon. She instigated the Conference of Poissy between some Divines of both Persuasions 1561. Then the Royal Protection was by a public Edict (call'd The Edict of Jan. 1562) promisd to the Protestant Religion, which greatly exasperated the Triumvirate, viz. the Dukes of Guise and Montmorancy and the Marechal of St. Andrew, the sworn Enemies of the Reformation; and so this same Year the first Religious War commenc'd, but a Peace was made 1563. After this the French beat the English out of Havre de Grace, which the Huguenots had given them as an Acknowledgement for their Assistance. It is reported that during this first War 50000 Huguenots were slain. This Peace continued no longer than till 1566. when the 2d War began. But after a Battle a 2d Peace was made 1568, which was broken next Year by the Commencement of the 3d War, during which the Prince of Conde was kill'd in a Battle near Jarnac, and then the Huguenots declar'd HENRY King of Navarre their Head, who was beat at the Battle of Montconour, where he lost 9000 Foot; but he soon recruited, being assisted from the Palatinat with Soldiers, and by Queen ELIZABETH with Money. Then he directed his March to Paris, whereupon the Huguenots obtain a very advantageous Peace (tho' the main Design of the Peace was their Ruin.) The Admiral was caref'd at Court, and a Marriage concluded between HENRY King of Navarre and Margaret the Sister of this King CHARLES, to which Wedding they invited the Chief of the Huguenots with a Design to cut their Throats in Paris, contriv'd by the Cabinet Council of the King, the Queen Mother, the Dukes of Guise, Anjou, Nevers, Retz and Turenne. Then it was agreed that at the tolling of the Bell for Morning Prayers (which was the barbarous Sign) all the Huguenots should be massacred 24 Aug. 1571 except HENRY King of Navarre and the young Prince of Conde, which was executed accordingly, beginning with the Great Admiral Coligny whom they kill'd, cut off his Head, and used his Body with barbarous Disgrace, so that within a few Days 30000 Protestants were miserably massacred; yet after the first Consternation was over, the Huguenots recruited themselves and began the 4th War, during which the Royalists besieged Rochelle, and having lost 12000 Men before it, they rais'd the Siege, on the News of HENRY Duke of Anjou's being elected King of Poland, and made a Peace a fourth time 1573. But 1574 the fifth War commenc'd, when the Politician Faction arose in France, headed by the House of Montmorancy. But during these Troubles King CHARLES † 30 May 1574. by a great Effusion of Blood thro' all the Passages of his Body. His Mistress was Mary Touchet Lady of Belleville.

Charles of Valois a natural Son Count of Auvergne and de Lauraguais, born 28 April 1573. He was afterwards Duke of Angoulesme, Count of Ponthieu, Knight of the Golden-Fleece. XIII. HENRY III. born 19 September 1551, elected King of Poland 9 May 1573, but upon his Brother's Death he privately left Poland, and was crown'd King of France 13 February 1575. He being wholly addicted to his Pleasures was easily led away by Flatterers, leaving the chief Administration of the Kingdom to his Mother. The Huguenots Power encreas'd remarkably; for the King's Brother Francis of Alencon, the Prince of Conde and the Palatin John Casimir, sided with them; and therefore a 5th Peace ensued, whereby they obtain'd very advantageous Conditions. At which time a new Façion was set up, which was call'd the Holy Union or League, which was chiefly promoted by Henry Duke of Guise; and tho' the Design of it was proclaim'd to be the Defence of the Roman Catholic Religion, and the Establishment of HENRY III. and the Liberty of the Kingdom, yet the Duke of Guise aspir'd after the Crown. The King sign'd this League and call'd himself its Patron 1577. Then the 6th War against the Huguenots began; but the King being 100000000 in Debt made Peace that same Year and return'd to his Pleasures, which made him odious to the People, who began to love and respect the Duke of Guise. Anno 1579, the 7th War against the Huguenots commenc'd, but Peace was made 1580, which lasted five Years. After which the Leaguers began the 8th War, and oblig'd the King to forbid the Exercise of the Protestant Religion in France; during which the King of Navarre beat the Duke of Joyeuse near Courtras 1587, but did not prosecute his Victory. And about the same time the Duke of Guise dispers'd the German and Swiss Forces, who were marching to the Assistance of the Huguenots, for which the Duke of Guise was highly applauded by the People and the King's Reputation diminish'd, the very Priests in their Sermons calling him a Tyrant, and the Leaguers oblig'd him to leave Paris by Night 1588. The King therefore abhorred the Leaguers, and being unable by Force to punish them, he pretended to pass over all Injuries; and under specious Pretences he got the Duke of Guise to appear at the Assembly of States at Blois, where he caus'd him and his Brother the Cardinal to be murder'd; Which Action so enrag'd the Leaguers, that the King was publicly declar'd in Paris to have forfeited the Crown and was excommunicated by the Pope: then he made an Agreement with the King of Navarre and join'd the Huguenots. He march'd to reduce the City of Paris to their Obedience; but the Day before the design'd general Attack, one James Element a Jacobin Monk brought a Letter out of the City directed to the King, which whilst he deliver'd, pretending to whisper the King, he thrust a Knife into his Bowels, of which he † next Day 2 August 1589, without Issue. But 1574 the fifth War commenc'd, when the Politician Faction arose in France, headed by the House of Montmorancy. But during these Troubles King CHARLES † 30 May 1574. by a great Effusion of Blood thro' all the Passages of his Body. His Mistress was Mary Touchet Lady of Belleville.

ANTONY Duke of Vendome born 22 April 1518. His Father-in-Law dying without Male Issue he succeeded him in Navarr and the Principality of Bearn 1555, and there reign'd in Peace till the beginning of the Reign of FRANCIS II. in whose Reign he was call'd to the Court of France by the Constable Montmorancy, who hated the too great Authority of the Guises: ANTONY being of slow Temper, and distrusting Montmorancy, made no great Halle; but at last he came to Paris where he made a very short Abode, fearing the Guises, who then sat at the Helm of all Affairs, and lest the Spaniards should deprive him of the rest of Navarr; therefore he hastened to his own Dominions: But that he might return with some Appearance of Honour, he took upon him the Charge of conducting Princess Elizabeth, the Sister of King FRANCIS II. home to King Philip of Spain, to whom she had been betroth'd. He return'd again to the Court of France along with his Brother Lewis Prince of Condé a little before the Death of King FRANCIS; but on account of the Hatred the Guises bore to them, as if they had been concern'd in the Conspiracy of Blois, they had but cold Entertainment from the King; nay, they were in Danger of their Lives. But after the King's Death, Montmorancy effected an Agreement between the King of Navarr and the Queen Mother and Regent; and he was call'd Viceroy in all Parts of the Kingdom, and soon after by the same Means he was reconcil'd with the Guises, by whose flattering Persuasions, and the Promises of the Spaniards to give him Sardinia in the Place of Navarr, he was decoy'd to abandon the Protestants and join the Roman Catholics. But when he was besieging Roëan, he was wounded in the Shoulder 15 October 1562, of which he † 17 November following.

L. HENRY IV. Magnus, born 13 December 1553. He was King of Navarr 1562, afterwards Head of the Protestants at 15 Years of Age. In his 19th Year he was married to Margaret, Daughter of HENRY II. King of France, an unhappy Marriage, because of the Massacre of Paris 24 August 1572. Table 381. After 4 Years Servitude (as he accounted it) at Court, among Numbers of wicked Men and Women, the Enemies of Mankind, he left the Court and again join'd the Protestants; and in a short time became terrible to his Enemies, whom he thrice forced to sue for Peace, which they as often violated, viz. the Peace of Poitiers, Nerac, and La Flèche. By the Battel of Cussy 1587, he broke up the League made between the Pope, the King of Spain and Duke of Guise: at last he succeeded to the Crown of France upon the Death of Henry III. 2 August 1589. He was at first hard put to it by the Contumacy of the Leaguers, whom he soon overcame at the Battel of Arques 1589, and next Year 14 March 1590, in the Battel of Ivry, and that same Day his Generals conquer'd the Leaguers at Issendres. At last when Alexander Farnesius arrived at Paris to put a Stop to his Victories, the King, to put a Stop to these Combustions, solemnly renounc'd the Protestant Religion and embrac'd the Roman Catholic 25 July 1593, upon which he was acknowledg'd to be King by the Cities, Parliaments and Chiefs of the League, and last of all by the Duke of Maine, and crown'd at Chartres 17 February 1594, and next Year the King was wounded in his Mouth instead of his Throat by a Russian John Casel at the Instigation of the Jesuits, who were therefore banish'd France, tho' in a few Years restor'd. King HENRY publish'd the Edict of Nantes 1598, whereby the Protestants receiv'd the full Exercise of their Religion. He also made the Peace of Vereines that same Year, and then went against the Duke of Savoy, from whom he took all his Possessions on this side the Alps: But at last, by the Mediation of the Pope, a Peace was made 27 January 1601. Then he studied how to retrieve the Splendour of France. But in the midst of this Peace he design'd to stop the Growth of the House of Austria, and to keep it within the Bounds of Spain and the hereditary Countries, and so concerted Measures with the Northern Crowns, Holland, the Protestant Princes of Germany, the Elector of Bavaria, the Duke of Savoy, the Swiss, and even with the Pope himself. And to begin his Designs he laid hold of the Occasion of the Controversy about Juliers and rais'd 120000 Men and large Sums of Money to keep that Country from falling to the House of Austria. But his Death stop't all these grand Designs: for being in the Street of Paris in his Coach (which he was oblig'd to stop for the Croud) he was stabb'd with a Knife in his Belly by one Francis Rabillart a Jesuit, that he † immediately without uttering a Word 14 May 1610.

II. LEWIS XIII. Justus, born 17 Sept. 1601, succeeded at 9 Years of Age, under the Tuition of his Mother, as King of France and Navarr 1610, and crown'd 18 Oct. that same Year. He took upon him the Government 1616, and caus'd Concini Marshal d'Ancre for his Pride and Ambition to be slain, and the Marquis de Vitri he made Marshal of France, and sent the Queen Mother from Court to Blois, from whence she was carried away by the Duke d'Espernon 1619. About the same Time Richelieu, afterwards a Cardinal, was in great Esteem at Court, who by his reiterated Persuasions made the King endeavour the Extirpation of the Huguenots, by him falsely represented as seditious and rebellious; and therefore the King re-establish'd the Roman Catholic Religion in his patrimonial Country of Bearn, which made the Huguenots break out into Violence, to the Loss of several Places, till a Peace was made. But Anno 1624, Cardinal Richelieu, being made prime Minister of State, resolv'd the taking of Rochell, which by Reason of the Famine (the Inhabitants having liv'd 18 Weeks without Bread) was taken about the End of October 1628. A little after these civil Wars were finish'd, France applied to foreign Affairs. The King assist'd the Duke of Nevers to obtain the Dukedom of Mantua. In this War the Siege of Casal was most famous. But Matters were at last compos'd by the wise Management of Mazarin, who thereby hid the Foundation of his future Greatness. Anno 1630, Lewis made an Alliance with Sweden, allowing Gustavus Adolphus a yearly Pension to assist him in opposing the Greatness of the House of Austria; and Anno 1633, he took Lorraine from the Duke, because he had declar'd for the Emperor. And when after the Battel of Nordlingen the House of Austria began to hold up its Head, Lewis declar'd War against Spain 1634. The French were oblig'd to raise the Siege of Lorraine with great Loss, and 1638, they beat up the Siege of Leucate in Roussillon, and the brave Bernard Duke of Sax-Weimar took the Fortrefs of Brisac. The French 1639, were beat out of Perpignan, and the King of Navarr being there to determine Richelieu, and therefore had some secret Intrigues with Spain, which the Cardinal discovering caus'd Cinquars to lose his Head. But Richelieu

III. LEWIS XIII. Magnus born 5 Sept. 1638, after his Mother had been barren 23 Years, and he was therefore call'd The Gift of God, was King of France and Navarr at 5 Years old, when he was also christned. During his Minority his Mother and Cardinal Mazarin govern'd the Kingdom, carrying on the Project of Richelieu, to divest the Princes and Parliaments of France of their ancient Power and Privileges, and to lay the Foundation of his Universal Monarchy. But they rebell'd and forc'd the Queen Mother to banish and proscribe Mazarin, who still lurk'd about the Palace and acted all unseen, and by his Artifices in the Treaty of Westphalia 1648, he obtain'd Alsatia for LEWIS. The Fire of Rebellion expir'd by Degrees, till the King came of Age and was adored like a God both by the Roman Catholics and the Protestants too, who cheerfully put on his Fetters and made his sovereign Will and Pleasure the only Law of France; whereby he was capable to carry on his grand Design of the Universal Monarchy, and made many Conquests, till his Career was stop'd by the Triple Alliance of Britain, Sweden and Holland, who by the Peace of Aix la Chapell 1668, forc'd him to surrender most of his Conquests. But having recruited, he again pursued his grand Design 1672, when he march'd into Holland, and would have destroy'd that Republic by the Assistance of King CHARLES II. of England and the Bishop of Munster, had it not been miraculously preserv'd. But Anno 1673, when King CHARLES join'd the Hollanders, William Prince of Orange their Stadtholder at the Head of an Army made LEWIS retire shamefully to France, and by the Treaty of Nimeguen 1679, his grand Design was again blasted, being forced to surrender most of his Conquests. Then he acted the Politician with Germany, bombarded Algiers 1683, and Genoa 1684, when he took the strong Fort of Luxemburg. By the Advice of his Priests he destroy'd all the Protestant Churches of France 1685 and 1686, while he advis'd his dear Confederate King JAMES II. of Britain to overturn the Protestant Religion in his Dominions; but that was prevented by the Revolution of England 1688, when King JAMES fled to France, and WILLIAM Prince of Orange was made King of Great Britain. LEWIS sent King James with an Army into Ireland 12 March 1689, while he open'd the Theatre of War on all sides of France; and after King WILLIAM had reduc'd Ireland and forc'd King James back to France, King WILLIAM join'd the Emperor and Empire, the King of Spain, Duke of Savoy, the Pope and the Hollanders in a grand Alliance against King LEWIS on 16 January 1697, which occasion'd a bloody War with various Successes till he made an advantageous Peace with Britain, Spain, Savoy and Holland at Ryswick 19 September N. S. 1697, and with the Empire in October following. He next amus'd the World with the Treaty of Partition till King CHARLES II. of Spain † 1 November 1700, N. S. when he proclaim'd the Duke of Anjou his 2d Grandson Philip V. King of Spain: And when King James died in France 6 September 1701, he proclaim'd the Chevalier de St. George King of Great Britain, which made King WILLIAM renew the grand Alliance: But he died on the 8th of March following and Queen ANN declar'd War against France and Spain 4 May 1702, as LEWIS also declar'd War against the Confederates on the 8th of July following. But now his good Fortune fail'd him; for tho' the Duke of Bavaria join'd him, yet both their Forces were totally routed in the Battel of Hochstadt 13 August 1704, while the English took Gibraltar and so batter'd the French Fleet that they never offer'd since to dispute the Dominion of the Seas. The French Army was again routed at Ramellies 12 May 1706 O. S. and the French were forc'd to raise the Siege of Barcelona, while the Confederates took Possession of Madrid, and 7 September the famous Battel of Turin was fought, the French were totally routed, and the Duke of Savoy restor'd: And tho' the French and Spaniards under the Duke of Berwick defeated the Confederates at Almanza 25 April 1707, N. S. yet LEWIS fail'd in his Descent upon Scotland with the Pretender in March 1707, and lost the Battel of Oudenarde 11 July 1708, and the Loss of Lisse follow'd while a Famine rag'd in France. And 11 September 1709 N. S. he lost the famous Battel of Malplacket with the City of Mons, and France had soon been invaded by the Confederates and ruin'd, but for the Change of the Ministry in England 1710, the Death of the Emperor Joseph, the turning out of the Duke of Marlborough from being General, when Queen ANN separated from the Emperor, made a Cessation of Arms and granted LEWIS an honourable Peace at Utrecht 30 March 1713 O. S. to which most of the Allies acceded, and the Emperor too at last on the 6th of March 1714 at Rastadt. But when the Earl of Marr went from the Court of England 1 August 1715 to raise a Rebellion in Scotland, LEWIS prepar'd to assist the Chevalier, but was suddenly taken with great Pains in his Legs till the Gangreen appear'd which cut him off 1 September N. S. He was a magnificent Prince, and tho' no learned Man himself, yet he was the greatest Encourager of Learning and Arts of any Prince upon Earth. He had four Mistresses, for whom see Table 389.

APPENDIX concerning the Cantons of Switzerland and the Republic of GENEVA.

GENEVA, new call'd Genève, descended from the ancient SWEDES, or Jutlanders, according to some, because famous for overthrowing J. Cassius a Roman Consul, when they flew and kill'd his Soldiers for Slaves. But CASSIUS afterwards reduc'd them to Obedience, and they continued Members of the Roman Empire till the Time of HONORIUS and VALENTIANUS III. when they were conquer'd by the Burgundians and Alamans: And from them being taken by the Franks, their Country was made a Part of the Kingdom of France, only from Paris it was given to the Proprietor of the Counts of Habsburg, whose Offspring in the House of Austria came in Time to possess the present Part of Switzerland, the People being long oppress'd by the Tyranny of their Governors, whom the Dukes of Austria and their other Lords had left among them, they contriv'd an effective and successful way among themselves for the Defence of their Liberty, begun first by the Canton of SCHIZZ (upon which Account the Cantons are call'd Schweitzer) A.D. 1381, together with the Cantons of Uri and Underschwyz; and after many Struggles, all the other Cantons were gradually united into one League 1513. They destroy'd their Nobility and Gentry for fear of a future Monarchy again, so that we have no Remains of their Genealogies but what is above related of the Counts of Habsburg and House of Austria.

GENEVA a very ancient City, was renew'd in the Days of JULIUS CAESAR, who made it a Bulwark against the Helvetians, and establish'd there a Colony as the Capital of the Provincia for its Fidelity to the Roman Empire, upon which he granted Privileges. The People receiv'd Christianity by the Preaching of St. Nazarius and St. Vigor, the discipuli, and St. Victor, who is reckon'd by some the first Bishop of Geneva. MAURITIUS AUGUSTUS the Emperor rebuilt it, confirm'd its Privileges, permitted to the Christians their three Episcopatus (Bishoprics) and therefore it was call'd St. Trinitas. It suffer'd much from the Goths and Frandals, when they erected their Kingdom of Burgundy. CHARLES MAIN in his Narrative, tells us that at some time here, confirm'd the Privileges of its Bishop, and united it to his Episcopatus, as appears by the Eagle on the top of St. Peter's Church, remaining to this Day. The City was call'd Genève. It was again made Part of the Kingdom of Burgundy till the Emperor CONRAD SAUND claim'd it. The first Counts of Geneva were TAIAC and MAURITIUS. After the Death of MAURITIUS, when valiant Achievements against the Lombards, and the Dignities was continued in their Offspring jointly till A.D. 1187, when WOLF King of Germany obtain'd the Countship of Geneva, and the Counts of Geneva those Counts were but Imperial Officers at first, but they gradually augment'd their Authority till they became Sovereigns. The Citizens that oppos'd the Power of the Counts, trusted to the Bishop to defend their Rights as one of the free Cities of the Empire, but the Bishop made them a County, by joining the Countship to the Bishopric, and then oppos'd the Counts themselves till they obtain'd from the Emperor FREDERICK that they and their Heirs should be Counts of Geneva, free from all Taxes, and not accountable to any but the Emperor. Nevertheless the Counts assert'd their own Rights as well as they could, and oblige'd the Citizens to pay them a certain Sum of Money, which was call'd Capitulum. AMANDUS II. Count of Savoy, and BRUNO Daughter of WILLIAM I. Count of Geneva was married to THOMAS I. Count of Savoy (Feb. 1400) And BRUNO (who not being Beatific) who † A.D. 1433 got the Count of Geneva to do him Homage, whose Nephew AMANDUS V. found means to get himself acknowledged, in some sort, as Count of Geneva, and so to have the Bishop of Geneva oppos'd till he could † 1439. The Liberty of Geneva was much impair'd by a Controversy between the Bishop and the Citizens, who oppos'd the Bishop's claim, and the common People took the Bishop's Part, and acknowledged him in the Church of St. Peter. A.D. 1439 AMANDUS V. Count of Savoy obtain'd of the Emperor MAXIMILIAN IV. to be his Vice General in those Countries, whereby he got a Superiority over the Bishop, and the Citizens were oblig'd to him. In the History of this City we find that the Bishop of Geneva obtain'd the County of Geneva A.D. 1510, after the Death of AMANDUS V. and the Counts of Geneva gave up that County to AMANDUS VIII. Count of Savoy, but after he was made Duke of Savoy, he obtain'd from Pope MARTIN a Confirmation of Jurisdiction of Geneva, since which Time the Bishops were oblig'd to pay Homage to the Dukes of Savoy as their Sovereigns, who could Money at Geneva, and made the Citizens pay a certain Sum of Money, yet did, up in his public Acts that it was with the Consent of the Citizens, and that their voluntary Obedience should not be prejudicial to the Liberty of the City. The Bishop JOHN yielded his Temporal Jurisdiction to CHARLES III. Duke of Savoy, who A.D. 1518, endeavour'd to make himself absolute, upon which the Citizens were oblig'd to submit, taking Part with the Duke, and were call'd the Party of the Alamans, and the other fought the Protection of the Canton of Bern, with which they made an Alliance. The Bern Citizens were call'd Alti, from which came the Word Alti, given in France to those that follow'd the Religion of Geneva. The Party of the Alti was call'd Alti, and expell'd the Alti 1526. The Revolution introduced the Reformation by the preaching of FABER and CHIFFET, Ministers of Bern 1528. Then the Bishop of Geneva was call'd the Alti, a new Government both of Church and State erected, disavowing all Allegiance both to Duke and Bishop, declaring themselves a free Commonwealth, and being entirely abolish'd by their great Protector of Divinity the famous JOHN CALVIN, who fled to Geneva 1535, or with others 1536, who not only reform'd the Alti but also the Alti, but like the rest of a new Political Government and Discipline of Catholic, Provincial and National Assemblies, commonly call'd Presbyteries, that was call'd Alti and Alti (except that of Alti) and remain'd to this Day, and ever since the Reformation, Geneva has been an Alti Republic, and in Confederacy with the Alti of Alti and Alti.

CHARLES V. 1536 and 1540, confirm'd the Liberties of Geneva, and 1571, it came under the Protection of France. It was compris'd under the Name of Swiss in the Alti 1571, when the Alti were declar'd all free and independent Sovereigns. And 1688, was receiv'd into the General Alliance of all Alti. The Kings of Alti call them Alti, and all the Alti call them Alti. This Republic has the Rank of a Alti Canton, but the Title of Count of Geneva, after it had been a while by the Counts of Savoy, AMANDUS V. Duke of Savoy confirm'd it on his 3d Son PHILIP Duke of Nemours, whose Offspring the Duke of Nemours enjoy'd the Title to the last Duke HENRY, who † without Issue 1659.

T A B L E CCCC.
The Old Counts of SAVOY until AMADEUS V.

THE Dukedom of Savoy is divided in two Parts, viz. the Principality of Piedmont and Savoy proper. Piedmont was anciently inhabited by the Salassi, Libyci and Taurini, all vanquished by the Romans, and their Country made a Province of that Empire by the Name of Alpes Cottia, in the Time of the Emperor Nerva, of which Genoa was the Capital. The present Limits of Piedmont were more the Property of the Helvetii, who under the Conduct of Odoacer conquered Italy, who was proclaimed King by the Romans themselves; but Odoacer being vanquished and slain by Theodoric King of the Goths, the Country was allotted for the Habitation of the Frankish, who possessed it fully until the Lombards subdued them, making this a Part of the Lombardian Kingdom until ARIPERT I. King of the Lombards gave it to the See of Rome, about A. D. 660, and by some Part of it was reserved to France and Italy. Thomas and Peter Counts of Savoie, conquered the West Part of it, the first A. D. 1240, the second 1256, since which Time it has always been possessed by the House of Savoie, of which the eldest Son was called Prince of Piedmont. See the following Tables. Savoy proper was anciently inhabited by the many Tribes of the Allobroges, who are not mentioned till 111, till the Agreement made by Hannibal in his Passage this Way between Brancus and his Brother about the Succession of the Kingdom. But they afterwards joining the Salij a Galliel Nation, William, one of the Salij Counts, was killed in Thuringia R. 111. The Allobroges were afterwards removed for discovering Cataline's Conspiracy, which tended to subvert the Roman State. After which we find Lucius, one of their Kings, a great Favourite of Augustus Cæsar, and is said with the rest of Brancus to be in the Emperors of Rome, under whose Subjection it continued till A. D. 999, when BERALD or Bertold settled himself here, about whose Original there is much Contention, some deducing him from France others from Italy, others from the Imperial Saxon Family. But most derive him from the Old Counts of Ringelheim. That both these, as appears by this Table, are the Descendants of WITEKIND the Great the last King and first Duke of Saxony, who † 807. Table 215.

| 1. BERALDO, or Bertold, of an uncertain Original, as appears by the Conjunction of Authors about his Father; neither is it certain by what Means he came into Italy, or why he was favour'd by Rudolph King of Burgundy. Some say that finding Henry the Wife of the Emperor OTTO III. in Adultery, he slew her and fled to this Country, others that he settled here by means of HUGH Son of Immedius who was made Marquis of Italy. But of these Things there is no Certainty, yet all Historians center in BERALDO as the Patriarch of this Family and first Count of Maurienne in Savoy: He † 1023, or 1027. |  |   |  |  |  |   |  | Binna, or Catharina Lady Palatin of Sebyers.  |  |  |  |

His Marriage with Adelis, Daughter of Bonifrey of the Royal House of Castile and of Bertha his Wife of the Family of King Arbuth is confirmed by good Authors, particularly by Du Chesne.  |  |   |  |  |  |   |  | Cleric Marquis of Susa.   |  |  |  |
| AMADEUS I. Count of Savoy, born 1047. Wife, Adaldis. He † 1060.   |  | Adelais, Heiress of Susa and Widow of Herman Duke of Silsvabia † 1091.   |  |
| 4. AMADEUS II. Count of Savoy and Maurienne 1060. The Emperor Henry IV. being excommunicated by the Pope, desired a Passage into Italy, through Savoy, to which the Count would not consent, unless the Emperor would resign six Italian Bishopricks contiguous to Savoy. The Emperor thought these Terms too hard and intolerable, yet after a long Time and much Deliberation the Emperor gave AMADEUS the Province of Bagay in Burgundy. AMADEUS † 1095.  |  |   |  |  |  |   |  |   |  |  |  |
| 5. HUMBERT II. being call'd by Hieracius Archbishop of Tarentum against Almeric Lord of Briançon who miserably oppress'd the People, he expelled Almeric and made Tarentum his Seat. He annex'd to his other Dominions the Marquisate of Susa his Grandmother's Inheritance, and was the first who was call'd Count of Piedmont. He went with Godfrey of Beuillon into the Holy Land † 1103. Some say his Wife was Isabel, Daughter of the Count of Venice, descended of the House of Aragon.  |  |   |  |  |  |   |  | Bertha, Wife of the Emperor HENRY IV. married 1067. She † 1087, he † 1106. ## TABLE CCCCVI.

The Republic of GENUA.

THE City of GENUA, thought by some to have been call'd Janua from old Janus, was famous before the Christian Era, when the Romans made it a Sea Port in their War against the Carthaginians. It was afterwards subject to the Goths, and then the Greek Emperors kept it about 70 Years. ROTHARIS King of the Lombards in the 7th Century seiz'd it, and CHARLEMAIN took it from the Lombards: But when his Race was extinct, Genoa with other Parts of Italy became independent of the German Emperors, having its own Consuls, Anno 1099. After which GULIELMO BOCCANEGRA was chosen President and Viscount of Genoa 1157, which made Way for the Noblesse to get into the Administration 1262, and they govern'd till 1319. After which this Republick was distress'd by the Factions of Spinola, Doria, Fiesci and Grimaldi, and having been afterwards distress'd by the contending Guelphs and Gibbelines, it was forc'd to shelter itself under foreign Powers, being subject first to the Emperor HENRY VII. then to ROBERT King of Naples, next to CHARLES VII. King of France, and then to PHILIP GALEACIUS Viscount of Milan. But it shook off the Yoke of Milan 1444, under the Conduct of that brave Burgher SIMON BOCCANEGRA the first Doge of Genoa, when they made a Law that all their great Offices should be possess'd only by Burghers and not by Nobles. But the clashing Factions of the Fulgosi and Adorni gave Occasion to LEWIS XII. King of France to be Master of the City 1499, which was again restor'd to its former Liberty by Ottavio Fulgoso. FRANCIS I. got it into his Hands 1514, but his Garrison was expell'd by the valiant Prosper Colonna General under the Emperor CHARLES V. Anno 1522: notwithstanding which, FRANCIS I. again seiz'd it, and kept it until FRANCESCO DORIA absolutely freed his Country, and laid the Foundation of the present Republick, for which noble Action his Countrymen erected a magnificent Statue in honour of his Memory, always owning him the Father of his Country. Next Year A. 1549, the Doge LEWIS Fiesci lost his Life, for endeavouring to make himself Absolute with the Aid of the French. After this A. 1574, a Contention arose between the Nobles and Burghers, which would have occasion'd much Misfortunes, but for the Peace made by the Emperor Maximilian II. PHILIP II. King of Spain and Pope GREGORY XIII. This Republick had War with the Duke of Savoy, and afterwards for succouring Spain with Ships and Money LEWIS XIV. bombarded Genoa 1684, and to appease him the Doge FRANCESCO MARIA SERVORI with 4 Senators in their Robes of State marched like Prisoners thro' France, and made their Submission at his Feet 15 May 1685. ## T A B L E CCCCVII.

A Chronological Catalogue of the DUKES or DOGES of Venice.

HISTORIANS are much divided about the Original of the Venetians: Some make them the Descendants of the Veneti Gauls inhabiting the Sea-Coasts of Armorica or Bretaigne, whereof one of the principal Cities was call'd Vennes. Others (particularly Titus Livius) assure us that the Inhabitants of this Country came from Paphlagonia, and that PHILEMON their Captain being slain at Troy they went with ANTENOR into Italy. Others say that being Neighbours to the Cappadocians they hazarded a Battel with the Cimmerians and extended their Conquests on the Adriatic Sea. But the common Opinion is that the Hinitians or Henetes came into Italy with Antenor and were afterwards call'd Venitians or Venetes. Then they seiz'd Bressana and Forli. In process of Time the Hunns, a Scythian People, under the Conduct of Attila, among other Places of Italy, fell into this Country, and after a long Siege they took the City Aquileja which they spoil'd and burnt, as also most of the Venetian Territories. Upon this a great Number withdrew themselves from the Continent to the Isles where Venice is now built. But the better Sort of the Paduans were the first that remov'd; and being come to the Mouth of the River, which was then very deep, They laid the first Foundation of the City of Venice 25 March 421. After this the Venetians were govern'd, first by some Consuls chosen every 2 Years, which Government lasted about 60 Years, yet we find in History but three succeeding Elections. The first Consuls were ALBERTUS PHALARIUS, THOMAS CANDIANUS and ZENO DAULO; These govern'd the City in her Infancy and are by some said to have occasion'd the Paduans Flight to the Lakish and Marish Isles, and were the first Authors of the Building of Venice. The 2d Consuls were LUCIANUS GRAULUS, MAXIMUS OF PARINUS LURIUS and HUGH FUSCUS. The third Consuls were MARCUS AURELIUS, ANDREAS CLAUDIUS and ALBINUS MAURUS; History is silent about the succeeding Consuls. But after the Isles near the Rialto were inhabited, Tribunes, instead of Consuls, were annually created in every Isle during 200 Years. But these Insular Tribunes abusing their Authority, a general Assembly of the Isles was summon'd to meet at Heraclea, where they elected a Sovereign Duke; whose Authority was to be during Life. Accordingly

|  | Began to reign A. D. | He † or depos'd A. D. | Years of reign. |

| III. ORSO HIPATO, or Orso Epate , regain'd Ravenna , captivated the Nephew of the King of the Lombards , slew Barro Duke of Vicenza and restor'd the Exarch Eutichus . He was murder'd by the People on Suspicion of being the Author of the Contentions between the Aquilejans and Heracleans . Then Venice was govern'd by these annual five successive Magistrates, viz. DOMINICO LEONI , FOELIX CORNICULA , THEODATO Son of Orso , JULIAN CEPARI and JOHN FABRITIANUS who was expell'd and his Eyes put out  | 726                  | 737                   | 11              |
| IV. THEODATO HIPATO chosen after the Expulsion of the annual Magistrates, and brought his Court from Heraclea to Malamoco . He was slain by his Successor. Some say that his Successor depos'd him and caus'd his Eyes to be put out   | 737                  | 742                   | 5               |
| V. GALLA de Malamoco slew and succeeded THEODATO , but the People depos'd him and put out his Eyes   | 742                  | 755                   | 13              |
| VI. DOMINICO MONEGARIO de Malamoco . The People to curb his Authority associated with him two annual Tribunes ; but his Audacity and Arrogance prompting him to tyrannise, the People grew furious and pull'd out his Eyes   | 755                  | 756                   | 1               |

| IX. OBELERIO was elected by means of FORTUNATUS Patriarch of Grada . He associated his two Brothers Beato and Valentine . It is to be observ'd that of these 3 Brothers Beato only is number'd among the Dukes in the Council Chamber of Venice , because OBELERIO incited Pipin King of Italy to war against the Venetians , for which he was depos'd 811, and afterwards beheaded 831, whereas Beato defended the Republick   | 786                  | 804                   | 18              |

| XII. GIOVANNI, or John Participatio , he caus'd OBELERIO the 9th Duke to be beheaded 831. He was forc'd to fly into France 834, by Reason of a Conspiracy among the Nobles. He return'd 836, but in a new Conspiracy he was thrust into a Monastery where he †  | 827                  | 829                   | 2               |

The EXARCHS of Ravenna.

RAVENNA anciently conquer'd by the Boij, who with the Senones, Insubres and the Cenomani made up the Body of the Cisalpine Gauls, first defeated by the Consul MINUTIUS, and next by MARCELUS (who subdued CAROLAMUS their King) and afterwards by CORNELIUS MERULA, and were utterly subdued by FLAMINIUS, who got the Country call'd Flaminia, which was afterwards conquer'd by the Goths, who were no sooner destroy'd by Parfes in the End of the Reign of JUSTINIAN I. the Emperor, but the Lombards distress'd it; upon which JUSTIN II. sent an Officer with Imperial Command call'd an Exarch to preside over Italy at Ravenna, and stop the Incursions of the Lombards. The Exarchs divided Italy into many Governments, and over each placed a Duke, (even Rome itself not excepted, whose Government was call'd the Roman Dukedom) accountable to the Exarchs, who reserv'd to themselves the Cities of Ravenna, Rhegium, Mutina, Bononia, Classi, Forli, Forlimpoli, Sarfino, Parma and Placentia: Which ten Cities, with their Territories, made up the proper Exarchate of Ravenna, and the Exarchs liv'd in all the Splendor of the old Roman Emperors.

Others say that Aigilulfus King of the Lombards took Ravenna 752. It is certain that Ravenna was regain'd by CHARLEMAIN, when the Lombardian Kingdom was subverted, and by him given to the Popes of Rome, together with Antanitano and Spoleto, as a Requital for the Kingdom of France conferr'd upon King PIPIN his Father, by the Consent and Authority of the Pope. This Donation changed the Name of this Country from Flaminia to Romandiola, and now to Romagna. The Emperors of Germany suffer'd not the Popes to have long Possession of this Donation; for they took it into their own Hands, and conferr'd it on those who would advance their Imperial Interest. And it continued in the Emperors Hands till the French King LEWIS XII. went into Italy 1509. at the Instigation of Pope JULIUS II. and extorted Ravenna and some other Places out of the Hands of the Venetians, ejected many petty Princes out of other Cities on a Pretence that they belong'd to St. Peter's Patrimony, and thereby got Possession of all those Territories which lie between the State of Venice and the Marches of Ancona; but the Emperor CHARLES V. expell'd the French out of Italy, when he took King FRANCIS I. Prisoner in the Battle of Pavia 1525.

T A B L E CCCCIX.
The Original of the House of Milan.

With a Supplement to the Genealogy of the COUNTS of Burgundy, descending from DESIDERIUS the Lombard. Table 361.

THIS House like others in shewing its Original has run into Fable; for some who deduce it from Jove and Venus by ANCHISES AENEAS and ASCANIUS, say that ASCANIUS had a Son call'd ANGLUS the Founder of Angleria. Indeed the vulgar Opinion is that the Vice-Counties owe their Original to the Counts of Angleria, and they give out that these Vis-Counties had the Dignity and Authority of Princes among the Lords of Lombardy for some Time before the last Destruction of Milan by Frederic Barbarossa; and having always oppos'd that Emperor, when the Town was taken they were all cut off except one call'd VIVIANUS or GALVANEUS reserv'd for a Triumph, who breaking Prison bravely reveng'd the Injuries done to his House, cut off the Germans, restor'd Liberty to his Country and reviv'd his Family. But the Milan Historians have honestly acknowledg'd this to be all Fable.

Therefore, Biffius from authentic Documents derives this Family from ERMENULPHUS the Father of DESIDERIUS the last King of the Lombards. And John Palatius the Venetian says well, that if the Records of the Senate of Milan were destroy'd, many great Genealogies would be lost: For to their Documents we owe the Progeny of both the Royal Berengarij, and from thence also is corroborated the ample Lineage of Otto WILLIAM Patriarch of the Counts and Palatines of Burgundy, from whom the Kings of Castile and Leon, and at length of all Spain and Sicily are descended, as Andrew du Cefine has evinc'd.

The Lombard Kings are in Table 139 but without a Preface; therefore I thought fit to relate in this Place that the Lombards came from Scandia into Germany and from thence into Pannonia under their King Andouinus, whose Son Alboinus brought them into Italy, invited by Rares the General of JUSTINIAN I. and Vindicator of Italy, when he went to revenge the Disgrace put upon him by the Empress Sophia A. D. 568. The little Countries of Aquileja and Friaul were first conquer'd by them, which they made a Dukedom; and crossing the River Adia, they penetrated into Insulbria where they erected a new Kingdom by Laws and Arms, and made Ticinum (now Pavia) the Seat of their new Empire, calling the whole Country Lombardy. This Alboinus became the first King of the Lombards in Italy A. D. 570. But not content with Insulbria they seiz'd Spoleta, Beneventum, and even Rhegium the most Southern Town of Italy, where ANTHARIS the 3d King rode on Horseback to the Sea, and touch'd it with his Spear, saying, Even to this Point the Borders of the Lombards reach. He † A. D. 591. In the Reign of Aistulphus the Empire of the Lombards in Italy came to its Height; for after the taking of Ravenna, he design'd to enclose his Kingdom between the Alps and the Sea: Rome standing out he demanded Tribute from it, which Pope STEPHEN III. refusing to pay, invited King Pipin of France to come and protect him, who forc'd Aistulphus to relinquish Ravenna and to deliver to the Pope the Pentapolis and other Towns of the Exarchate and of Aemilia too, as a Part of St. Peter's Patrimony.

Aistulphus broke his Neck at hunting 756, and leaving no Issue, Desiderius his Master of Horse and Beneficiary Duke of Tuscany, placed himself upon the Throne, whose Father is by some call'd SEVERUS, and by Cosmus della Rena in his Dukes and Marquises of Tuscany he is call'd Verissimus, but in the Lineage of the Vis-Counties he is call'd Duke ERMENULPHUS Son of Aistulphus.

DESIDERIUS the last King of the Lombards began A. D. 756, not bounding his Ambition, he ruin'd himself and his Kingdom; for grasping at all Italy like his Predecessor, he distress'd the Pope and took some Towns from the Sec of Rome; therefore Pope ADRIAN I. invited Charlemain to his Aid, the rather, because much Discord had happen'd between him and DESIDERIUS, for that Charlemain had divorced his Wife Hermingardis the Daughter of DESIDERIUS, who on the other Hand had protected the Sons of Carolomanus, who had fled from their Uncle Charlemain with their Mother Bertha Daughter of DESIDERIUS; wherefore Charlemain came into Italy with an Army, forc'd DESIDERIUS to fly before him, to retire within the Walls of Ticinum and to surrender himself. Then Charlemain carried him and his Wife ANSA Captives into France 774. Thus the Kingdom of the Lombards in Italy was translated to the Franks. There are various Opinions about the Number of the Children of DESIDERIUS. Some Antique Historians mention only one Son ADALOISUS, and four Daughters, viz. Ansilberga, Adalperga, Luitberga and Hermingardis: But others give us the following Accounts of his Children. See his Predecessors in the Lombardian Kingdom of Italy, Table 139.

The LORDS and DUKES of Milan of the House of VISCONTI.

BONIFACIUS OF FALCES Count of Milan and Angleria. See the last Table.

Azo Marquis of Milan. See the last Table.

ELIPRANDUS, or ELIPRANDUS, or RUTIPRANDUS, the first Viscount of Milan. This Name of Visconti at first denoted an Office and Dignity, but afterwards became the Surname of this Family. Trifanvus Cbalvus says, That the first mention of a Visconti was made in a Charter dated by the Emperor Carolus Crassus at Milan 881, and sign'd by Brett Visconti. But ELIPRANDUS was the first Vis-Count of this Family, as being the Vice-Comes or Deputy of his Brother Azo, ruling in Milan in his Stead. This ELIPRANDUS, notwithstanding the Opposition of the Emperor Conrad Salicus, did fight a valiant Savarian Knight and took off his Head in presence of that Emperor, and from him this Family is call'd Visconti. Others say it was call'd Visconti (quasi bis Comes) from one OTTO Visconti who was Lord of Milan and Angleria. He † 1067.

OTTO Visconti: an illustrious Count of Milan went in the first Expedition of the Christians to Palestine, and signaliz'd himself at the Siege of Jerusalem: but when he return'd he was slain at Rome 1111. Some say that OTTO was the Father of Luitgarus, Wife of Adolphus Imberdus. Andreas and Wido, and that Andreas was the Father of Galassius Prince of Milan in the Time of the Emperor Barbarossa, and that he was the Father of Vilbanus the Restorer of his Country mention'd in the last Table. But this is accounted by others to be all Fable.

The Civil Government he afterwards resign'd to his Grand-Nephew MATTHEW, and † 4 or 8 Aug. 1295, aged 87.

He outed William VII. Markgrave of Montferrat of his Estates and obtain'd great Fame and Renown. But A.D. 1302, he was outed of all his own Estates and expell'd by the Confederacy of the Citizens and Neighbours, particularly of Albert Accus Lord of Placentia. But afterwards a great Contention arising between OTTO and Casto de la Tour, the former being Prince, the latter Archbishop of Milan, and the Emperor Henry VII. coming into Italy, MATTHEW was restor'd and made Imperial Vicar 1311, and the Turrisi afterwards expell'd Milan for ever 1313, who going to Bergamasco and Vallassina founded the noble Family of Tour and Tessis. ## The PRINCES and COUNTS of Massa and Carrara of the House of CYBO.

THE Family of CYBO, according to some, is of the same Original with the Tomacelli: Others say it is of a Greek Derivation and Appellation, and was call'd Cybo from κύβη, answering to the Cubes or Chequers they carry on their Coats of Arms. The famous French Historian John Laborius deduces this Family from one Guido Cybo, to whom the Emperor OTTO I. for his many Services to the Church and Empire, gave the noble Castles and Districts of Montevareo, Crotolaria and Laberina A. D. 999. He was succeeded in these Territories by EDWARD, and he by,

Guido II. the supposed Patriarch of this House; tho' Others chose rather to begin with his Son LAMBERT: But some that would be more certain, begin the Regular Genealogy with LANFRANCUS.

LAMBERT, who dispossessed the Saxons of Caprasia and the Island Gorgona, making himself Master of these which his Offspring possessed many Years, sending Prætors to govern them. In the public Records of Venua next after LAMBERT are RUBANUS and FASCINUS 1154, at which time Laborius says, that ARNISTUS Cybo flourish'd and was famous for his Undertakings against the Saracens in the Holy Land; he mentions also BAJAMONDUS who was Consul of Genoa 1134, and the Cardinals DIORETIC, MARTIN and PARRUS of this House; after them HERMES Cybo is mention'd, who A. D. 1188, with many other Noblemen, subscribed to the Peace of Pisa. II. JUDICES of Genoa.

That this Family derives its Original from the City of Capua in Liguria is past all Doubt. And some say that COMITIA or Comitas Judge and Prince of Alberum, one of the four Parts of Sardinia, being oppress'd by the Pisani, fled to Genoa for Protection. They say also that Bariss the Brother of COMITIA did also repair from the Pisani to be protected by the Genuesi, by whose Means he was at last declar'd and crown'd King of Sardinia, not contenting himself with the Title of Judge. But the Son of COMITIA having fix'd his Seat at Genoa, honouring the Title us'd by his Ancestors, gave his Son the same Title of Judex or Judge. But these being Uncertainties we must leave them, this being more certain that this Family was famous in Genoa in the middle of the 12th Century, when Frederic Barbarossa was Emperor, and when he sent an Army into Italy, particularly being advanced to the City Bosio in Cisalpin Gaul, OTTO Judex of Genoa with seven other chief Men of the City were sent Embassadors to the Emperor, who confer'd the Consular Dignity on this OTTO, whose Great Great Grandfather was Iluch Judex, the Father of HANNIBAL and BRANCA.

IV. The Family of FERRERIA.

THIS Family is said to be descended from the Acciaoli famous in Etruria, from whom did spring several Men renown'd not in Italy only but also in Greece, where they rul'd at Attica seventy Years, which Principality RAINERIUS ACCIAIOLUS brought to his Family after his Exploits in the Eastern Expedition of the French, Venetians and Genuese about the End of the 14th Century. He enter'd into an Alliance with the Ligurians who inhabited Eubæa, by marrying the Daughter of PHILIPPINUS AURIA, by whom he had two Daughters, the eldest was the Wife of Theodorus Palæologus Brother of the Emperor MANUEL II. Palæologus; the second Daughter was the Wife of Charles Toccus a petty King of Arcanania and Ætolia. But RAINERIUS by his 2d Wife begat a Son call'd ANTONY Lord of Bæotia afterward Prince of Attica and Bæotia, and dying without Issue was succeeded by his Cousin NERIUS Acciaiolus, whose Son being a Child at his Death, the Widow kept it; but for her Licentiousness MAHOMET II. Emperor of the Turks took Athens and gave it to FRANCIS ACCIAIOLUS the Brother's Son of NERIUS and that Emperor retook it A. D. 1455.

These Acciaoli were also famous in Italy and Naples; for NICHOLAS Acciaiolus was made Seneschal of Naples by Queen JOHANNA I. They had also a great Hand in the Government of Florence, eleven of 'em being chief Magistrates there: But when the Guelphs and Gibelines had much weaken'd Florence, a great Number of the Acciaoli run their Country, the Chief of them repair'd to Biella or Bugella in Cisalpin Gaul, a Town subject to the Bishop of Vercell, where they took up their Residence and got the Surname of Ferreri, or Foreri, or Forosleri. This Surname was first confer'd on SEBASTIAN the Son of

REPUBLIC'S

I. OF LUCCA.

THE City of Lucca, so call'd from Lucius a King of the Tuscans, who is said to have built it (See the next Table) is situate between the Eilat of the Grand Duke of Tuscany and the Republick of Genua; and in this City was the Meeting of the three Great Roman Generals, CANNAR, POMPEY and CASSIVS, so destructive to the Roman Republick; at which Meeting they partition'd the Roman Provinces among themselves, which afterwards occasion'd much War. But to return to Lucca, after the Roman Empire began to decline, the Goths took and kept Possession of this City until the Roman General Justinian cover'd it out of their hands: then it was subject to the Empire until it was retaken by Count Boniface of Esté, the Father of the famous Bartholomew, who dying without Issue, made the Papal Chair her Heir, against which the the Emperors pretended to it as an Heir: but the Citizens contributed among themselves, and bought their Liberty of the Emperor RUDOLPH for 10000 Crowns. Notwithstanding this Purchase, the Emperor LEONARD BABARUS seiz'd upon it again, on pretence of freeing it from the Faction of CASTRUCCIO, who had made himself absolute Master of it. And having alter the pass'd thro' many Hands, the Emperor CHARLES IV. got it once again, and the Citizens once more purchas'd their desir'd Liberties for 25000 Florins of Gold. And to secure themselves therein, they demolish'd the Castle built by CASTRUCCIO. And for their better Safety, they have put themselves under the Protection of their potent Neighbours, changing their Patrons as conduc'd most to their Preservation. But finding no Security from Genua, and as little from Florence, they at last put themselves under the Protection of Milan, and in that Right are patronis'd by the Kings of Spain. They are govern'd by a Council of 150 of the principal Citizens. The City is divided into three parts which they call Cartieri, out of which the General Council elects three Men, in all times call'd Senators who together with their Head the Gonfaloniere are call'd la Signoria. The Gonfaloniere is elected every two Months; and during the time of his Dignity, he may not go out of his Palace under the pain of Death.

II. San Marino.

THIS is the smallest Republick in the World, and therefore in Derision call'd by the Italians Republicchetta, or, the diminutive Republic. Notwithstanding which she values herself so much on her Sovereignty, that she calls the Republick of Venice, her Clarissima Sorella, or most renown'd Sister. The Original of this Republick is ascrib'd to a Hermit call'd St. Marino, after whose Death, a Cloyster and Chapel were built in the place of his Hermitage. The Munificence and Liberality of several Noblemen, encouraging several People to meet there, they first built a City, which afterwards, with some other, when the Empire was translated from Italy to Germany, made herself a Republick. The City Marino lyes between Romaniola and Urbino, its chief Magistrate, is call'd in two Captains, which alternately change every March and September. It was protected by the Dukes of Urbino until it fell to the Church, and a while under the Protection of the Popes, some of whom, especially ALEXANDER VII. have endeavour'd to make their Nephews Princes of it, but the would not part with her Liberty, and the Pope would not force them, being assur'd to meet with Opposition from the Venetians and the Grand Duke of Tuscany.

III. Ragusa.

THIS Republick is in Dalmatia on the East Side the Adriatic, and is preserved only by its Commerce, and is also independent, but under the Protection of the Grand Seignior. Its Chief is call'd Rector and rules for a Month as President of ten Lords, call'd their Signioria; then a Council is of 60 Nobles, that consider of War and Peace; their Little Council is of 30 that take care of Commerce.

The Remainder will be the Years of the Tuscan Kings _____ 1132

TUSCANY being thus brought under the Command of Rome, was made the second of those eleven Regions into which Italy was partition'd by AUGUSTUS CESAR. In the after Partitions of Italy by the Emperors ANTONINUS and CONSTANTINE, Tuscany and Umbria was one of the ten Provinces that was immediately subject to the Præfect of the City of Rome. Afterwards in the Declension of the Roman Empire, it became a Part of the Kingdom of Lombardy, then of the French Empire, and finally of the German Empire; during which time it was govern'd by an Officer of Trust and Power, who was call'd sometimes the Marquis, sometimes the Duke of Tuscany. DESIDERIUS the last King of the Lombards was Duke of Tuscany, as was also ALBERIC in the times of the Herengarij, and Guido was also call'd Marquis of Tuscany in the Reign of the Emperor Henry Successor. But when the Popes grew powerful, they presum'd to intermeddle in the Affairs of this Country, giving it sometimes to the Kings of Naples, at other times to the Dukes of Anjou. During which Distractions the Florentines bought their Liberty of the Emperor RUDOLPH of Habsburg, then they husbanded their Affairs so well that they became one of the most considerable States in Italy; and at last, by taking in Pisa and Sienna, they became Sovereigns of the largest Part of Tuscany, now under the Government of the Grand Duke.

The Florentines suffer'd the fate of all Italy in being divided by the Factions of the Guelphs and Gibellines, therefore Anno 1250 the City of Florence was partition'd into 6 Classes, and 12 Citizens were annually elected to govern each Class by Pairs; and they were call'd Militant. Besides, there were extraneous Judges, whereof one was call'd the Captain of the People and the other the Podestà. A few Years after, the City was distinguish'd into Colleges of Artists, each having a Magistrate over them. Of these Colleges the Notaries were placed in the first Rank, the Merchants in the second, the Menjarij in the third, &c. After this Anno 1292, the Signiferi Justitie were instituted, call'd in their Language Gonfalonieri di Giustizia. In this Office the Family of Medici had a great Share, whose Genealogy can be deduc'd from MÉDICUS Lord of Petrone in the Castle of Magello, who liv'd Anno 1100, as in the following Table.

But the Learned John Baptista Cinius in his History of the Life of Cosmus I. the first Grand Duke of Tuscany carries their Original higher up to A. D. 1027, for that in a Grant of the Vale of Tyber by the Emperor Conrad to TANCREDUS MONACHUS dated 1027, JULIUS de Medicis the Florentine is nam'd a Witness.

have lost his Life, who got the Sentence against Angelica the 1st Wife of Peter D. of Alencon and Galesa, Table 317.

LAURENTIUS II Magnificus born 1 Jan. 1448, Prince of the Florentine Republic, was the Meccenas of his Day and an excellent Poet too. He greatly enrich'd his Grandfather's Library with many choice Books brought from all Parts of Greece to Florence at a vast Expence, many of which he got transferr'd from Latin. He bravely finish'd the L. of the or Geneva War, and reduc'd the rebellious Velaterrani; and in the Convention of the Italian Princes at Cremona, he laid down the best Method of managing the War against the Venetians. But he brought himself into Danger by provoking Pope SIXTUS IV. for because the Pope would not make his Brother JULIAN a Cardinal, he assist'd the Vitellians, the Pope's Enemies with Men and Money. The Pope therefore exiled his Sister's Son RICCIUS and the Chief of the Florentines to conspire his Death. Accordingly RICCIUS and BARDINUS two of the Conspirators quickly slew JULIAN when on his Knees at the Elevation of the Host in High Mass 1478; but LAURENTIUS was only wounded in the Neck, and by the Intercession of his Friends escap'd to the next Sanctuary. But the People at the Sight of poor JULIAN forthwith demand'd for the Murderers, seiz'd all the Murderers and hang'd them out at the Court Windows. Among the rest FRANCIS SALVATI Archbishop of Pisa was hang'd in his Sulpices; and the BISHOP BARDINUS the Murderer of JULIAN escap'd to Constantinople, yet LAURENTIUS found Means to bring him from thence and hang him out at the same Windows, and by his prudent Speeches and Carriage restor'd the Favour of all the People. But Pope SIXTUS interdicted him and the Florentines from all Sacred Offices for hanging the Archbishop; nay, he leagu'd with their known Enemy FERDINAND King of Naples and war'd against them, but gave out that they war'd only against LAURENTIUS, and not against them. LAURENTIUS therefore now fearing as well his own People as the Pope and Ferdinand, he fled privately to Pisa, and from thence sent to the Magistrates of Florence to assure them that their Safety was dearer to him than his own, and was therefore going to the Enemy either to bring home Peace or to finish the War at the Price of his own Life. Then he sail'd to Naples and unexpectedly came to King FERDINAND, who treated him as an Enemy, till LAURENTIUS harangued the King with much gravity and fine Elocution concerning the State of Italy, the Pollocks of the Free Cities and Princes, and the King's own Interest in cultivating Friendship with the Florentines. Upon which the King greatly admiring LAURENTIUS's Wisdom and virtue, not only ceas'd from his Wrath but even made a League with him and the Florentines, and restor'd his Son ALPHONSUS with the Army from Tuscany. LAURENTIUS remain'd with universal Acclamations of Joy and with the Esteem of all the Powers of Europe 9 Ap. 1492, aged 43.

PETER born 1471, succeeded as P. of the Florentine Rep. was much like his Father, who observing his depraved Actions said, That he would ruin both himself and Family, which Prediction he verifed; and not only ruin'd himself and Family but brought a Flood of Miseries on all Italy, for disdaining the Counsel of his Nobles he depended wholly upon a few domestic Favourites, and disdaining LEONARD Sforza D. of Milan, he was foolishly persuaded to invite the French into Italy, who ruin'd him and were a Scourge to Italy. PETER was for this Action disdain'd by the Florentines, and fled to Bononia for Fear, was 10 Years in Exile, and was at last drown'd in the River Lira, A. D. 1504. His 2d Wife was Margarett de Cybo.

LAURENTIUS born 13 Sept. 1492, was restor'd into Florence 1513. D. of Urbino 1516 † 4 May 1519. Wife, Margarett of Savoy Da. of the Dauphin Daughter of John Count of Brabant and Austria married 1518, † 28 April 1519. Table 398.

dinal by Pope LEO X. his Cousin 1513, after-

VII. 19 Nov. 1523. But the Imperialists having besieged Rome took CLEMENT Prisoner, whereupon the Florentines took Occasion to assert their Liberty, and therefore expell'd the Spaniards both of LEO X. and of this CLEMENT from Florence, and mightily persecuted the Medici.

But this CLEMENT being reconcil'd to the Emp. Charles V. he restor'd himself and his Family to their former Authority and Grandeur, after a long Siege was forc'd to submit. And CLEMENT settled the Government, not privately as before, but openly in his own Family, which was strengthen'd by Alliances both with the Emperor and King of France. CLEMENT † 25 Sept. 1534.

The Family of the GUIDI in Middle Italy.

THIS Family, anciently call'd the Counts Palatine of Tuscany is celebrated for its Antiquity: Some excellent Italian Historians and Genealogists derive it from one GUIDO, who went from Germany with his Cousin the Emperor OTTO I. into Italy, and was invested in the County of Mutillano. Others more modern Historians say, That the Guidi or Widi are originally Tuscans, deducing them from ATTALBERTUS Magnus Marquis of Tuscany, who flourish'd in the 9th Century and was the Father of GUIDO who begat ATTALBERT the Father of WALCHERUS, whose 2 Sons were OLIVIER Marquis of Tuscany and GUIDO the Patriarch of the Family. Others again who also plead for a Tuscan Original say, that this Family is descended from GUIDO a Count, Son of TIGRINUS Count Palatin of Tuscany, and liv'd A. D. 1017 and 1029, the Grandfather of GUIDO who liv'd A. D. 1100, the Father of

The Old KINGS or TYRANTS of Syracuse in SICILY before CHRIST.

THE Ancient Inhabitants of Sicily were the huge Giants (so often mention'd in Homer's Odyssey) call'd the Læstrigones and Cyclopes, of which last was the famous POLYPHEMUS, who so courteously entertained ULYSSES and his Companions. These Giants were afterwards rooted out by the Sicani a People of Spain, who call'd the Country Sicania. The Name Sicilia is by some deduc'd from SICILUS a supposed King of Spain. But Others more truly derive it from the Siculi, who being expell'd Latium by EVANGELUS and his Aradians, came to this Island, subdued the Sicani, and expell'd them to the East and South Parts of the Island. After the Siculi, came another Italian People, nam'd the Morgetes, driven hither by the Oenotrians. But, waving the fabulous Story of PIGMEUS coming hither after DAEDALUS, the first Greeks that set footing here were the Chalcidians, a People of Eubœa (now Negropont) and after them ARCHITAS of Corinth with his Adventurers, by whom Syracuse was either first built or then much beautified and repair'd. The Rhodians and Cretans were the next who sent Colonies hither about A. M. 3424, Before Christ 580, and by them Gela and Agirgentum were founded. After them the Spartans came and built Heraclea, and then a Colony from Megara came and built Selinus. The Messenians also took the Town Zancle from the Siculi; they either rebuilt or beautified it and call'd it Messana. Nor were the Tyrians and Phœnicians defective in planting Colonies on this Isle. But all these Adventures having different Ends, they made themselves a Prey to many Tyrants, PHALARIS lording it at Agirgentum, PANARTIUS at Leontium, GELON at Syracuse and CLEANDER at Gela; and when one Faction grew too weak to resist the other, they call'd in several Foreign Nations to decide their Controversies. Thus the Carthaginians were call'd into Sicily by the Messenians against the Agirgentines. And on the same Account a great part of the Peloponnesian War was manag'd here, the Athenians joining the Leontines; and the Spartans joining the Syracusans. But because Syracuse was a City of greatest Authority and Influence over the rest of Sicily, I shall more particularly insist on its State. The Government of it was, like other Greek Colonies here, at first popular, and was newly alter'd to the Aristocratical, when GELON made himself King of it, and of him and his Successors in Syracuse I shall speak, after I have mention'd the Son of Leodamas a Cretian.

PHALARIS being expell'd his own Country went to Agirgentum A. M. 3434, Before Christ 570. and in a short time he became Lord of all Sicily. There are some Letters of Abaris to this Tyrant and his Answers: Of which Letters see Dr. Bentley and Mr. Boyle. PHALARIS invented a brazen Bull, in which People being put, and a gentle Fire under them, they bellow'd like Oxen; and in this Bull he caus'd Perillus the Artist first to be put. He was at last for his Tyranny ston'd to death by the Agirgentines.

Diomedes.

I. GELON Prince or Lord of Gela, taking Advantage of the Quisrels in Syracuse between the Magistrates and People, made himself Master of the City, and was elected King A. M. 3513. Before Christ 491, some place this Election 6 Years later. In his Time the Carthaginians, commanded by the famous Amilcar, invaded Sicily, and besieg'd Himera which made Theron Prince of the Agirgentines send to GELON for aid, who immediately came with 50000 Foot and 5000 Horse; and at last routed the Carthaginians, of whom he slew no less than 150000, and GELON was renown'd by All. But the Carthaginians, that he might not carry his victorious Arms to Carthage, submitted themselves, paid to GELON 2000 Talents of Silver for his Expence of War, and gave a Crown of Gold to Damarata, GELON's Wife, to the value of 100 Talents of Gold which GELON coin'd into Money, and call'd it after his Wife Damaratium, every Piece being worth 10 Attick Drachmas, or 3 l. 15 s. Sterling. At last He † with the Love and Esteem of All A. M. 3528, Before Christ 476. Others place his Death 2 Years later.

THRASIBULUS being thus depos'd, a General Assembly was call'd to settle the Government, and accordingly it was determin'd that all the Magistrates, as formerly, should be elected out of the principal Citizens, and that none of GELON's Mercenaries should be advanc'd; who therefore began to plot against the State, but were subdued by the Syracusans. And TYNDARIDES endeavouring to make himself a Sovereign, was apprehended and put to Death A. M. 3550, when the Law of Petalium was made, whereby the Syracusans wrote the Names of their Nobles upon Olive-Leaves, and when the Leaves were number'd, he whose Name was found upon most of the Leaves was banish'd for five Years: But this Law was soon after repealed. When their Wars with the Athenians ended, then A. M. 3592, the Government was Oligarchical, being put in the Hands of 400 choice Persons A. M. 3592, which was abrogated next Year. Two Years after this the Carthaginians invaded Sicily, and committed great Barbarities. The Syracusans slew Hermocrates, who intended to surprize the City A. M. 3597, and next Year they routed the Carthaginians, who took Agirgentum, and sent the Phalarian Bull to Carthage. But the Son of this same Hermocrates, viz.

IV. DIONYSIUS I. Major got himself made General of the Army A. M. 3598, and that same Year declar'd himself King. He was a Man both of great Vices and great Virtues. He brought almost All Sicily under his Subjection, and the Town of Rhegium in Italy. He at last † of a Surfeit A. M. 3636, Before Christ 368. Wives, 1. N. N. Daughter of another Hermocrates who routed the Athenians in Sicily. She was abus'd by her Husband's Horsemen. 2. Doris. 3. Artemochre Daughter of Marsus much esteem'd among the Syracusans, the Sister of Dion.

V. DIONYSIUS II. Junior succeeded his Father A. M. 3636, in his Kingdom and Vices, but not in Valour and Wisdom. He was conquer'd and dethron'd by his Brother-in-Law Dion A. M. 3647, and was defeated also by Hicetas A. M. 3660, and next Year there were great Confusions in Sicily, DIONYSIUS having retaken Syracuse. But TIMOLEON next Year oblig'd him to abdicate the Government A. M. 3662, Before Christ 342. when he was banish'd to Corinth and liv'd in the Quality of a Schoolmaster. TIMOLEON having thus freed Syracuse and all Sicily from Tyranny, He defeated Hicetas the Chief of the Leontines, and Dago General of the Carthaginians, and vanquish'd the Tyrants Phammarchus and Hippo, and at last after having lost his Sight, He † A. M. 3671, having been a King in fact without the Name. After this there was an Interregnum, until the tyrannical Usurpation of the Son of Carinus of *Rhegium who married N. N. Daughter of Agathocles and Sister of Heracleides: she was much terrified by strange Dreams during her Pregnancy, which made her Husband enquire at the Delphian Oracle concerning the Embryo, and receiving Answer that, his Son would occasion grievous Calamities both on the Carthaginians and All Sicily, Carinus expos'd his Son, but his Mother took care of him, and after her Father, call'd him,*

VI. AGATHOCLES: she caus'd him to be taught the Potter's Trade, and when Demos a noble Syracusan was created General of the Agirgentines, he made this AGATHOCLES a Colonel, as afterwards he was advanced to be a General; and when some of the principal Syracusans were for an Oligarchy, to be govern'd by six Hundred, AGATHOCLES by a Stratagem slew 400 of the Chief of the Six-Hundred, and a barbarous Massacre ensued, and at last obtain'd the Sovereignty of Syracuse A. M. 3687, Before Christ 317, and at first gain'd the Love of the People, and A. M. 3690, He subdued all Sicily. But three Years after, the Carthaginians invaded Sicily and routed Agathocles, from whom several Cities revolted: Then he fled to Syracuse, and rigg'd out a Fleet to invade Africa, where he routed the Carthaginians, Wounding their General being slain. But after many and various Exploits and barbarous Cruelties he was burnt alive A. M. 3700, Before Christ 304. Wives, 1. N. N. Widow of Demos a Nobleman of Syracuse, who made him a Colonel. 2. Alchia with whom ARCHAGATHUS was judg'd to be too familiar.

Archagathus being accus'd by Lysistrus, a Colonel, of too much Familiarity with his Step-Mother, slew the Colonel, and with difficulty escap'd Death; yet afterwards he was slain by the Soldiers.

Heracleides was slain along with his Brother by the Soldiers.

Liparon.

HIERONYMUS was slain by the Romans A. M. 3793, Before Christ 211, who at that time conquer'd the whole Island under the Command of MARCELLUS, who took in Syracuse, when Archimedes was by Accident slain, page 253, after which Sicily always follow'd the Fortune of the Roman Empire, till in the Partition of the Empire, it together with Apulia and Calabria fell into the Power of the Greeks, whose Power declining, this Island being miserably pillag'd and spoil'd by the Emperor CONSTANTINE it became a Prey to the Saracens, from whom it was recover'd by the Help of the Normans, who held this and the Realm of Naples in Fee of the Church, under the Title of both Sicilys. From that time forward it was subject to the Kingdom of Naples, during the Princes of the Norman and German Lines, as in the following Table.

There are few Nations on the Globe that have had more Revolutions than that of Naples; at first the Inhabitants were a Mixture of several Nations, the one preying upon the other, till the Romans conquer'd them all. When Italy was overrun by the Goths, Naples became subject to that People, and then was subject to the Lombards. In the Partition of the Empire between CHARLEMAIN and IRENE Empress of the East, Apulia and Calabria were assign'd to the Constantinopolitans, and the rest of Naples to CHARLEMAIN and his Successors, who were depriv'd of it by the conquering Saracens, until the Emperor OTTO I. Magnus dispossessed them by his German Forces, and challeng'd a Right to it as King of Italy; which Right was confirm'd by the Marriage of OTTO II. with Theophania Daughter of ROMANUS Emp. of the East. Table 217, who brought Apulia and Calabria for her Dowry. But the Greeks and Saracens joining against the Germans as a common Enemy, expell'd them from Naples, and ever after had great Wars for the Sovereignty. In the mean time one Drangor, a Norman Gentleman, having (in the presence of Robert Duke of Normandy, Father of WILLIAM the Conqueror) slain another Gentleman call'd Reppel, fled with some Attendants to this Country of Naples, and enter'd into the Pay of Duke Benevent Vicegerent of Constantinople there. The Report of their good Entertainment being spread over Normandy, many private Gentlemen follow'd the same Course, among others TANCRED Lord of Hauteville, with his twelve Sons, arriv'd in Apulia A. D. 1008, for the Successors and Genealogy of whom see the following Table.

The Family of RUFFA.

THE Original of this Family is by some accounted to be the Roman RUFFI and RUFFINI the Descendants of the House of Cornelia: nay, they deduce it from POMPEIUS RUFUS the Son of SP. LUCRETIVS TRIPITANUS, one of the first Consuls after the Expulsion of K. Tarquinius Superbus: and Simon de Leontino Bishop of Syracuse says, That the most noble and ancient Family of RUFFA was famous during the Roman Republic and continued till his Time. But Others laying aside these fabulous and uncertain Boastings, relate, that the Greeks about the beginning of the 11th Century, being join'd by the Ruffi and Gualtani claim'd Apulia and Calabria: and then An. 1091, when Roger or Robert Count of Sicily war'd against Boemund P. of Taranto and D. of Calabria, upon which he had made a Descent from Sicily with an Army of 25000 Saracens, and being also join'd by the Arms of PHILIP and HENRY Ruffi, he took Possession of Otranto in Apulia and la Bassicata in Calabria. ## T A B L E CCCCXLV.

The KINGS of Cyprus of the House of LUSIGNAN.

THE first Inhabitants of this Island were the Offspring of KITTIM the Son of Javan and Grandson of JAPMETH, from whom the City Citium or Citium is call'd. It was made tributary at first to Amasis King of Egypt, then to the Phœnicians, who made themselves Masters of the Sea Coasts, of which CINYRAS the Father of Myrrha is said to have been King. One of his Successors BELUS built or rebuilt Citium, so call'd in Memory to CITTIM or Kittim the Progenitor of the Country, and BELUS also gave Teuter the Son of Delamon the East-parts of the Isle, who being banish'd his Country fled hither with many from Salamis, Athens and Arcadia. ELULÆUS one of the Successors of BELUS (but a King of Tyre) was cotemporary with Salmanassar King of Affria, upon the Rebellion of the Citizens he march'd into Cyprus with a mighty Army to reduce the Rebels. CYRUS the Great Persian Monarch found 9 Kings on this Island, whom he made his Tributaries. After this we find, in the Time of ARTAXERXES Phænom, that EVAGORAS and NICOCLES were Kings here. To them Isocrates inscrib'd two of his Orations, and in the Time of ALEXANDER the Great, Citium had a King of its own. After ALEXANDER's Death, when his Commanders partition'd his Conquests, Cyprus was in great Distractions, not knowing to whom to submit. But PROLOMY having seiz'd on Egypt, took Possession of Cyprus also; to him and his Posterity it continued subject till PROLOMY Ptolemy, gave it for a Portion to one of his Brothers, in whose Time the Romans sent Mortius Cato to annex it to their other Conquests, who conquer'd it accordingly. It continued a Roman Province until the Partition of that Empire, when it was assign'd to the Constantinopolitan Emperors, under whom it suffer'd by the violent Invasion of the Saracens, who spoil'd and ranack'd it in the Time of the Emperor CONSTANS II. But that Tempest being overblown they return'd again into that Empire and were govern'd by a Succession of Dukes till A. D. 1184, when ANDRONICUS COMNENUS usurping the Greek Empire compell'd ISAACIUS COMNENUS, one of the Blood Royal to shift for himself, who seizing on this Island made himself King thereof, and reign'd till A. D. 1191, when RICHARD I. King of England being denied the common Courtesy of taking in fresh Water, and seeing his Soldiers abus'd by the Cyprians, he took the King Prisoner and subdued the whole Island; he bound his Prisoner with Chains of Silver, and being thus possess'd of this Kingdom, he sold it for ready Money to the Templars, but being discontented with them he took it from them and bestow'd it on GUIDO of Lusignan, whose Genealogy is as follows.

SPAIN was call'd 1. Hesperia, either from Hesperus a supposed King, or from Hesperus the Evening Star, under which the Easterns suppos'd it to be situated as the most westerly Country. 2. Iberia, either from the River Iberus or from the Iberi who came from the Country now call'd Georgia. 3. Celtiberia from the Mixture of these Asiatic Iberi with the Celts of Gaul. 4. Hispania from Panus the Iberian Captain, and was call'd by the Greeks and Romans Spania. Rom. xv. 28. to which the Spaniards prefix'd an E to make it Espania and now Hispania. Besides the Kings in this Table, Justin speaks of one HABIS, Herodot. of ARGONTRONIVS, Macrobius of HEXON and Plutarch of INDIBILIS all Kings of Spain. But tho' the Spaniards, like other Nations, boast of their Antiquity, we cannot be fully certain of their Affairs till the Carthaginians came among them; only that the Celts mixed with the old Inhabitants, and that diverse Colonies fix'd on the maritime Coasts of that large Continent.

| AMMON the Father of                        | GOMER the eldest Son.                                    | V. TAGUS ORMA call'd by Tarapha the Son of Gomer the eldest Son of Japheth: From him the River Tagus , now Tago had its Name. He sent many Troops from Spain to seek new Habitations, whereof some pass'd into Asia  |
| HIARBA a Numidian or Lybian, the Father of |  | VI. BETUS or BORTUS surnamed Turditanus . He gave Name to the Country of Turditania (now Cape St. Vincent ) and to the River Betis now Guadalquivir . He is said to have made some Laws and Policies and introduced some Learning into Turditania , which was thereby made famous and known to Strangers, particularly the Egyptians and other mighty Africans . After his Death (which happen'd 40 Years before Jacob's Flight) a Captain, mighty in Shipping and Men came out of Africa and landed in Turditania , whose Genealogy is deriv'd from HAM, as on the Left   |
|  |  | VII. GERION or Deabus a Lybian surnamed Chrysee (or of Gold) for knowing that Spain was full of Mines, he forc'd the People to work to hard in digging for them that many succumb'd and lost their Lives by their hard Labour, so that his Cruelty was abhor'd by all Nations. Wherefore Osyris Denis then King of Egypt the Brother of Typhon to quell this Tyrant came with an Army, vanquish'd and slew him, and settled the Kingdom in Gerion's three Sons, one of whom married Cerythre the Sister of Osyris . This happen'd five Years before Jacob's Flight  |
|  |  | VIII. LOMNINI or the three Sons of Gerion were so like one another in Features and Manners that the Poets feign'd they were but one King with three Bodies. They sought all Means to revenge their Father's Death, and therefore had a secret Correspondence with Typhon , of whose Ambition they were abundantly certified, and got him prevail'd on to kill his Brother, viz. Osyris and seize the Kingdom; but Osyris's Grandson succeeded as below.   |
|  |  | HERCULES Lybius the Son of Osyris had many Brothers and Sisters, and was call'd the Egyptian Apollo , Mars and Dron . He brought an Army of various Nations into Spain , but grieving that so much innocent Blood should be spilt for the Ambition of three Men, he offer'd to fight them all in a single Combat, and They accepting the Challenge lost their Lives. Then the brave HERCULES having settled the Affairs of the Country and erected two Pillars at the Straits went into Italy , leaving the Government of Spain to his Son   |
|  |  | IX. HISPAL who was one of his Father's Captains and govern'd that part of Spain near the Straits; for the Middle Country had not been much distress'd by these foreign Invasions. He built Hispalis afterwards call'd Sevilla , now Seville   |
|  |  | X. HISPANUS, from whom the whole Country was call'd Hispania , tho' others derive it another way (as in the Preface) He was the first that wore a Royal Diadem, and built Towers in the Island Tarfeffe and in Gallia ; but others with more Reason say, that the Towers in Gallia were built by Augustus Caesar . He was succeeded by his Grandfather, viz.   |
|  |  | XI. HERCULES Lybius who had gone to Italy when he had made his Son Hispal King of Spain A. M. 2282, Table 424, and having in ten Years conquer'd the Leprigonians , he became the sole Monarch of Italy A. M. 2292; after which he reign'd there 30 Years, even till he set his Son Tuscus on that Throne A. M. 2322, when he left Italy and came into Spain : And after the Death of his Grandson HISPANUS , he became King of Spain , viz. Some Authors say that he left Atlas Kitim to govern Italy ; but that is a great Mistake, for Atlas † A. M. 2393, as in Table 424. HERCULES was buried at Gades , now Cadiz , where a famous Temple was afterwards erected to him. |
|  |  | Wives, 1. Arona built Afaga . 2. Calata Daughter of Atlas the Italian . 3. Omphale , and 50 more call'd Sisters by whom he had fifty Children   |

Scythia. Tuscus K. of Italy. Agathyrus. Periclus. Orthin. Calates the King. Arho. Thestades.

JAPHETH married Asia.

XIII. ATLAS Paurus having dispossest his Brother Hesperus of the Kingdom, forc'd him to fly into Italy, where he reign'd. But ATLAS pursued him thither and also expell'd him thence, and made Italy his chief Residence; but from Spain he drew Gold and Silver into Italy. Of him it is feign'd that being foretold by the Oracle that one of Jupiter's Sons should expel him, he denied Hospitality to Perseus who therefore shew'd him the Gorgon's Head, which transform'd him into Mount Atlas. He was for his Skill in Astronomy said to bear up the Heavens with his Shoulders.

XII. HISPANUS succeeded Periclus. Of him Italy and Spain were both call'd Hesperia, or Italy Hesperia Major, and Spain Hesperia Minor. He was at last dispossest of his Kingdom by his Brother ATLAS. Some say that being with his Brother ATLAS on the Top of a Mountain viewing the Stars a Wind took him away.

Argle, Arcthusa and Hesperithusa were call'd Hesperides. These Daughters and a Priest or Dragon had the Custody of the Golden Apples in an Orchard; Periclus Paurus slew the Dragon and carried away the Apples.

There were 3 of this Name, viz. 1. ATLAS Paurus Son of Japheth, 2. ATLAS Italus or Kitim, the Father of Romus or Electra, 3. ATLAS of Arcadia the Father of Orinda the Mother of Perseus. Of his many Children he was succeeded in Spain by his Son

XIV. ORIN or Strogon. From whom the River Sicoris (which runneth by Ilorda, and afterwards joineth Iberus had its Name —

XV. ANUS or Sicanus. From him some of his People were call'd Sican, who marching with Sicanus in Person into Italy fought with the Ligurians, Oenotrians, Leprigonians, &c. He was in Sicily encounter'd by the Cyclopes who could not suffer the Sicani, but they were forc'd to submit, and that Island was call'd Sicania after him

The VISO-GOTHS or West Gothick KINGS of Spain. See Table 137.

THE Goths, the same sort of People with the Getae and Gepides, finding a Passage, march'd from Northern Asia into Europe very early, first seiz'd upon ancient Dacia, now call'd Vallachia and Moldavia, and then upon Thrace and Myſia, call'd afterwards Bulgaria and the neighbouring Countries, till they possess'd both the Banks of the Danube and extended their Settlements from thence to the Baltick. In the Days of Alexander the Great SYRMUS reign'd over the Goths, and Lyſimachus King of Thrace was vanquiſh'd and taken in Battel by a King of the Goths, who generously ſet him at Liberty and married his Daughter. Afterwards they mix'd with the Northern Nations, ſo that all the old Scandinavians were call'd Goths and ſpoke the Gothick Language, which, with ſome, was like that of the Celts, with others, it was the old Teutonic.

From Scandinavia a great Army of the Northern Goths return'd to the German Coast of the Baltick; and in process of Time, advancing into the main Land, they repossess'd Dacia and Myfia, and over-run the higher Thrace under PHILYMER Son of GANDARIC the 5th King after this Return. Now they became famous by subduing many Nations, whom they forc'd to be call'd by the Name of Goths. Their King

GIVA defeated the Romans in a great Battle, wherein the Emperor Decius and his Son were slain A. D. 252, so that becoming formidable, the Emperors used them as necessary Confederates. In the Time of VALENTINIAN and VALENS, the Gotick King HERMANARIC, after he had vanquish'd many Nations was forc'd to yield many large Countries to the conquering Huns, who slew in Battle VITHIMIR his Successor, and quite overturn'd the Gotick Empire. Upon which the Royal ATHANARIC, not trusting to the Emperor VALENS (because he had aided his Rebel Proclus) marched Northward, and inhabited the Forests of Sarmatia: But FRIGTIGERNE and ALAVIN two Gotick Chiefs, with a great Number of other Gotbs, fix'd at the Danube on the Confines of the Roman Empire, where VALENS consented they should dwell as a Rampire against the Invasions of other Foreigners. They were soon join'd by VITHERIC Son of VITHIMIR with his Tutors Mathee and Saphar, and also Pharnabe the Conductor of great Troops, till again they became a potent People, call'd by the Romans Visigoths as those that remain'd under the Domination of the Huns were call'd Ostro-Gotbs.

There were many Christians among them very early; for Theophilus a Bishop of the Gotbs came to the Council of Nice; but Eudorus the Arian persuaded the Emperor VALENS his Disciple to draw the Gotbs into Arianism; for that a Conformity in Religion would make a more lasting Peace, and Eudorus prevail'd with their great Bishop Uulphilas to persuade his Countrymen to receive the Emperor's Arian Confession of Faith. But VALENS oppress'd the Viss Gotbs at the Roman Frontiers (more than the Huns oppress'd the Ostro-Gotbs under their Domination) by his Licentious who stimulated URITIGERNE and ALAVIN by base Treatment to declare open War against the Romans, in which at last the Emperor was defeated, lost the best of his Men and his own Life, being burn'd by the Gotbs in a Castle whither he had retir'd wounded after the Loss of the Battle; nor, the Gotbs had exterminated the Romans in those Parts but that THEODOSIUS succeeded VALENS, defeated the Gotbs and then made Peace with them; so that ATHARIC the Successor of URITIGERNE died magnificently in the Court of THEODOSIUS: After which the Gotbs were 14 Years at Peace, until ALARIC, one of their Captains, roused up the Gotbs to Arms in the Time of ARCADIUS and HONORIUS. But the Gotbs were divided about a King, some being for RADAGISUS, but ALARIC prevail'd; wherefore while ALARIC oppress'd Hungary, RADAGISUS with 20000 Gotbs, march'd into Italy: but Stritico General of the Romans wisely oppos'd him, shutting up the Gotbs in the Apennine Hills till they were starv'd, when RADAGISUS was taken and strangled.

After this Defeat of RADAGISUS

1. ALARIC King of the Fist-Goths march'd from Hungary into Italy with a great Army demanding to partition the Empire with HONORIUS A. D. 409. to whom, by the Advice of Orifino, HONORIUS granted Gaul and Spain, then a Prey to the Franks, and other Nations. But Orifino secretly sent an Army to destroy ALARIC in the Straits of the Alpes under Saul the Jew, whom ALARIC defeated, and in revenge return'd to Italy, putting all to Fire and Sword, even to the Gates of Rome, which he took and sack'd, except the Holy Places; and having over-run all Italy, on his return to Rome he † suddenly near Consence A. D. 410.

II ATHAULPHUS or ADULPH the Cousin of ALARIC was chosen King, and was pacified by his noble and lovely Prisoner Placidia Galla Sitter of Honorius, whom he married at Ferri in Romania. In respect to Honorius, now his Ally, Athaulph march'd out of Italy into Gaul, where he erected the Kingdom of the Visi-Goths, and restrain'd the Franks within their Limits and drove the Vandals, Alanes and Sueves beyond the Pyrenees. Athaulph or Adolph march'd into Spain to dispossess them: But at Barcelona he was slain with six Children which he had by another Wife than Placidia, being thrust into the Flank by one Gernulph whom he was us'd to laugh at for his Folly A D. 416.

III. SIGERIC was next chosen King by the Goths in Spain, and for being a pacific Prince he was slain by his own Men in 417.

Valentinian III*. He defeated the Vandals and Alanes, in Bætica and Lusitania, and slew their King Attag A. D. 420. and reduc'd them to that Extremity, that the few remaining join'd Gunderic King of the Vandals in Andaluria; but they were totally routed in the Battel of Merida in Portugal: They were driven into Gaul and conquer'd all the Country from Tboluse to the Pyrenean Hills and the River Garonne. VALLIA return'd, forc'd all the Alans to fly into Africa, whither he intended to pursue them A. D. 426, and † 427; some say 419; others say 440.

V. THE DORIC or RODERIC succeeded VALLIA. The Goths bore Peace with the Romans A. D. 436, and befieg'd Narbon which LICTORIUS Govern'd under AETIUS relieved; yet Lictorius trauelling to Witches, befieg'd Tholouze and was taken by THEODORIC 439, which occasion'd the Peace to be renew'd between the Roman, and Goths. And THEODORIC assisting the Romans against the Huns, he was slain in the memorable Battle of Châlons in France, wherein Ardila King of the Huns was defeated, when on both Sides were slain 180000 Men, among whom 95000 Goths or Gots and Franks A. D. 451, some say 453.

to live for ever in a Chypter, and made Galicia a Province of the Gothic Kingdom 584, and the Suevi were no more heard of in Spain being swallow'd up by and mix'd with the Goths.
The Andalusians next possid'd it, then the Kings of Leon kept it until it was restor'd again into a Kingdom by ALPHONSO III. A. D. 846. and given to ORDONNO his second Son, but up in his mounting the Throne it was reunited to the Kingdom of Leon, but still continu'd a Realm distinct. After this ANDER, BERMUND or VERMUND Son of ORDONNO III. was elected King of Galicia, and he becoming King of Leon, once more annex'd it to that Crown. But it was again lost by BERMUND I. King of Castile and
Leon, who gave it to his youngest Son GARSIAS 1067. But GARSIAS was conquer'd by RANCO the eldest Son of BERMUND 1075, or 1081. This Kingdom was a very rich and

TABLE CCCCLXIX.

The MAURISH VICEROYS at Corduba in Spain.

THE Gothick Kingdom of Spain was overturn'd by the Mauri, who invaded it against RODERIGO at the Invitation of Julian Count of Ceuta A. D. 711: Table 447. and next Year the decisive Battel was fought by RODERIGO and the Mauri, which continued 7 Days successively, (others say it was in July or Sept. 714) and at last issued in the Overthrow of RODERIGO and Commencement of the Maurish Kingdom, which was govern'd at first by a Viceroy under the Grand Caliph of Arabia until the Decay of the Reputation of the Arabian Caliphs, when the Mauri erected themselves into many small Kingdoms, many of whom in Time were brought under the Command of more powerful Princes. The Maurish Viceroys are these following.

- I. MUSA or MOSES sent 12000 Men under the Conduct of TARIFF ABEN ZARCA, which were afterwards increas'd to 30000 Horse and 130000 Foot, who defeated RODERIGO 713, and settled the Mauri in Spain.
2. TARIFF ABEN ZARCA, Of him it is recorded in a M. S. of the Saraceni, that at his first coming into Spain a poor Woman became a wilful Captive, fell down and kissed his Feet, and told him that Spain would be conquer'd by a General who should have a Mole on his right Shoulder, and whose Arms should be one longer than the other: accordingly by this Argument he animated his Soldiers, and mightily enlarg'd the Saracen Conquests, so that MUSA turning, jealous of his Success, came to Spain in Person to have the greatest Share in the Spoils, which occasion'd War between MUSA and TARIFF, tho' an Agreement was made. The Mauri spent 8 Months (say some) 5 Years (say others) in settling their Affairs in Spain. But at the Command of the Grand Caliph, Musa return'd home and Tariff too, leaving the Government to Musa's Son, viz.

- I. ABDULAZIS who kept his Court at Seville 718, and married the Widow of RODERIGO the last K. of the Goths, who grieving that from being a Queen she should become the Wife of a Viceroy, persuaded him to take the Royal Diadem. But he was slain in a Church by certain Arabians who conspir'd against him 721. His Wife was also slain.
- II. AIUB succeeded and chang'd the Royal Seat from Seville to Corduba. He rebuilt Bilbilis and call'd it Calat Ajub. The Mauri invaded Languedoc and conquer'd even to the Alps: but they neglecting the Affairs of Asuria, Delays took Leon 721 or 722.
- III. ALOR or Alahor Son of ABDERRAHAMEN succeeded AIUB. Then HOMAR the Grand Caliph sent
- IV. ADAM the Son of Melik who, they say, built the Bridge of Corduba. He † at Tortose returning from the Spoil of Tarassone. At this Time the Saraceni made great Conquests in Gaul.
- V. ABDERRAHAMEN succeeded ADAM as Viceroy. He defeated Gundo Duke of Aquitaine both at Arles and Bourdeaux, spoiling and burning all between the Pyrenes and the River Loyer, but at last a Peace was concluded. Gundo being threatened by the French and fearing their Power, he call'd in against them a great Army of Saraceni, who were defeated in Tournai by Charles Martel A. D. 726. See Table 374. Some say this Battel was fought 730, others 734.
- VI. JAHBA succeeded and govern'd 2 Years residing at Corduba.
- VII. ADAIFA ALCAZAZIN succeeded but was soon depos'd.
- VIII. HISMEN succeeded and † within 6 Months.
- IX. AUTUMAN succeeded and † within 4 Months.
- X. ALHATAN was slain for his Cruelty at the Command of the Grand Caliph, having govern'd only 2 Months. About this Time the Power of the Saraceni in France mightily decay'd, thro' the Valour of Charles Martel.
- XI. MANES succ. ALHATAN but continued not long.
- XII. MAHUMET was Viceroy but two Months.
- XIII. ABDERRAHAMEN ruled 3 Years.
- XIV. ABDIMELIC brought new Colonies out of Africa and repeopled the Cities which the successful Arms of Charles Martel had drain'd of their Inhabitants. He having rul'd 4 Years was expell'd by his Successor
- XV. OCHA who rul'd 5 Years. Then ABDIMELIC was restor'd and rul'd a Year and an half, and was then succeeded by
- XVI. ALCATANAN, who, seeking to deliver Spain from many strange Soldiers, was slain by them, and the Government was usurped by
- XVII. ABEN HAZ, who was presently set upon and vanquish'd by the Children of Alcataran and † 15 Days after. Then to suppress the Divisions that at that Time infested Spain, the Grand Caliph sent
- XVIII. ZUBEIR who made up these Differences: but intending to enter Gaul, was prevented by Pipin King of France, who defeated the Mauri.
- XIX. ABDERRAHAMEN succeeded ZUBEIR.
- XX. IZZA UZIT who was succeeded by
- XXI. ABUBACAR, who was slain at Corduba and succeeded by
- XXII. RODOAN and after him
- XXIII. TOABA was Viceroy of Spain 753, a valiant Soldier and † 754. After him succeeded
- XXIV. JOSEPH a great Persecutor of the Christians, but was unfortunate in his Wars against Froila I. King of Oviedo, or Leon, who slew 50000 Mauri in two Battels Table 454: wherefore Joseph was disdain'd by the Mauri who call'd in Abderrahamen to rule over them. This Abderrahamen having conquer'd and slain Joseph took upon him the Sovereignty and was the first Sovereign Prince of the Mauri. Of whom and his Successors, see the next Table.

TABLE CCCCL.

The MAURISH KINGS of Corduba.

THIS Kingdom, when first erected, comprehended all those Parts of Spain conquer'd by the Mauri and not again recover'd by the Kings of Leon: but it was contracted into narrower Bounds when subdued by the K. of Castile, containing then only the Provinces of Andalusia, Extremadura, Granada and the Isle of Gades. The old Inhabitants of these Countries were the Turduli, the Bastuli and the Turditani of Andalusia and Granada, the Celti and some of the Lusitani in Extremadura, all vanquish'd by the Romans during the 2d Panick War under the fortunate Command of SCIPIO AFRICANUS. From them it was extorted by the Vandals, who going into Africa left it to be possess'd by the Sueves, who were dispossest by THEODORIC King of the Goths who possess'd it until it was conquer'd by the Mauri, who were at first subject to the Grand Caliph of Arabia, who sent his Viceroy or Lieutenant to govern it in his room, as in the last Table. The last of which Viceroys, viz. JOSEPH, was conquer'd and slain by Abderrahamen the Son of Moavia of the Race of MAHOMET the Great Prophet of the Saraceni.

- I. ABDERRAHAMEN 1. after he slew Joseph the last Viceroy made himself King and Miramumin or Miramomelin A. D. 757, some say 759. He forc'd Aurelius King of Leon or Oviedo to pay an yearly Tribute of Christian Virgins A. D. 771. Table 454. But the Mauri falling out among themselves, Charlemain enter'd Spain with a great Army 778, besieg'd and took Saragossa by Composition and resettled Ilnabilla in that petty Principality. But ABDERRAHAMEN afterwards reigning over all the Mauri in Spain miserably distress'd the Christians, expell'd the Kings of Oviedo into the Mountains of Asuria and subdued Ballafroy King of Toledo. He † 787.

- II. ZULEIMA 1. govern'd at Toledo where he took upon himself the Title of King, but was expell'd into Africa by his Brother, after whose Death he return'd and rebell'd against his Nephew but was slain in Battel.
- III. IZEN 1. OSMEN, or ISMEN or Ireta, seiz'd on the Crown of Corduba in prejudice of ZULEIMA whom he defeated and expell'd and became K. of all the Mauri in Spain. But demanding the Tribute of Virgins from K. Alphonso II. he was defeated in the Battel of Lados or Alado, 70000 Mauri being slain in the Field A. D. 793. This was the first Prince of the Mauri who rigg'd out a Fleet. He † 794.
- Abdalla first rebell'd against his Nephew, but upon his Brother ZULEIMA's Death he humbled himself and ask'd Pardon.

- IV. HALIHATAN 1. OF HALHAKAM succeeded. He kept 5000 Horsemen for the Guard of his Person. His Uncles Zuleima and Abdalla landed in Spain 799, to take Possession of Toledo for ZULEIMA who had reign'd there before: but ZULEIMA was slain in Battel and ABDALLA forc'd to submit, and HALIHATAN severely punish'd the Rebellion of Toledo. He † 821, or 819.

- V. ABDERRAHAMEN II. succ. He was discomfited by the Christians in the memorable Battel of Clavieja A. D. 836, † 839. besides 18 Sons and 21 Da

- VI. MAHOMET 1. succeeded and march'd with an Army into Navarre where he was repuls'd, then he turn'd his Force against Toledo, which was a del by the Christians, whom he vanquish'd in the Battel of Guadacette, but they still holding out, MAHOMET sent his Brother ALMUNDIR with a mighty Army, which at last forc'd those of Toledo to submit to MAHOMET. He had also War with Alphonso III. King of Oviedo or Leon, who often spoil'd the Country of the Mauri, Table 454. He † 874. Wives N. N.

- VI. ALMUNDIR succeeded and † 876.
- VII. ABDALLA succeeded his Brother Anno 876, when the Christians and Mauri made a Cession of Arms for 10 Years. ABDALLA † 889.

- Other 44 Sons and 42 Daughters, whereof ALMUNDIR was General against the Christians.

- Other 32 Sons and 20 Daughters.
- Other 11 Sons and 13 Daughters, whereof MAHOMET is said to be the Father of

- VIII. ABDERRAHAMEN III. surnamed ALMANCOR, succeeded his Grandfather. He had continual Wars with the Christians with various Success. He was a lover of Learning, in that in his Time Philosophy, Physick and all other Arts did flourish at Corduba. He † 939.

- IX. HALI HATAN II. succeeded and took several Places from the C. of Castile. He took Zadora from the King of Leon 950. He cruelly persecuted the Christians and † 956.

- X. IZEN II. or IZUGA succeeded under the Guardianship of MAHOMAD IZZA a noble Maur, who rul'd all (IZUGA having nothing but the Name) and of him it is said that he invaded the Christian Country 952 Times and rul'd 25 Years. Then his Son ABDIMELIC ABUNDASTIN had the same Charge of Captain General as his Father. IZEN was depos'd by an African Maur call'd

- XI. ZULEIMA II. of the Family of Alawari, who did not long enjoy Corduba: for another Nobleman of the Old House of Humria call'd

- XII. MAHOMET II. surnamed Wahid or Alinshadi seiz'd against ZULEIMA and depriv'd him of his Kingdom Anno 993, which he maintain'd 4 Years with great Difficulty. And then ZULEIMA depos'd him from being King of Corduba, but he went and was receiv'd King of Toledo. Upon which arose such Divisions that the Saracen Kingdom was torn in pieces and never regain'd its former Lustre, and at last became a Prey to

- XIII. HALI another African Maur who slew ZULEIMA with his own Hands Anno 1005. He was at the Instigation of one Ball Hatan slain by Eunuchs 1007.

- XIV. CAJIN was eldest of HALI's Brother, and therefore Yah Hatan seeing that he could not reign stirr'd up many Enemies against him. CAJIN † 1007, and was succ. in Corduba by

- XV. HAYA Son of Alphonso, after having reign'd 3 Months and a few Days was slain by Yah Hatan 1007. Then

- XVI. ABDERRAHAMEN IV. succ. but reign'd only 1 Month and 17 Days, but whether he died or was expell'd the Kingdom is uncertain.

- XVII. MAHOMET III. succ. but his Riches tempted his Household Servants to conspire his Death, accordingly they poison'd him, so that he † 1009, having reign'd 1 Year and 4 Months.

- XVIII. HIZEN III. in his Time the Dominions of the Mauri in Spain were rent by civil Dissensions. King HIZEN was expell'd by his Subjects for the Robberies committed by his Atabek in Castile A. D. 1011. Then Alimundir entreated the Mauri to elect him to be King, tho' they should kill him the next Day. But they observing his Ambition elected

- XIX. JOAR of Alpauze reign'd but 2 Years and was succeeded by his Son

- XX. MAHOMET IV. the last K. of Corduba, who contenting himself with what remain'd of the Dominions of Corduba reign'd till 1017, when he † in the 13th Year of his Reign. His Successors in the Kingdom of Corduba are not well known. The Separation of many Provinces made it inconsiderable, and the Pride of the party Kings open'd a Door for the Kings of Almoravides of Morocco to begin their Masters. Under 7 of the Princes of Morocco the Spanish Mauri were subject 200 Years, viz. from the coming of JOSEPH the Queen 1091, unto the going out of MAHOMET the Queen 1214, during which Time the Mauri lost nothing but Extremadura and the City of Lisbon A. D. 1147. MAHOMET the Queen being vanquish'd by the Confederate Christians in the Battel of Sierra Morana 1214, desert'd the Mauri, whose Dominions were again partition'd into almost as many Kingdoms as Great Towers, all of them in time swallowed up by the Kings of Castile, Aragon and Portugal. Corduba was annex'd to that of Castile by King FERDINAND II. 1230. to which it never was a separate Kingdom.

T A B L E CCCCLI.

The Maurish KINGS of Granada in Spain.

THIS was a part of the Kingdom of Corduba which being subdued by Ferdinand II. King of Castile, as in the last Table, the Mauri were dismissed and their Counfels disconcerted; every Great Man pursuing his private Views: for Aben Judiel seiz'd Murcia while Zeir and Zaen contended in Valencia, and Aben Jafon reign'd in Algarvia; and those of Seville would have no King, but only a Governor, till Grataf lost it. But MAHOMAD Alenalagmar or Aben Alamar or MAHOMET ALHAMAR surnamed the Green, who had rose from a Shepherd to a General, being highly esteem'd for his Valour, the People of Arjona, his native place, chose him for their King; and other Towns following their Example, He made Granada the Capital of this new Kingdom, which lasted 256 Years under these 20 Kings, yet tributary to the Crown of Castile, viz.

V. ISMAEL depos'd and succeeded his Uncle 1319, and was slain by a conspiracy of his own Subjects 1322.

VIII. MAHOMET VI. Lagus or the Red, succeeded his Nephew JOSEPH 1354, and was depos'd by MAHOMET Vermeil 1360. but after two Years, upon the Death of Vermeil, He was restor'd 1362, and renewed the Homage and Tribute to the Crown of Castile. He poison'd Henry King of Castile the Brother of Pedro and † that same Year 1379.

XIX. MULEY ALBOHACEN or HALI MULEY HACEN succeeded his Father 1465. FERDINAND Catholicus King of Spain having finish'd his other Wars, was excited by his Courtiers and Priests to destroy the Kingdom of the Mauri in Spain, but wanted an Opportunity till MULEY ALBOHACEN, during a Truce, seiz'd the City Zabara. Upon which FERDINAND's Men march'd and took the City Albama, and so the War began. The Mauri murmur'd against MULEY ALBOHACEN who was now mostly influence'd by his beautiful Queen, whom he call'd Zoraya or the Morning Star, who excited him to imprison his Son BOABDELLIN that her own Children might succeed, and BOABDELLIN would have been slain had not his Mother Atra contriv'd his Escape to his Kinsmen the Abenecages who prevail'd with their Friends at Granada to proclaim him their King, while his Father retir'd some where else, and made fierce War upon his Son *A. Zoraya a Renegade Christian his second Wife.

XX. MAHOMET XIII. BOABDELLIN or EL-ZAGAL being thus proclaim'd King at Granada while he defended himself against his Father, He was rival'd by his Nephew MAHOMET the Little, who had an equal Number of Mauri on his Side. But leaving their private Quarrels, the War between the Spaniards and Mauri was carried on for 10 Years with various Success, and by Degrees, and by the Constancy of Queen ISABEL all this Kingdom was subdued, and last of all the City of Granada was taken, when MAHOMET BOABDELLIN presented to FERDINAND and ISABEL the Keys of the Royal Palace 1 Jan. 1492. Thus the Maurish Kingdom was subdued after their first Invasion 780 Years, and to prevent the Possibility of their ever encroaching in Spain, He expuls'd 170000 Families of Mauri and Jews: Then such of the Mauri as would be baptiz'd were not hinder'd to stay in Spain, but that they might be known to be true to their Profession, the Inquisition was set up, by the Rigour of which K. PHILIP III. banish'd 900000 Mauri in quest of new Habitations.

Raere and Coa, after the Conquest of K. FERDINAND, were baptiz'd. Ferdinand and John and their Posterity remain at this D. y in Castile.

The Maurish KINGS of Toledo in Spain.

TOLEDO in the time of the Romans was the Metropolis of Tarracommensis, afterwards the Royal Seat of the Gothic Kings. In the Confusion of the Mauri, MAHOMET IV. it became a distinct Kingdom of itself, govern'd by these Kings, viz.

I. GALLAFROY King of Toledo in the time of Charlemain, under the Vassalage of the Grand Caliphs of Arabia, was subdued by Abderrabamen I. King of Corduba about A. D. 780.

Galsena a fair Lady, by her Beauty, drew Charlemain out of France to Toledo, where he fought with a Knight call'd Bramante, who would have married her, and Charlemain being victorious, carried the beautiful Galsena with him into France, but this is accounted all Fable.

II. ZULEIMA the eldest Son of Abderrabamen, being dispossess'd of Corduba, Table 450. by his younger Brother Hizen, reign'd some time in Toledo, but was dispossess'd of that also, Toledo then continuing a Member of the Kingdom of Corduba till the End of the Reign of Abderrabamen II. when

III. ABEN LOPO a Goth, turn'd Mahometan, the Son of Dusa Aben Cacia. He having excited the Toledans and other Mauri to rebel, assum'd the Title of King of Toledo 833, and was a strict Confederate of Ordegno II. King of Leon, who supported him against the King of Corduba: but he was at last vanquish'd and dispossess'd by MAHOMET the Son of Abderrabamen II. Anno 848. Tab. 450. Toledo after that continued subject to the Kingdom of Corduba, until

IV. ABDALLA a great Man among the Mauri, taking the Opportunity of the Contentions between Zuleima and Hizen II. Kings of Corduba, seiz'd on the City of Toledo A. D. 990, which he possess'd as King, and kindly entertain'd MAHOMET Almohadi, who was made King of Corduba during these Contentions, and was his Successor.

V. MAHOMET surnamed Almohadi of the Royal Family of HUMEIA King of Corduba, being dispossess'd of that Kingdom by the Faction of Zuleima, retir'd to Toledo 997, of which he became King.

VI. OBEYDALLA was slain in his Wars against Hizen III. King of Corduba, in the first or second Year of his Reign, Anno 1000.

VII. HAIRAM of the same House of ABEN HUMEYA, and probably the next Kinsman of OBEYDALLA his Predecessor, succeeded 1000, † 1010.

VIII. HIZEN of whom little remarkable, † 1045.

IX. ALI-MAYNON, or according to the Spaniards Almenon, entertain'd ALPHONSO VI. of Leon, when dispossess'd of his Estate by his Brother Daucho 1072. Tab. 450. He † 1076.

X. HIZEN II. † 1073.

XI. HAYA surnamed Alcadabille succeeded his Brother, and proving a cruel Tyrant, gain'd not only the Hatred of his Subjects, but also gave occasion to Alphonso VI. King of Castile and Leon to invade this Kingdom, which he conquer'd and enter'd the City in great Triumph 25 May Anno 1083. Toledo then immediately became the Metropolis of Leon now New Castile.

V. XIMEN INIGO (perhaps his Son) who † Anno 840, but of him nothing is recorded in History. Nay, there are several judicious Authors who affirm there was no King of Pampelona or Navarre before the Time of the Emperor Lewis Pius, that Country being subject sometimes to Assuria, sometimes to the Kings of the Franks and sometimes to the Saracens. 4. XIMEN II. Garsias was a wife and valiant Knight, but liv'd but a short Time, he was slain in an Encounter against the Mauri. His Wife and the Time of his Death are not recorded.

But when FERDINAND was come to Age, a Peace was concluded between the Kings of Castile and Aragon 8 Aug. 1304, when they both leagu'd together against the Maurs, from whom FERDINAND took Gibraltar 1309. three Years after, being at Marlos in Andalusia, he condemn'd, for a Murder, two Knights, Peter and John of Carvajal, Brothers, upon very slender Proof, to be thrust headlong from the top of a Rock: They at their Execution protested their Innocence, and summon'd the King in 30 Days to appear before GOD's Tribunal to answer for their Death! She had another Bastard by another Person. The Nobles there cre to remove this Shame and exclude JOHANN from the Succession, enter'd into an Association and putting the Image of HENRY upon a Scaffold, they there formally impeach'd him, and then taking off his Ornaments, they threw the Image from the Scaffold and proclaim'd ALPHONSO the King's Brother their King, which occasion'd much Civil Wars. Mean while ALPHONSO died, and FERDINAND Son of JOHN II. K. of Aragon and Sicily propos'd a Mar. with Isabel HENRY's Sister, to whom the Castilians offer'd the Crown and oblig'd HENRY to declare her the true Heir. He suppress'd the Rebellion of the Moors in Granada A. D. 1500: He made an Agreement with LEWIS XII. King of France in a Partition of Naples, and their joint Forces conquer'd it, see Tab. 440. Upon Queen ISABEL's Death 1504, his Son-in-Law PHILIP of Austria, call'd the Netherlander, became King of Castile and Leon in right of his Wife JOAN, but PHILIP dying 1506, FERDINAND recover'd the Government of Castile, according to the last Will of Queen ISABEL, tho' the Emperor Maximilian I. pretended to it in right of his Grandson CHARLES the elder Son of PHILIP. Then 1508, he regain'd from the Venetians those Places of Naples that they had obtain'd for Services done to the Neapolitans and join'd the Pope in Defence of the Venetians against the French, then Masters of Milan: and because JOHN d'Albret K. of Navarre took part with the French, FERDINAND got the Pope to excommunicate him, under which Pretext he took that part of Navarre lying South of the Pyrenes 1512, call'd ever since the Spanish Na- varre, which the French could never yet recover. Charles Infant of Spain, call'd Don Carlos, born 8 July 1545. He was contracted to Isabel Daughter of Henry II. King of France, but his Father marrying his Bride, he was much displeas'd. Being of a jealous Humour, Charles always slept with five Arms about him; and his Father suspecting his Ambition, sent him by Night, disarm'd his Guards, clothed him in Black, and made him lie on a Rowling Bed. This put the Prince on several Attempts on his own Life. At last his Father posess'd him for his suspected Love to the Queen and hers to him, so that he † 24 July 1568.

VI. CHARLES II. born 6 Nov. 1661, King of Spain under the Tutition of his Mother; but negligently prosecuting the War against Portugal, was by the Mediation of England, forc'd to make Peace with that Crown; and renounce all Right to the same; because the French at that time made a grievous Havock in the Netherlands, taking with little Resistance, a great many Cities and Forts. viz. Charleroy, Tournay, Lisle, Douay, &c. together with the whole French County, which had been the Peace between England and Holland, and occasion'd the Triple Alliance between England, Holland and Sweden for preserving the Spanish Netherlands 1667, and the Treaty of Aix la Chapelle 1668, whereby France was oblig'd to restore French County to Spain. But when the French attack'd Holland 1672, Spain sided with the Dutch and came again to an open War, and at first lost Burgundy; France took also Limburg, Conde, Valenciennes, Cambraya, Tournay, St. Omer, Aeth and Ghent. But by the Peace of Nimwegen, France kept the French-Compté and most places in the Netherlands, restoring only to Spain Limburg, Ghent, Tournay, Oudenarde, Aeth and Charleroy. After this K. CHARLES was ever staidy in the Emperor's Interest against Lewis XIV. and his Ally King James II. of England, and readily came into the Measures of the Prince of Orange, the Emperor and Pope in the Revolution of England 1688, and join'd in the Grand Alliance with King William III. who after the Peace of Ryswick, contriv'd a Partition of the Spanish Monarchy, whereby Charles Archduke of Austria was to have Spain and most of the Spanish Dominions except Naples and Sicily, which were assign'd to the Dauphin 15 March 1699. But Lewis XIV. tho' at first he came into this Treaty, yet by his Policy obtain'd that Charles on his Death Bed bequeath'd it by his last Will and Testament, the whole Spanish Monarchy to his Grandson Philip Duke of Anjou. See the next Table. Charles † without Issue 1 Nov. 1700. Wives, 1. Mary Louisa Daughter of Philip Duke of Orleans, married 19 November 1679, † 12 Feb. 1689. Tab. 387. 2. Mary Ann Daughter of Philip William Palatin of Neuburg born 1667, mrd 4 May 1690. See Tab. 272. It is commonly reported that this Charles once commanding all Jews to wear colour'd Hats as a Badge of Infamy, the Duke of Medina Celi withdrew from the Council Chamber, and the King asking the Reason, the Duke answer'd, To fetch a Couple of these Hats. Then the King ask'd for whom, to which the Duke boldly reply'd, One for your Majesty and another for my self; the King then cry'd out, O curse on the Pigeon that soar'd so High. N. B. Pigeon or Palatin alludes to a certain Jew from whom it is thought several of the Kings of Spain are descended.

II. CHARLES I. of Spain and V. of the Emperors, born at Ghent 24 Feb. 1500, was Governor of the Netherlands 1514, crown'd K. of Spain 1516, when, by the Aid of Cardinal Ximenes, he took upon himself the Administration, his Mother being incapable, and made a League with K. Francis I. whole Da. was the cruel Duke of Alva into the Netherlands, exasperated that People to contend to the Death for their Liberty; in these Troubles Queen Elizabeth the first of England, while the English Privateers much annoy'd the Spanish West-India Ships; nay the famous Francis Drake plunder'd the very Seaboard Coast of America. At last Philip resolv'd at once to ruin England by that which he call'd the Invincible Armado, which got such an Overthrow, partly by the English and Dutch, and partly by Tempests, that the few that return'd home were in a most miserable Condition, and there was scarce a Noble Family in Spain but what lost some Friend or Relation A. D. 1588. After this 1596, Admiral Howard and the Earl of Essex took and plunder'd the City of Cadix. Neither did Philip receive much advantage by joining in the Holy-League against the House of Bourbon; for Henry IV. declaring himself a Roman Catholic broke all his Measures. Then a Peace was made at Verwin between France and Spain 1597, K. Philip had also War with the Turks, for the Pyrat Dragut had taken Tripoli, and therefore to retake it Philip sent a mighty Army which took the Isle Gerbis, but the Turks beat the Spaniards and retok that Island 1591. At last Philip, upon the Death of Henry King of Portugal, in right of his Mother, claim'd that Kingdom, which he conquer'd by his General the Duke of Alva 1579, and forc'd Antonio the Bastard, who had caus'd himself to be proclaim'd King, to fly into England and from thence to France where he died. The Island Terceira held out till 1597, when the French intending to relieve it were totally routed. He † 13 September 1598. His second Wife MARY Queen of England whom he married 1554, † without Issue 1558. See England of the House of Tudor.

III. PHILIP II. born 21 May 1527, succeeded on his Father's Abdication 1556. In his Time the greatness of the Spanish Monarchy began to be at a Stand, nay to decline; for the separation of the Imperial Crown from that of Spain much disabled it, and the Belgic War also lessen'd its Authority; for Philip choosing rather to reside in Spain, than personally to stop these Wars, in the beginning made the wound incurable, and his sending Ferdinand and Alvarez the cruel Duke of Alva into the Netherlands, exasperated that People to contend to the Death for their Liberty; in these Troubles Queen Elizabeth the first of England, while the English Privateers much annoy'd the Spanish West-India Ships; nay the famous Francis Drake plunder'd the very Seaboard Coast of America. At last Philip resolv'd at once to ruin England by that which he call'd the Invincible Armado, which got such an Overthrow, partly by the English and Dutch, and partly by Tempests, that the few that return'd home were in a most miserable Condition, and there was scarce a Noble Family in Spain but what lost some Friend or Relation A. Philip expell'd 9000000000 the Offspring of the ancient Moors, who intended to make a Rebellion, and had privately crav'd the Aid of Henry IV. K. of France. There arose two Factions near the Alps, viz. the Gattinians and Grisons. The Spaniards join'd the Valtelines hoping to annex them to Milan, and the French the Grisons. ## TABLE CCCCLXIV.

The LORDS of Biscay.

THE old Inhabitants before the coming in of the Vascones were the Cantabri, the Progenitors of the modern Biscainians, as appears by their Language different from that of the rest of Spain, and was thought to have continued the same ever since the Confusion at Babel; nay, it seems to be the Language of the ancient Spaniards before they were blended with Foreigners: Nor were the Biscainians ever thoroughly subdued either by the Carthaginians, Romans, Goths, or Mauers, whereby their Language was preserved. 'Tis true AUGUSTUS CESAR restrain'd their Disorders by the Roman Towers, but they never intermix'd with the Romans, and were only Subjects of that Empire until it fell, when the Romans resign'd Biscay to the Goths with the rest of the Province of Tarraconensis; nay, they were also the last that submitted to the Fury of the Mauers, and the first that shook off that Yoke, not having time to be blended with them. They speak their own ancient pure Language, as the People in the Mountains of Granada still speak pure Arabick, or in Wales the old British, or in Scotland the ancient Gaulick or Celtick.

They differ from the other Spaniards in Customs as well as Language, for they account themselves free from Taxes and admit no Prelates among them; for when Ferdinand the Catholic came in Progress hither, the People arose and drove back his Companion the Bishop of Pampelona from the King's Presence, and gathering all the Dust, on which they thought the Bishop had trod, they threw it into the Sea: Nor do they allow any Priest to live among them without a Concubine, believing their Wives could not be safe, if the Curate had not a Woman of his own. And the Women always drink first before the Men, ever since Ordoño Count of Castile attempted to poison his Son Sancho in a Cup of Wine. They had many Highland Kings, or Heads of Clans, or Captains of Bands before and after the Invasion of the Mauers, the last of whom was ZENO made Governor or Count of Biscay in the beginning of the Reign of Alphonso III. King of Leon. But by his Rebellion he forc'd that King to send an Army, which conquer'd and carried him Prisoner to Oviedo, where he died in Captivity A. D. 856. The Biscainians seeing themselves without a Head fell to Mutinies and Seditions, and therefore ORDOGNO Count of Asturias the Son of King ALPHONSO was sent against them, but the Biscainians under the Conduct of their Captain SORIA or SURIA the Grandson of ALPINUS King of Scotland routed Ordogno Anno 870, and chose this SORIA for their Lord, whose Genealogy is as follows, viz.

ALPINUS King of Scotland † 834.

12. DIEGO LOPEZ DIAZ 111. de Haro was for his Service to King SANCHO IV. of Castile, made his High-Steward and Standard-Bearer; the Survivance of which Honours was also bellow'd on his Son, with a Promise never to dispossess them, if they serv'd him and his Son Ferdinand faithfully: And this DIEGO was made Count of Biscay 1 January 1287, with Command over all the Country from Burgos to the Sea; but afterwards turning proud and audacious, he was slain at Court in the Presence of the King 1289.

13. DIEGO LOPEZ 111. de Haro upon his Father's Death rebell'd against King Sancho and acknowledg'd Alphonso de la Cerda for his King, which occasion'd many Calamities to the Kingdom of Castile. He † 1290.

14. DIEGO LOPEZ 111. or Lupo Diaz de Haro was still at Variance with the King of Castile, he † 1309, without Issue. Wife, Urraca natural Daughter of Alphonso IX. King of Castile. Table 459.

Upon the Death of his Uncle Diego Lopez 111. 1309, he was restor'd into the King's Favour and obtain'd Biscay, which had been forfeited to the Crown. T A B L E CCCCLXV.

The COUNTS of Barcelona in Catalonia.

THE ancient Inhabitants of this Country were the Castellani, Auxitani, Indigites, Cofitani, with part of the Ilecones and Jacetani; all of them a part of the ancient Province Tarraconensis: They forgot much their ancient Language, being long train'd up in Roman Customs and Speech, till in the Declension of that Empire they were first invaded by the Alani A. D. 410, who were soon expell'd by the Goths, and these dispossessed by the Mauri 714. But the Christians here hating the Maurish Yoke, solicited CHARLES MARTEL to aid them in shaking it off. He sent a German Knt. call'd Oter or Oger Carhorlot to be their Governor, with some Bands of German and French, who with the Natives, fit to bear Arms, recover'd some Frontiers from the Mauri. Charles Martel † 741, and during the Reign of his Son King Pipin, the Catalans, aided by the French, war'd against the Mauri, but CHARLEMAIN march'd in Person to Catalonia, and recover'd Barcelona from the Mauri 797, and ZATO the Maurish Governor yielded himself to CHARLES, who made BERNARD, a Frenchman, Count of Barcelona, who stil'd himself Count, Duke and also Marquis of Spain, as appears by some of his Letters preserv'd at Ripagarsa, and at St. Peter's of Taverna.

The Name Catalonia is by some deriv'd from the old Castellani; others say it was call'd Gotholania from the mixture of the Goths and Alani, successively Masters of it; others from the Catti and Alani, and others from the Catalonians. But others say it has its Name from the said Governor CATHARLOT or CATHELOM; but whatever its Etymology may be, Custom has prevail'd many hundred Years to call it Catalagna or Catalonia.

1. BERNARD Governor of Provence and Languedoc under Charlemain is accounted the first Count of Barcelona and govern'd Catalonia 797, as above mention'd, he had sharp Wars with the Mauri, from whom with the help of GEOFFREY the Hairy Lord of Arria, he took all the Country between the Rivers Noguera and Llobregat, but after the Death of CHARLEMAIN, Aymon Governor of Guienne having rebell'd against the Emperor Lewis, enter'd Catalonia, and with the Aid of the Mauri, besieg'd Barcelona A. D. 820, which they both took and lost that Year. But the Mauri so grievously oppressing the Christians, the Emperor sent Eliachar an Abbot to comfort them; and he so much animated them, that when Abderrahman and Aymon went again to besiege Barcelona, they found such Resistance as they were forc'd to abandon it Anno 830, when BERNARD was recalled by the Emperor Lewis Pius who made him his Chamberlain, but being accus'd of Adultery with the Empress Judith, he was depriv'd of all and succeeded by

2. GEOFFREY of Arria succeeded him as Count of Barcelona A. D. 839, Catalonia was then subject to the French and obtain'd great Privileges from K. Charles Craffus An. 844. This GEOFFREY exerted himself against the Mauri, and though in vain he attempted to

Almira a French Lady. take the Town of Tortosa, yet he depriv'd them of what the Rebel Aymon had usurp'd in that Country some Years before. But one SOLOMON C. of Cerdagne envying him, accus'd him to the K. his Sovereign, and being summon'd to appear at his Instance, He was slain at Auvergne on the Way thither Anno 858.

3. SOLOMON Count of Cerdagne succeeded his Rival 858, by means of CHARLES King of Burgundy. But CHARLES dying 864, Catalonia came to the Emp. Lewis II. who dying 876, it then went to the King of France, and 877 SOLOMON was slain by a Conspiracy of his Successor.

I. GEOFFREY 1. surnamed the Hairy, was educated in the House of a Flemish Knt. whose Da. he secretly married. He succeeded SOLOMON 877, in his Father's Dignities and was pardon'd for the Murder of SOLOMON. He served well the Emperor Lewis II. and K. Charles Craffus against the Normans: But the Mauri in his Absence entering Barcelona, GEOFFREY then demanded Men and Money of the King to repulse the Infidels; but K. Charles not being able to assist him that Way, gave the County of Barcelona to him and to his Heirs for ever A. D. 884, reserving only the Sovereignty to the Kings of France, and therefore this GEOFFREY is accounted the first proprietary Count of Barcelona, to which when he return'd, he recover'd all that the Mauri had usurp'd upon the Territories of Catalonia and Barcelona. He † 914.

N. N. a Flemish Lady.

Rudolph first Abbot of Ripol then Bishop of Urgel.

Geoffrey † young of Poyson.

II. MYR or MIRON succeeded as Count of Barcelona 914. Of whom nothing remarkable is recorded. He † 929. Wife, N. N.

Suner or Seniofrid Count of Urgel, govern'd Catalonia as the Tutor of his Nephew SENIOFRID till An. 950.

N. N. a Daughter.

III. SENIOFRID or GEOFFREY II. succ. his Father under the Guardianship of his Uncle Suner from 929, to 950, † without Issue 967. Wife, Mary Da. of Sancho I. Gasias King of Navarre. See Table 455.

OLIBAN surnamed Cheurette because of a sanguinary Infirmary obliging him always to scratch the Ground before he could speak a Word; and therefore did not succeed, but was made Count of Cerdagne and Besalu; yet he rose in Arms against his Cousin BORELLO, but finding the Mauri take Advantage, he resign'd his right to Barcelona, contenting himself with Cerdagne and Besalu and † 994.

Myr or Miron C. and Bishop of Gironne

IV. BORELLO succeeded his Cousin SENIOFRID 967, he defended his Country valiantly against the Invasions of the Mauri and erected Forts to stop their Incursions: Yet He was defeated by the Mauri who enter'd Catalonia with a great Power 986, took and committed great Barbarities in Barcelona. BORELLO who was forc'd to fly to the Mountains, where he recruited himself as well as he could, and then returning he retook Barcelona and recover'd all the places which the Mauri had taken; But these Infidels reinvaded Catalonia, and once more defeated Count Borella, who thinking to save himself with 60 Horse in the Castle of Gautha near Calles, was there taken and slain with all his Company Anno 993. # The GRAND-MASTERS of St. John of Jerusalem, now call'd the GRAND-MASTERS of Malta.

THE Orders of Knighthood, owing their Original for the most part to Sovereigns, cannot well be omitted in this Work, their Institution being for the Defence of Crowns and States, to which the Knights are devoted by a particular Engagement, and their Oath of Fidelity attaches them more to the Persons of their Sovereigns than other Subjects, and the Sovereigns are mostly the Heads of these illustrious Societies, and have thought it their Honour to bear the Arms and Badges of these Orders. Their Honour of Knighthood is not hereditary, but is granted to Merit, to Knowledge, to Valour, and to Services done the State, whether in Negotiations with neighbouring Princes, or in military Expeditions. Thus GODFREY of Bouillon created twelve Knights from among his Nobles at Antwerp, a few Days before his Departure to the Holy-Land A. D. 1097, and JOHN Duke of Brabant A. D. 1288, created 31 Knights at the Head of his Army from among his principal Officers before the Battel of Waring; and the Emperor MAXIMILIAN I. A. D. 1479, created 20 Knights at the Head of his Army before the Battel of Blanges from among his principal Officers, to oblige them to shew their Valour, and to animate the rest of the Army.

These Orders are different and divided in 2 Classes: The first contains the Religious Orders of Chevalry, whose Duties are not extended to the Defence of Princes and States, and of all Christendom, for they are subject to certain particular Vows and Regulations, whereby they are entirely under the Power of their Heads. The other Class comprehends the Military Orders that Sovereigns have instituted to animate their Nobility and Subjects with an Emulation in War. Of these I shall speak, after I have given a Catalogue of the Grand-Masters of

The famous Order of Malta.

Before the taking Jerusalem from the Saracens, certain Christian Merchants of Naples got leave from the Caliph of Egypt to build a small and convenient House and Oratory for the Entertainment of themselves and Countrymen 1012, which they built before the Church of the Holy Sepulchre. To them repair'd certain Canons of the Order of St. Augustin who built another Oratory; but the Number of the Pilgrims increasing they erected a large Hospital where our Saviour celebrated his last Supper for their better Accommodation, and taking St. John Baptist for their Patron they obtain'd the Title Hospitallers of St. John of Jerusalem, and by charitable Assistance from Europe they oppos'd the Attacks of the Infidels many Years, till GODFREY of Bouillon came to their Relief, beat off the Turks in Syria, and took in Jerusalem from the Caliph of Egypt, Anno 1099, and after he had reign'd about 11 Months, his Brother BALDWIN I. protest'd them, whose Nephew BALDWIN II. succeeded, and under him this Order was confirm'd in its Establishment by Pope HONORIUS II. and the Patriarch of Jerusalem Anno 1124, with the Regulations of St. AUGUSTIN: for GERHARD the Holy dying 1118, tho' he was really the Head of the Order, yet he had not the Quality of Grand-Master, but his Successor RAYMOND PODIUS a Florantine obtain'd first the Title.

| GERHARD a Frenchman born in Martigues in Provence , was Administrator of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem , and after the taking of Jerusalem by GODFREY of Bouillon 15 July 1099. He prevail'd on the Brothers and Sisters of the Hospital to take a regular Habit, which was a plain black Robe with a white Linen Cross of eight Points affix'd to it. He built a magnificent Temple in honour of St. JOHN BAPTIST. Pope PASCHAL II. confirm'd this Order, and all Endowments made, or to be made, in favour of the Hospital; and granted by a special Order, that the Hospitallers should have the sole Right of electing a Superior after the Death of GERHARD, who dying 1118, the Hospitallers , pursuant to this Bull, assembled and unanimously elected   | 19             | 1099       | 1118          |
| I. RAYMOND DUPUY who drew up a Body of Statutes for the Order. He engag'd the Fraternity to reassume their Arms only against the Infidels, who much oppress'd the Christians. ALPHONSO I. King of Aragon and Navarre , having no Hopes of Issue, declar'd the Hospitallers Heirs of Navarre and Aragon by his Will 1131, which he confirm'd a little before his Death. But both these Kingdoms electing Sovereigns of their own, RAYMOND was sent into Spain to demand the Execution of the said Will, but to no Purpose, save that some Lands and Castles were yielded to the Fraternity, with a Tenth of the Taxes of the Kingdom. This was ratified in Sept. 1141, when RAYMOND return'd to Palestine and obtain'd the Title of Grand-Master . After his Death   | 42             | 1118       | 1160          |

| IV. GILBERT D'ASALIT of Sailli being elected, approv'd of K. Amalric 's Design of invading Egypt ; and therefore by his Money levied Troops to aid the King. Their joint Forces invet'd Belbeis A. D. 1168, which Amalric by Agreement deliver'd up to the Grand-Master ; and then as King Amalric was marching his Forces to Grand Cairo , the Sultan not being in a Posture of War at that Time, got him diverted by the Offer of 200000 Ducats of Gold for the Ransom of his Son and Nephew 1169: but the Egyptians in the Time they requir'd to pay the Money, rais'd an Army of Confederate Troops that oblig'd Amalric to remove his Garrison from Belbeis and march back to Palestine . The Grand-Master having by this Expedition run the Society 200000 Ducats in Debt, and being unable to bear the Reproaches of the Fraternity he resign'd in a full Chapter 1169. Then he embark'd at Jaffa and landed in Provence , whence he went to Normandy to HENRY II. King of England , from whence shipping for England , his native Country, in an old Ship, he was founderd at Sea, and all the Passengers lost, except 8 Persons who escap'd in the Boat | 2              | 1167       | 1169          |

| VI. JOUBERT who was appointed Regent of Jerusalem during the King's Absence at Constantinople , where he sued for Succours against the Egyptians . He with Difficulty escap'd being taken Prisoner by the Army of Saladin A. D. 1175. RENAUD Lord of Margat granted the Hospitallers a Castle in the Confines of Judea which JOUBERT fortified; but Saladin not enduring this Bulwark sent one of his Generals to besiege it, which he took, and captivated JOUBERT who † of Hunger   | 9              | 1170       | 1179          |
| VII. ROGER DESMOULINS upon his Election and Installment exhorted the Regent and principal Nobility of the Kingdom vigorously to oppose Saladin ; but the Divisions of the Grandees and the Contentions between the two Military Orders of the Hospitallers and Templars contributed much to the Enlargement of Saladin 's Conquests; but by the Mediation of the Pope the two Grand-Masters sign'd a Peace. ROGER was slain in Battel against Saladin to the universal Lamentation of the Hospitallers , who knowing the Necessity they had of an able General elected  | 8              | 1179       | 1187          |

GARNIER DE NAPOLI de Syria Grand Prior of England and Turcopolier of the Order, which Title was by the Turcomans given to such who were born of a Greek Mother and Turcoman Father. He recall'd the dispers'd Knights and admitted several Novices into the Order 1187, and that same Year Saladin conquer'd the Christians in Palestine , expell'd the Knights and captivated the Grand-Master of the Templars , and slew GARNIER in the Action   |                | 1187       | 1187          |
| IX. ERMENGARD DAPS was forc'd to accept the Grand-Mastership , the Order being almost extinct by the last Wars, and the few that remain'd were unable to make Head against Saladin who pursued his Victory, and conquer'd all Palestine and Jerusalem itself, which animated the Western Christians to form a Croisade to the Holy-Land , where having taken Acre , made it the Residence of the Hospitallers 1191, and next Year the Grand-Master †   | 5              | 1187       | 1192          |

| XI. ALPHONSO DE PORTUGAL the natural Son of ALPHONSO I. Table 468. Some modern Authors call his Name PETER. He endeavour'd a Reformation of the Order, but carrying on his Designs in an arbitrary Way, answering the Remon- strances of the Knights with no other Arguments than his own Will and Pleasure, they revolted, and he was forc'd to abdicate and retire to Portugal , where he died. Upon his Abdication the Chapter elected  | 1              | 1194       | 1195          |

James de Vitri an Historian of those Times affirms, that the Hospitallers and Templars were then as powerful as sovereign Princes being possess'd of great Dominions both in Asia and Europe . | IX. HUGH DE REVEL was next chosen, altho' all his Predecessors after GERHARD had the Title of Grand-Master, yet the Pope never acknowledg'd it till now, when Pope CLEMENT IV. gave that Title to this HUGH, as may be seen in a Brief of that Pontiff dated 18 Nov. 1267. HUGH put the Order under new Regulations, and having made a Truce with Bendocadar took a Journey to Rome with the Grand-Master of the Templars to solicit his Holiness for new Succours. The Pope call'd a General Council, which was open'd 2 May 1274, at which a new Croisade was order'd to be preach'd up. He solicited the Pope and French King to aid him in the Conquest of Rhodes, and then return'd to Cyprus and began his Expedition, and soon made a Descent upon the Island, besieg'd and took the Town 15 August 1310, and reduc'd the adjacent Isles. From this Conquest, the Hospitallers obtain'd the Name of Knights of Rhodes. But FULK becoming idle and luxurious was summon'd to give an Account of his Administration before the Order, at the Instigation of Maurice de Bagnat the Head of these Malecontents, and FULK was then depos'd; but having appeal'd, and the Pope having cognosc'd the Affair, restor'd him to all his Dignities. ## The Religious Orders of KNIGHTHOOD.

- The Knights of,
- I. ST. SEPULCHRE in Jerusalem is by some said to be instituted when Philip King of France regain'd the Temple of Jerusalem from the Saracens A. D. 1099; but others say it was Instituted by Baldwin I. King of Jerusalem, who constituted the Regular Canons of St. Augustin Knights of the Holy Sepulchre: Their Grand-Master was the Patriarch of Jerusalem. They were to Guard the Sepulchre, oppose the Saracens and Infidels, protect Pilgrims, &c. Pope Innocent III. confirm'd their Order. Upon the Loss of the Holy Land they retir'd to Perugia in Italy. They were incorporated with the Hospitallers of Jerusalem then at Rhodes 1484, but tho' several Attempts have been made to restore this Order by the Pope, the King of Spain and Duke of Nevers; yet all prov'd in vain. ————— Instituted A. D. 1092 or 1099
  - II. HOSPITALLERS of St. John Baptist in Jerusalem now Knights of Malta. See the last Table.
  - III. TEMPLARS. This Order began in the Reign of Baldwin II. K. of Jerusalem between A. 1117. and 1120, when 9 Gentlemen came in Devotion to the Holy Land. Then they were call'd Brothers of the Militia of the Temple, or Knights Templars, from their dwelling near Solomon's Temple. Their first Undertaking was to guard the most dangerous Ways about Jerusalem from the Robberies of the Saracens, for which they had the Remission of their Sins; but tho' at first they were exceeding poor, yet in Time they grew so potent, that they with the HOSPITALLERS and Teutonicks long supported the Kingdom of Jerusalem. But at last, growing proud, they fell from the Patriarch and join'd the Pope, and at last 1307, all the Knights of this Order in France were in one Hour captivated by King Philip Pulcher, with the Consent of Pope Clement V. being charg'd with most infamous Crimes, and that same Year they were convicted in England and all their Possessions forfeited; only the Bishop of York commiserated those in his Diocese, putting them in Monastries under his Jurisdiction. After this A. D. 1309, the most of 'em were burn'd in France and Jaques de la Maule their last Grand-Master saw his Order dissolv'd by the Papal Authority 1312, and their Lands annex'd to the Hospitallers for their Service against the Turks. ————— 1117
  - IV. ST. LAZARUS. These were first a Fraternity of Religious Monks, afterwards Ecclesiastical Knights in imitation of the Knts of St. Sepulchre. It is said that this Order was founded A. D. 366, by St. Basile to take care of Leprous Persons. This Order, thro' the Incursions of the Barbarians, lay long extinguisht, till it was reviv'd, when the Latin Princes associated to recover the Holy Land, and a famous Hospital was erected at Jerusalem under the Title of St. Lazarus for the reception of Lepers. The Monks of this Order being good Soldiers as well as good Physicians were mightily esteem'd by Baldwin II. King of Jerusalem and some of his Successors for their Services against the Infidels. In process of Time this Order was suppress'd by Pope Innocent VIII. who united it to the Hospitallers at Rhodes 1490, but Pope Pius IV. restor'd it 1565, and Pope Gregory XIII. 1572, bestow'd the Grand-Mastership on Emanuel Philibert Duke of Savoy, and his Successors the Dukes of Savoy. ————— 366
  - V. TEUTONIC or PRUSSIAN Order. During the Holy War a rich German at Jerusalem pitying the Case of his Countrymen there, made his House their Receptacle, and, with the Consent of the Patriarch, erected a Chapel to the Blessed Virgin, whence they were called Marian Knights: They elected Henry Walpott their first Grand-Master, And A. D. 1192. Pope Celestine III. confirm'd their Order under the Title of Teutonic or Dutch Knights of the Hospital of St. Mary the Virgin. Their Statutes were compos'd from the Hospitallers and Templars, and one Article was, That none but Germans should be of this Order. They erected another Hospital at Acon, which being afterwards taken by Saladin, they remov'd with Hermannus their Grand-Master into Germany, and obtain'd Prussia 1229, from the Emperor Frederic II. and Pope Honorius III. And having by force conquer'd and converted that Nation to Christianity, they built the Residence of their Grand-Master 1340. But Albert Markgrave of Brandenburg, the last Grand-Master, solemnly renounc'd this Order to Sigismund I. King of Poland, who created him the first Duke of Prussia. Some of the Knights hating this Action, elected another Grand-Master, viz. Walter de Cronberg, who was succeeded by Wolfgang de Schutzbach 1543, and he by George de Wendenheim 1566; and he by Henry de Benzenhausen 1572, and he by Maximilian Archduke of Austria 1595, and he by Charles Archduke of Austria 1620, and he by John de Wersternach 1626, and he by John Gaspard de Stadion, and he by Leopold William Archduke of Austria, and he by John Gaspard de Ambringen 1664, and he by Lewis Antony Count Palatin of the Rhine 1685, and he by Francis Lewis Count Palatin of the Rhine 1694. ————— 1191
  - VI. MONTJOY so call'd from a Castle where this Order was instituted, built on a Mountain near Jerusalem. They follow'd the Rule of St. Basil, which Pope Alexander III. chang'd to that of St. Augustine A. D. 1180. Upon the Loss of the Holy Land they retir'd to Spain and fought against the Maurus. Their Order fail'd 1221, being then incorporated with the Order of Calatrava.
  - VII. St. John of Acon or Atre. When this Order was instituted is uncertain. When Acon was taken they remov'd to Spain; but in time they dwindled away to the Hospitallers.
  - VIII. St. Thomas. Some say this Order was in nothing distinct from the former, only that their Badge was a Saltire Gules: but others say this Order was instituted by Richard I. King of England after the taking of Acon, and that St. Thomas Becket was their Patron: However that may be, these Knights, after the Christians were expell'd the Holy Land, were join'd to the HOSPITALLERS.
  - IX. St. Blaise, call'd also Knights of Santa Maria, were Officers and Servants to the Kings of Armenia, being at their Height when these Kings kept their Court at Acon.
  - X. The MARTYRS in Palestine, so call'd from an Hospital there dedicated to St. Cosmus and St. Damianus, 2 Martyrs. They were confirm'd by Pope John XXII. When they retir'd to Europe they followed St. Augustine's Rule.
  - XI. St. Catharin at Mount Sinai was instituted under the Patronage of St. Catharin to guard her Sepulchre, secure Travellers, defend the Grecian Pilgrims, &c. When the Turks conquer'd these Countries, these Knights were expell'd, and their Order almost abolisht, yet some shadow of them still remains. ————— 1063
  - XII. St. Anthony in Ethiopia. This Saint † 357, and many of his Disciples near Ethiopia follow'd his Example and manner of Life, and their Successors liv'd in great Austerity in the Desert, call'd therefore Anchorites till Anno 370, when 'tis said John Emperor of Ethiopia erected them into a religious Order of Knighthood under the Title and Protection of St. Anthony. They receiv'd St. Basil's Rule, and cohabit-ed in Monastries. Their chief Seat is in the Isle of Meroe, but in other parts of Ethiopia they have a great Number of Convents and no less than 2000000 of annual Revenue. Their Vow is to observe conjugal Chastity, to die in the defence of Christianity, &c. They are of 2 Sorts, the one employ'd in the Wars; the other, being old, retire to the Abbey, where they first took the Habit. In Italy, France and Spain there are a sort of Monks that have the Title of Knights of St. Anthony, and their chief Seat is at Vienne in Dauphin, the Monastery of which was erected into an Abbey in honour of St. Anthony 1297, whose Body was translated thither from Constantinople, and all other Places built in honour of his Name were made subject to him 1523, Morus says this Order began in France 1121, from Gaston a Nobleman of Vienne: But others say that Gaston and Orrin instituted it earlier.
  - XIII. St. George in Venice, by some said to be founded by Constantin the Great and therefore call'd Constantinian Angell's Knights: But it is more probable that they were founded by one of the Royal Commens in the 12th Century, and are call'd Constantinian Angell's from the Cross that appear'd to Constantin the Great in time of the Battel against Maxentius. They follow the Rule of St. Basil, and are oblig'd to Matrimonial Chastity. There are three Classes of them, the first are those who wear a Collar form'd of Labarum, whereat hangs the Cross and St. George; the second wear the Cross and Labarum; the third are Servants who bear the Cross only, without the Labarum. ————— 1200
  - XIV. St. James in Gallicia or Sanctiago. This is the principal Order in Spain, and had its Name from Don Ramiro King of Leon about A. D. 826, by the Assistance of St. James (said to appear on a White Horse bearing a Banner with a Red Cross) gain'd a great Victory over the Maurus. Some place this Institution 1160, others 1175, whereas it was only then confirm'd by Pope Alexander III. for there was a Fraternity of Knights in Spain under a Grand-Master A. D. 1030. And though at first this was a virtuous Order and fought valiantly against the Maurus; yet they became scandalously perverted till the said Pope Alexander received them into the Protection of the Papal See, and gave them the Rule of St. Augustin and very large Privileges. When the Maurus were expell'd Spain, and the principal Branch of this Order expir'd by Contentions for the Grand-Mastership, the Crown of Castile obtain'd it under the Title of Administrator which was granted to King Ferdinand Catholicus, and his Grandson Charles V. annex'd it, with all its Privileges, to the Crown of Castile and Leon; since which the Kings of Spain have enjoy'd the Administration of this Order.
  - XV. St. Saviour in Aragon instituted by Don Alphonso Emperor of Spain, King of Navarre, Aragon, &c. who pitch'd upon choice Men of the Spanish and French Nobility that had assisted in his Wars, and form'd them into a Society, the better to enable them to expel the Maurus from Aragon. When the Maurus were expell'd Spain, their rich Commendaries were united to that Crown. ————— 1118
  - XVI. Avis in Portugal. When Alphonso I. K. of Portugal took the City Lisbon and Evora from the Maurus 1147, he sent thither several Heros for its Defence, they assum'd the Title of St. Mary d'Ebora, putting themselves under the Protection of the Blessed Virgin. Soon after they were call'd d'Avis from a Castle on the Frontiers of Portugal, conquer'd from the Maurus, whither they transplanted themselves. They were confirm'd by the Pope 1204, under the Rule of St. Benedict. They submitted to the Order of Calatrava 1213, But in the Time of John the 7th Grand-Master of Avis and King of Portugal, they revolted from Calatrava and never again submitted to that Order, and when Portugal fell into the Hands of Philip II. King of Spain, the Order of Avis was still govern'd by the Statutes of Portugal. ————— 1147
  - XVII. St. Michael's Wing in Portugal founded by the said King Alphonso 1165, or 1171, after his obtaining a notable Victory over the Maurus and Albaza King of Seville; in which Battel, MICHAEL, the Arch-Angel is said to appear on the right Side of Alphonso and fight against them. This Order is now out of use. ————— 1165
  - XVIII. St. Geron was instituted by the Emperor Frederic Barbarossa, others say by the Emperor Frederic II. and consisted only of the German Nation.
  - XIX. St. Julian de Pereyro or Alcantara. They were call'd de Pereyro from St. Julian de Pereyro a Town in Leon, where they had a Monastery built for them by Ferdinand II. King of Leon, who in his Diploma of their Privileges, dated 1176, call'd himself Protector of their Society. In the Approbation Bull of Pope Alexander III. their chief is call'd Prior, but in that of Pope Lucius III. he is call'd Master. When they chang'd their Habitation they alter'd their Appellation. Pope Adrian VI. annex'd the Mastership to the Crown of Castile for ever. ————— 1170

Then Raimond Count of Barcelona, by the Persuasion of Uelasquez, accepted the Offer, and had the Donation 1158, and then fortifying it by Help of his Associates, gave Rise to this Order, call'd at first Militia de Calatrava. - XXVI. St. MARY DE MERCED in Aragon. JAMES I. of Aragon suffering much Hardship while the Prisoner of Simon C. of Montfort in France, and commiserating the Christians in Slavery to the Maurus, vow'd to the VIRGIN the Redemption of the Christian Slaves, and accordingly by the Council of Raimond de Penafort his Confessor and Pedro Melastro a noble Chevalier, he founded in Barcelona this Order of La Nueva Merced, so nam'd by the VIRGIN, who, say they, appear'd to them the very Hour of the Institution in August 1218. It was call'd Ordo Beatae Eulalie 1358, from St. Eulalia buried at Barcelona. Disputes arising among themselves they were incorporated with the Knights of Montesa, and ever since have been only Priests, yet they still collect large Sums, send out their Agents yearly, chiefly to Algiers and Fez, where they follow the End of their Institution in redeeming Christian Slaves 1218
- XXVII. The ROSARY in Toledo instituted by Roderic Bishop of Toledo for extirpating the Maurus. The Time of their Institution is uncertain
- XXVIII. St. MARY THE GLORIOUS in Italy instituted by Bartholomeo de Vincenza a Dominican, afterwards Bishop of that City. The Design of the Order was to procure Peace to Italy, then much disquieted by Civil Wars, and was therefore confirm'd by Pope URBAN IV. 1262. They profess Obedience and conjugal Chastity, and are commonly call'd Cavalieri de Medona, and because they dwell in their own Houses, are call'd Fratres Gaudentes or Hilares. They reside at Bolonia, Modena and other Places of Italy 1233
- XXIX. St. JAMES in Portugal instituted by King Dionysius in honour of that Saint, under whose Protection he was victorious in several Battels against the Maurus, and at length quieted his Kingdom by the Aid of these Knights, who therefore obtain'd large Privileges from their Institutor. Their Statutes are much the same with those of St. James of Gallicia, and therefore by some blended together 1310
- XXX. OUR LADY and St. GEORGE of Montesa succeeded in the Lands and Possessions of the Templars in Valentia, as the Hospitallers did those of the Templars in France, Italy and England; for James II. King of Aragon and Valentia refusing to imitate other Princes in giving the Revenues of the Templars in their Dominions to the Hospitallers, gave them to the Convent of Montesa, where the Order of Calatrava had been formerly placed, and instituted this Order in the City of Valentia, yet subject to them of Calatrava, and elected the Town of Montesa to give the Knights both Name and Habitation, whom he oblig'd to defend his Kingdom against the Maurus 1317
- XXXI. CHRIST in Portugal also sprung from the Ruin of the Templars, whose confiscated Estates were confer'd on this Order at their Institution subjected to the Pope, and were call'd the Military Order of our Lord Jesus Christ, who, they say, miraculously appear'd to King Dionysius when he went out to fight against the Maurus
- XXXII. THE PASSION OF JESUS CHRIST was institut'd by Charles King of France (tho' it made no Progress) and Richard II. King of England with a large Design exceeding all other Religious Orders, except the Hospitallers and Templars. They were to renew the Memory of our Saviour's Passion, reconquer the Holy-Land and subvert the Infidels. Tho' they were dedicated to our SAVIOUR, yet the Blessed Virgin was esteem'd their principal Mediatress. Their Government was by 5 Councils, viz. 1. The Quotidian Council consisting of 24. 2. The Particular Council consisting of 40. 3. The Grand Council consisting of 80. 4. The General Chapter, and 5. The Universal Chapter consisting of 1000 Knights. In every City and Castle of theirs one was to administer Justice call'd a Potestate. The Number of these Knights was 1000 or 1100
- XXXIII. The BRICIAN Knights in Sweden was founded by a famous Queen of that Kingdom, reputed to be St. BRIDGET, to oppose Heresy and secure the Confines of the Kingdom 1366
- XXXIV. St. MAURICE in Savoy began on the Retreat of Amadeus VIII. Duke of Savoy into the Desert of Ripaille near the Lake of Geneva, who confer'd it on 10 of his Courtiers who retir'd with him. This Order continued not long after his Death, but D. EMANUEL PHILIBERT restor'd it A. D. 1572, and the Dukes of Savoy are their Grand-Masters 1430
- XXXV. The HOLY GHOST was instituted by Pope PAUL II. under the Title of Brethren of the Hospital of the Holy Ghost 1468
- XXXVI. St. GEORGE of Austria and Carinthia instituted by the Emperor Friedric III. or rather by the Emperor Rudolph of Habsburg, chiefly to guard the Frontiers of Germany, Hungary, Austria, Stiria and Corinthia, and to suppress the Intolency of the Turks, since which these Knights have so gallantly behav'd themselves that their Grand-Master was made a Prince. There are also Cavaleros de San Jorge in Alemania, instituted by the Emperor Maximilian I. A. D. 1494, and confirm'd by Pope ALEXANDER VI. and are under the same Profession and Protection as the other 1470
- XXXVII. St. GEORGE at Rome instituted by Pope ALEXANDER VI. 1496, some say by Pope PAUL III. at whose Death it was extinct. They were to secure the Adriatick Sea from Pirates, they dwelt at Ravenna 1498
- XXXVIII. St. PETER at Rome instituted by Pope LEO X. to fight against the Turks and defend the Sea Coasts. Their Number was 400 1520
- XXXIX. St. PAUL at Rome instituted by Pope PAUL III. who in his Life-time made 200 of them 1540
- XL. PIER at Rome instituted by Pope PIUS IV. He prefer'd them to the Knights of the Empire and Malta, because they were his Courtiers, and carried his Chair on their Shoulders when he went Abroad. They were at first 375, but they were afterwards 535 1560
- XLI. St. STEPHEN at Florence founded in Imitation of the Knights of Malta by Cosmo II. de Medici Duke of Florence, in honour of St. STEPHAN Pope and Martyr, the Patron of the City of Florence, and in Memory of the Battel fought 6 August (St. STEPHAN's Day) at Marston, where he founded his Grandeur on the Ruins of the Assertors of Liberty. They were confirm'd by Pope PIUS IV. and obtain'd many Privileges by the succeeding Popes. Ferdinand Son of Cosmo reform'd their Laws and approv'd their Order 1590 1561
- XLII. St. MAURICE and St. LAZARUS in Savoy. They were at first separate Orders, but that of St. MAURICE became extinct, and at last they were united together. See Numb. 4. and Numb. 34. of this Table 1572
- XLIII. Loretto instituted by Pope SIXTUS V. who erected the Church of our Lady at Loretto into a Cathedral and Bishop's See 1587
- XLIV. The BLESSED VIRGIN MARY OF MOUNT CARMEL was instituted by Henry IV. King of France from among some of the Knights of St. LAZARUS in France, who would not be subject to the Duke of Savoy. Their Office was to attend the King in every warlike Expedition, and fight against the Enemies of the Romish See 1608
- XLV. The Most GLORIOUS VIRGIN MARY at Rome was instituted by PEDRO, JOHN BAPTISTA and BERNARDO surnamed Petrignaneos Brethren of Spelta in Italy, and confirm'd by Pope PAUL V. who gave them the Palace of St. John Lateran for their Convent. Their Institution was for the Exaltation of the Roman Church and to suppress the Turks from roving in the Mediterranean. There are three sorts of them. 1. Knights Gentlemen, Licks. 2. Knights Gentlemen, Priests and benific'd. 3. Knights Chaplains, or Servants at Arms 1618
- XLVI. The ANNUNCIATOR, or St. MICHAEL in Munna, or the Christian Militia in Moravia, was instituted by Charles Wonsiga Duke of Munna in Conjunction with his Brother Adolph Count of Altham and John Baptista Petrignan Sforza. These three to make this Order the more illustrious, partition'd the World among them. Charles took the North and West, Adolph the East, and John Baptista the South. D. Charles began his Institution under the Rule of St. Francis in Olmutz, the Metropolis of Moravia; but History is silent concerning the Progress of the other two. It was confirm'd by Pope PAUL VIII. 1624. Its Design was to establish Peace and Concord among Christian Princes 1618

P. S. In the West Indies MONTIZUMA King of Mexico much honour'd Knighthood, where there were the Knights of the Order of the Golden Fleece. In the Province of Canada near New Mexico created their Knights by giving a Bow. In the Dominions of the Incas of Peru are Knights called Knights of the Order of the Sun. There are Knights call'd MEMORAS. I shall conclude this Table with an Account of.

The CORDON an Ornament peculiar to the Fair Sex, which by some is reckon'd equivalent to the Order of Knighthood. It was instituted by ARTHUR Duke of Burgundy by Charles VIII. King of France, who instead of the Military Belt or Collar, bestow'd a Cordon or Lace on several Ladies, admonishing them to be Devoutly.

THE Genealogical TABLES OF THE BRITANNICK Isles.

THE Names of Albion, Britannia and Jerne, ascribed to these Islands of Britain and Ireland, are found in Greek Authors about the Time of Alexander the Great, and particularly in Polybius who flourished before Christ about 220 Years, which Names were afterwards borrowed by the Romans. The first Inhabitants must needs come from the adjacent Continent, (as Islands were generally peopled) and the Posterity of JAPHET, who soon after the Dispersion of the Nations from Shinar, which began A. M. 1810, before the Christian Era 2194, travell'd Northward into Scythia and North-West into Europe, soon reached even the West Sea-Coasts of Germany, France and Spain, from whence, at various Times, these Islands were peopled; and we find that also the Phœnicians, Carthaginians and Grecians, by their Navigation, helped to replenish the Sea-Coasts of Britain, as of other Parts. So that these Islands were peopled not only by these Navigators, but especially by the many diverse Nations that had settled on the Western Coast of Europe from the Straits of Denmark to the Straits of Gibraltar: But having no Writings, no Inscriptions, no History of the first Inhabitants, we are left to gather up some Hints of Knowledge from the Remains of the old Cimbri or Coimbri, and of the Celts or Gauls in the antique Languages of these Islands, and from Scrapes of the Exotic Poets and Historians; for to be sure JULIUS CÆSAR could give us no better Accounts than he had in his Commentaries; nay Tacitus that wrote about 140 Years after CÆSAR, knew no more than he; for in his Life of AGRICOLA, he says, "Moreover what Mortals first inhabited Britain, Natives, or Foreigners, is little known, as usual among barbarous Nations; their Complexions and Constitutions of Body are divers, and thence may some Conjectures be taken: for the Golden Locks of the Inhabitants of Caledonia and their large Limbs and Joints declare their German Original; the colour'd Countenances of the Silures, with their Hair generally curled, besides their Situation over against Spain, make us believe that the old Iberi or Spaniards crossed the Sea and possessed those Parts. Those nearest to the Gauls are also like them, either by the Continuance of their Strength, or Influence of their Origin; or that in Countries butting together, the same Position of Heaven affords the same Complexion of Body: And it is generally believed that the Gauls possessed the Country of Britain next to them. For here you'll find the sacred Rituals of the Gauls preserved by the Power of Superstition, and the Gaulick Language not much different, the same Boldness in rushing upon or meeting Dangers, and when Dangers come, the same Fear in declining them, save that the Britains are more fierce, being less mollify'd by long Peace." So that before CÆSAR's first Descent from Gaul upon Britain at Dover Cliff the Year before the Christian Era 54, we know nothing of their Kings and Genealogies, the Story of Brutus and his Successors being a ridiculous Fable, made by Jeffrey of Monmouth, and justly renounced by all the wise Historians of England: Of those fabulous Kings LUD is the last, who repaired London and is said to have died before the said Era 58 Years, whose Brother Cassibelan, or Cassivellaunus when Cæsar first came into Britain, was chosen by the Britons to be their Head or General against the Romans, as Cæsar testifies in his Commentaries; for we find from the Roman Histories that contain the earliest Accounts of Britain, particularly from Cæsar's Commentaries and Cornelius Tacitus that the Island was under many petty Kings over their several Tribes or Clans, such as this Cassibelan over the People by the Romans call'd Trinovantes; so Cingetorix and Carvilia, Taximagulus and Segonax, four Rulers in Kent; Comius also a famous Ruler of the Atrebatij, whom Cæsar employed to tease and persuade the Britons into a Subjection to Rome; likewise Caractacus the warlike King of the Silures, and Galgacus the brave and eloquent King of the Caledonians: Nay Women also, as Cartimandua Queen of the Brigantes and Boadicea the famous Queen of the Ikenians; and the ancient Britons being partition'd into many Clanships, it is generally thought that each Clan had its proper Prince; nay 'tis justly said that their Disunion or Partition was the chief Means of their being conquer'd by the Romans, who could never have matched them united under the Command of one Prince. I think fit to place here John Speed's Table of the ancient Britons and the Places of their Abode according to Ptolemy, who are often mentioned in the Roman Writers.

Nay, we may justly suppose They had many more Kings, or Chiefs of Clans than this Number of Countries, according to the Hints of Julius Cæsar, Cornelius Tacitus, Pomponius Mela and other Authors. Thus the Britannic Nations, like others, have had

1. A Fabulous Time, viz. from the general Dispersion at Shinar to the first Descent of JULIUS CÆSAR upon Kent.
2. A Dark Time from Julius Cæsar, during the Roman Empire and the Kingdom of the Wits, to the Descent of HENGIST Prince of the Saxons upon Kent.
3. A Little Dark Time during the Saxon Heptarchy and the Kings of the Wits and Scots.
4. A Lighter Time from the End of the Saxon Heptarchy to the Monarchy uniting in the West-Saxon King EGBERT when ACHAUS was King of the Scots, whose Grandson KENNETH II. destroy'd the Kingdom of the Wits and was the first King of All Scotland, during which the Wanes and Welsh had also their distinct Sovereign Dominions in the Island.
5. An Illustrious Time from the Destruction of the Saxon and Danish Monarchies by the Norman Conquest of England, when MALCOLM CANMORE was King of Scotland, to this Year of the Christian Era 1731.

The Chronology of the ROMAN Lieutenants in BRITAIN.

- CAIUS JULIUS CÆSAR being desirous to enlarge his Conquests and observing that the Gauls had been much supply'd against him by the Britons, intended to invade that Island. But the Summer being at an end, and deeming the Voyage dangerous, he sent Caius Volusenus as a Spy into Britain, and march'd himself to those Parts in Gaul that lay opposite to the Island. The Britons being certified of CÆSAR's Design sent Embassadors to offer their Submission, which he accepted of, and having settled his Affairs in Gaul, made his first Expedition into Britain with 25000 Foot and 4500 Horse Anse Chr. 54
- The Place of his landing was at Deal in Kent, where he felt the Valour of these Britons. However he got the upper Hand, which made the Britons send a second Embassy for Peace, promising Subjection: And observing the Loss of 18 of CÆSAR's Ships, they immediately revolted, but were again reduc'd and forc'd a third Time to sue for Peace, which CÆSAR granted and order'd the Hostages to follow him into Gaul. But perceiving that Hostages were sent only from two of their Cities, He made his second Invasion in the same Place 53
- The Britons therefore committed the whole Management of their Affairs to Cassibellane the Brother of King LUD, and he so bravely manag'd his Charge, that in the first Encounter, M. Laberius a Military Tribune was slain; but the Britons being worsted in the next Engagement, each departed to their Provinces, and CÆSAR made Cassibellane and the other Kings in Kent to sue for Peace, impos'd a Tribute of 3000 l. per Annum upon the Britons and order'd Hostages to be forthwith deliver'd, and then set sail for Gaul in September that same Year, having made no Settlement on the Island. He was slain in the Senate House 44
- OCTAVIAN AUGUSTUS succeeding JULIUS, Britain enjoy'd a long Peace, Kimbelin one of their Kings being the Emperor's Favourite; but tho' OCTAVIAN thrice intended an Expedition hither, yet by the Promises and Presents of the Britons and the Revolt of the Biscians, he was diverted. He † A.D. 14
- TIBERIUS NERO succeeded AUGUSTUS, but kept not so much as a Garrison in Britain. He † 37
- CAIUS CALIGULA succeeded TIBERIUS, and intended to invade Britain, but came no farther than Holland, where he suddenly pitch'd his Tents and staid. He † 41
- CLAUDIUS DRUSUS succeeded, and perceiving that the Tribute of the Britains had been long neglected, sent his Lieutenant AULUS PLAUTIUS with an Army to Britain 42
- Where landing he captivated Catacratus their Captain, the Son of Cunobelin; which made the Boduni, the Inhabitants of Oxford and Gloucestershire to submit to PLAUTIUS, who by the Aid of Vespasian, afterwards Emperor, pursued his Victory until Logodumnus Brother of Catacratus was slain. The Britons then growing desperate oblig'd PLAUTIUS to send to the Emperor for more Aid. 43
- CLAUDIUS then invaded Britain in Person, disarm'd the Britons without confiscating the Estates of the Nobility, which so gain'd the Love of the People that they honour'd him like a God. Then he return'd in Triumph to Rome leaving
- I. AULUS PLAUTIUS his first Lieutenant, who was recall'd and succeeded by
- II. P. OSTORIUS SCAPULA who conquer'd the Britons, captivated Caradac King of the Silures or South Wales, who was betray'd by Catimandua Queen of the Brigantes 48
- But OSTORIUS's Fortune began to decline, and the Silures taking Heart gave the Romans a great Rout, which so griev'd OSTORIUS that he † 55
- III. AULUS DIDIUS was then sent Lieutenant to Britain on the Death of OSTORIUS and kept the Silures a little in Awe.
- IV. VERANNIUS his Successor † the first Year of his Government, and was succeeded by
- V. PAULUS SUETONIUS who first conquer'd the Isle of Anglesey, and during his Abode there, Prasutagus King of the Iceni at his Death made NERO his Heir, thinking thereby to strengthen his Kingdom; but the Roman Centurions scourg'd his Wife Queen BOADICEA, deflower'd his Daughters and ruin'd his Subjects, which Barbarity caus'd a general Revolt of the Britons, who under the Conduct of this Queen, in a few Days slew 70000 Romans in several Places 61
- SUETONIUS being inform'd of this Disaster hasten'd from Anglesey, and choosing an advantageous Post discomfited and slew 80000 Britons, at which BOADICEA poison'd herself 62
- SUETONIUS after this growing so great was oblig'd to give up the Government to
- VI. PETRONIUS TURPILIANUS who had lately resign'd the Consulship. He also gave up this Charge to
- VII. TREBELLIVS MAXIMUS, who, when the Civil Wars broke out between the Emperors OTTO and VITELLIUS, join'd VITELLIUS, who coming to the Empire 70
- VIII. VECTIVS BOLANUS was sent to Britain. He was a Man of no great Parts in War, but more temperate than his Predecessor. But when VESPASIAN was made Emperor 70
- IX. PETILIUS CEREALIS was sent into Britain and there he worsted the Brigantes and reduc'd their Country to the Subjection of the Roman Yoke. He was succeeded by 77
- X. JULIUS AGRICOLA who had been Quæstor, Tribune, Prætor and Lieutenant in Aquitain, and his Lieutenantship in Britain was render'd the more illustrious by Julius Frontinus conquering the Silures. The first Action of AGRICOLA was his subduing the Ordovices, who had cut off some of the Roman Garrisons that were adjacent to them. Next he subdued the Island Mona or Man, and mightily ingratiated himself with the People by his Hospitality, and made the Britons imitate the Romans in Eloquence and Buildings and greatly civiliz'd them. In the 3d Year of his Government he enlarg'd his Dominions as far as the Frith of Taus or Tweed, 81
- He defeated Calgacus a Caledonian Prince, at the Mount Grampius in Perthshire, under whom the Britons made the last Effort to recover their Liberty, and fortify'd the Barriers between the Clyde and Forth to keep out the Caledonians or Picts. From that Time Britain was generally known to be an Island, and was esteem'd a Roman Province 84
- XI. SALUSTIUS LUCULLUS, who was soon put to Death by DOMITIAN for making Spears and calling them Lucullians 92
- After the Death of the Emperor DOMITIAN several Records were lost, and therefore during the Reigns of NERO and TRAJAN we cannot tell what Roman Governors were in this Isle, only the English Historians from Geoffrey of Monmouth bring a Succession of British Kings, of whom in the next Table.
- XII. CÆLIUS TREBELLIVS the last Lieutenant on Record, flourish'd in the time of the Emperor ADRIAN; but being unable to govern his Soldiers, who became divided among themselves, the more Northern Britons began to raise some Commotions. To suppress which
- XIII. JULIUS SEVERUS was sent; but he was recall'd into Syria before he could settle the Affairs of Britain. These Stirs still continuing the Emperor
- ADRIAN therefore came in Person to Britain, and having recover'd such Holds as had been taken from the Romans, he built a Wall 80 Miles in length between Newcastle on the Tyne and Carlisle on the Ebor, and so thought fit to abandon all the inland Countries from Northumberland to Caledonia, and fix'd the Bounds of his Province 80 Miles farther South than Agricola had plac'd them. After this the Southern Britons patiently submitted, and ADRIAN went triumphantly to Rome, committing the Britannick Affairs to his Lieutenant 121
- XIV. LICINIUS PRISCUS, Pro-Prætor in Britain in the Reign of ANTONINUS PIUS, in the beginning of whose Reign the Northern Britons began to rebel, against whom
- XV. LOLLIVS URNICUS Lieutenant under the said ANTONINUS bended his Force, and having after some Skirmishes reduc'd them, he built a Wall in the same Place where AGRICOLA had first plac'd his Barrier, fortified, doubtless, with Castles or Stone Work 158
- He next quell'd the Insurrections of the Brigantes, and for his Services in Britain he obtain'd the Surname of Britannicus. After LOLLIVS the Emperor MARCUS AURELIUS sent
- XVI. CALPURNIVS AGRICOLA into Britain, whose very Surname kept the Britons from making any Alterations, they remembering the Conquests of JULIUS AGRICOLA.

Continuation.

- In the Time of the Emperor Commodus the Meats and Caledonians brake through the Wall, kill'd the Roman General, slew many of the Soldiers and ravag'd the Country wherever they went, which the Emperor perceiving sent
- XVII. ULPIUS MARCELLUS, who with great Difficulty forc'd them back beyond the Wall. He reviv'd the ancient Discipline of the Army; but his Justice and Virtue procur'd him the Envy of the Emperor, who fearing he should grow too high sent him his Discharge, whereupon the Army fell into a Mutiny, refusing to acknowledge Commodus for their Sovereign. Then
- XVIII. HELVIVS PERTINAX was sent, and at first us'd the Soldiers so roughly that they again mutiny'd, and he venturing his Person too far was knock'd down and left for dead; but afterwards proceeding with more Prudence, he compos'd these Commotions, and severely punish'd the principal Offenders; but knowing he was hated by all, and fearing his own Life, he therefore sued the Emperor for his Discharge, and was succeeded by
- XIX. CLODIVS ALBINUS, who for his high Birth and other Qualifications was honour'd with the Title of CESAR by the Emperor COMMODUS, who understanding that Clodius affected the Senators more than the Emperor, he in all Haste sent
- XX. JULIVS SEVERUS to take the Charge of the Army, and Albinus retir'd from all publick Affairs until the Death of Commodus, when Albinus was restor'd, and after the Murder of the Emperor PERTINAX, caus'd to be stamp'd his own Statue and Image on the Coin, and endeavour'd to make himself Emperor, but was with the Flower of Britain slain in the Battel of Lions against the Emperor SEP. SEVERUS
- XXI. HERACLIVS was after this sent to keep the South Britains in quiet. Of him little is on Record.
- XXII. VIRIVS LUPUS was sent to the North Parts, where he had two sorts of Persons to deal with, viz. the Meats and Caledonians, a fierce and valiant People, and finding himself unable to suppress them, nay being forc'd to buy his Peace with Money, he was oblig'd to entreat the Emperor SEVERUS to come in Person, which accordingly he did. And having subdued the Meats and over-run the Caledonians, he forc'd them to a Peace. Then he built a Wall in Northumberland from Sea to Sea, in order to settle the Barriers of the Roman Province; which was only the old Wall that ADRIAN rebuilt and fortified. See Innes's Antiquities of Scotland from Page 13 to 21. But SEVERUS had scarce return'd to York, when first the Caledonians, and then the Meats, shook off the Yoke, and the Emperor soon after there. Ziphilin from Dio gives ground to think that in the Time of SEVERUS there were two Provinces in Britain, the Superior and the Inferior
- The Emperor CARACALLA left the Meats as well as the Caledonians at Liberty and return'd to Rome, and from that Time the Caledonians possess'd a part of the Meats Lands, or rather being united to the Meats, shar'd in their Possessions to the South of the Firth till THEODOSIVS reduc'd that Country, as below; during which Time we cannot enumerate the Roman Governors in Britain, but must therefore be content with some Scrapes of History relative to the Romans there. In the Reign of the Emperor ANTONY GORDIANUS who began A. D. 238.
- NONIVS PHILIPPVS* was Lieutenant General of Britain, as appears from an Altar Stone found in Cumberland at a Place call'd then Castra Exploratorum [since old Carlisle] with an Inscription for the Health of the Emperor, the Empress and all his Family, set up by Aemilius Crispinus who was Captain of Horse under this NONIVS
- The Birth of CONSTANTIN the Great, Son of CONSTANTIUS and HELENA Daughter of Coilus a Britannic Prince was the next remarkable Thing on Record in the Affairs of Britain. After which we are in the Dark till the Time of the Emperor
- PROBUS*, when the Britannick Governor (thought to be CORN. LELIVS) rais'd some Disturbances. But Mitronius the Favourite of PROBUS being allow'd by the Emperor to go into Britain, was courteously receiv'd by Laelianus, whom he ungratefully slew in the Night Time: yet thereby he appeas'd the Troubles in the British Province, and was more the Favourite of the Emp. who is said to have sent certain Vandals and Burgundians to inhabit Britain about this Time. And the Britons themselves were allow'd to plant Vines and make Wine at Pleasure.

In the Reign of DIOCLESIVS

- CARAUSIVS* a Menapian of low Parentage being appointed Admiral by the Romans to guard the British Seas from the Saxon Pyrates, greatly enrich'd himself by compounding with them. Upon this MAXIMIVS the Collegue of DOMITIVS fearing his Greatness sent secretly to slay him. CARAUSIVS then seeing his Life at Stake, was perswaded that Death was but Death, as well to Prince as Subject, and therefore by the Aid of the Picts, the constant Enemies of the Romans, he assum'd the Purple and proclaim'd himself Emperor. MAXIMIVS then march'd to the Britannic Ocean with a great Army, but understanding the Power of his Enemy, and being unprovided for the Sea-Service, sent CARAUSIVS Offers of Peace, and return'd against the Batavians. CARAUSIVS then rul'd the Province with unfaul'd Reputation, repair'd the Wall between the Clyde and Forth near the River Caron, and fortified the same with 7 Castles. But his noble Government was brought to a Period, for he was murder'd by the Treason of his familiar Friend, viz.
- ALECTVS*, who put upon himself the Royal Purple and assum'd the Title of Emperor. Upon this CONSTANTIUS CHLORVS determin'd the Recovery of Britain, where he landed his Army and fir'd his Ships that there might be no Way of Escape. ALECTVS, who had waited to intercept his landing also forlook the Sea, and meeting unawares with Astlepiodorus Duke of Cornwall and Great Seneschal of the Prætorium, he fought at Random, and was among others slain, some say 295, but others
- Thus Britain was again reduc'd to its Obedience to the Romans, and the Emperor
- CONSTANTINE* the Great, who was the first Christian Emp. as Lucius was the first Christian King, partition'd Britain into 3 Provinces, viz.
1. The Inland Parts of Britain rul'd by the Earl-Lieutenant of Britain, who had with him 7 Companies of Foot Men, and 9 Coronets and Troops of Horse.
  2. The Maritime Parts defended by AMIVS the Earl-Lieutenant of the Saxon Coasts, who had with him 7 Companies of Foot-Men, two Guidons of Horsemen, the 2d Legion, and one Cohort.
  3. The 38 Garrison Forts defended by the Duke or General of Britain, having with him 14000 Foot and 900 Horse. This Partition was made from Rufus Festus who wrote under the Emp. Valentinian I. we find that CONSTANTIN the Great partition'd Britain into four Provinces, 1. Britannia prima. 2. Britannia secunda. 3. Flavia Caesariensis. 4. Maxima Caesariensis. After which 3 British Bishops were deputed to go to the Council of Arles in France
- Upon the Death of CONSTANTIN the Great the Empire devolv'd on his 3 Sons CONSTANTIN, CONSTANTIUS and CONSTANS
- CONSTANTIN* was slain at Aquileja Anno 340, and then CONSTANS join'd his Provinces to his own, and with his Brother CONSTANTIUS came into Britain in the Winter Time, as appears by the Words of Julius Firmius. And was soon after slain by Magnentius, one of his Captains, as he was hunting
- This MAONENTIVS then inveild himself with the Imperial Dignity over the revolted Provinces of France, Spain and Britain, and named his Brother Decentius Cæsar; but finding himself unable to support his own Grandeur, murder'd himself at Lyons, as his Brother did with a Halberd at the same Place upon the News
- GRACIVS* an Hungarian at this Time was General of the Romans in Britain, but giving Entertainment to MAONENTIVS was confiscated of all his Goods by the Emperor CONSTANTIUS, to whom the Britons submitted themselves. Tho'
- MARTIN* was made Deputy, yet the Emp. CONSTANTIUS sent Paulus a Spaniard into Britain to apprehend them that had aided MAONENTIVS, who exercising such Cruelty, MARTIN reprov'd him. Upon this Paulus endeavour'd to bring MARTIN before the Council, who was thereby so incens'd, that he attempting to stab Paulus he was wounded himself with his Dagger, but the Wound not being mortal he stabb'd the Dagger into his own Side and presently died. After this the Scots and Picts invaded the Marches of the Britons, and much disturb'd their Peace; whereupon
- LUPICIVS* Colonel of the Infantry and Master of the Armory was sent as Deputy to Britain, but what was his Success is not recorded. However these Nations so much harra's'd the Roman Province in the Days of VALENTINIAN the Emperor that he sent
- THEODOSIVS* against them. He coming upon them suddenly put them to flight, and recover'd the debateable Lands between the two Walls, erected them into a new Roman Province, which he call'd Valentiniana, and sent this new Province for ever to the Empire again fortified the Frontiers and plac'd Garrisons to defend them against the Scots and Picts, who then return'd to the Imperial Court. After this
- MAXIMVS*, a Spaniard by Birth, descended lineally from CONSTANTIN the Great, and General of the Romans in Britain and gain'd the Affections of the Britons to join him, and acquitted himself so well, that the Emperor order'd him to assume the Purple, MAXIMVS went into Gaul with all the Strength of the British Power, was receiv'd by the German Army, and then accounting himself absolute Monarch, named his Son Victor Cæsar, and establish'd his Throne at Trier. GRATIAN went against him with a great Power, but after 5 Days Skirmishings was forsaken by his own Men and forc'd to sue to MAXIMVS for Peace, which he granted in Appearance, but got Andragathius treacherously to slay him
- VALENTINIAN* II. who had been the Associate of GRATIAN, fearing the like Fate, march'd his Forces as far as Aquileja, where MAXIMVS was defeated and taken, and then beheaded by the Common Executioner, and Andragathius drown'd himself
- STILICO* after this signaliz'd himself in Britain against the Invasions of the Scots and Picts, who had got loose again and were destroying the British Provinces. He therefore fortified the Marches against them. And after his Departure he sent over Forces to guard these Frontiers, and they continued till he recall'd them before the Battel of Polen tum, and so left the Provinces a Prey to their Enemies
- The Britons therefore invited the Romans to come to their Aid, who having beat the Scots and Picts out of the Roman Provinces, order'd the Britons to repair their Walls between the Firths of Clyde and Forth
- But they being unskillful in that kind of Structure, built it more of Turf than of Stone and so prov'd of little Use to defend them from being harra's'd by the said Scots and Picts, which therefore oblig'd them again to sollicite the Aid of the Roman Forces. Who coming under the Command of Gallio, slew great Numbers of the Scots and Picts and put the rest to flight; and having thus reduc'd the Britons, they told them that they could aid them with no more Forces, nay that they were to be on their guard against the Incursions of the Northern Nations, and therefore desir'd them to take Arms themselves, and train up their People to military Discipline; and to encourage them, the Romans caus'd a stately Wall to be built, not of Turf, as the Britons had built their Wall, but of Stone 8 Foot broad and 12 Foot high, commonly call'd the Diggs Wall. It was built in the same Place where SEVERUS had built his Wall. And the Romans then wholly left this Island after their first Invasion 480 Years.

That there was such a Prince, and that he perform'd great Feats against the Saxons is well vouch'd; but his other Acts of Chevalry with his Knights of the Round-Table &c. are justly accounted fabulous. He † 21 May 542.

The Cornish Britons were govern'd by their own Dukes till they were subdu'd by Edward the first Monarch of all England Anno 899. and made a Province of that Kingdom. 3. The Britons of Cumberland had their own Kings all the time of whom are mention'd in History, and were extend'd into Old Gallies as far as Dunbriton Castle. DUMILLUS their last King was slain by EDMUND K. of England A. D. 946. when Cumbria was annex'd to England. 4. THE SAXONS are an ancient and potent People of Germany, which large Country was peopled Originally from the Scythian Nations by Degrees. ## The Saxon KINGS of Kent.

KENT, the first Dominion of the Saxon HEPTARCHY, was in the Days of JULIUS CÆSAR govern'd by four petty Kings, viz. CINGETORIX, CARVILIA, TAXIMAGULUS and SEGONAX, but was never call'd a Kingdom until the Days of the Saxons, who at the Invitation of HORTIGERN King of the Britons, came over to Britain, landing at Ippersfleet, now Ebsfleet in the Isle of Thanet in Kent, A. D. 447, under the Command of HENGIST and Horsa two Brothers, the first of whom founded the Kingdom of Kent.

Hortigillus the 4th from Woden. See the last Table.

| I. HENGIST or HANGST Prince of the Saxons in Germany landed in Thanet 447, as above, to aid the Britons against their Northern Enemies the Scots and Picts, whom having conquer'd, he desir'd of King HORTIGER as much Ground as he could compass with an Ox Hide, which having obtain'd he cut the Hide in so small Thongs that he encompass'd as much Ground as served to build Theng Castle. Then he sent for more Saxons with a Design to make himself Master of the Country of the Britons. Accordingly three different sorts of People landed, viz. Saxons proper, with the Jutes and Angles. After this HENGIST receiv'd the whole Country of Kent from King HORTIGER, according to the Marriage Articles between that King and the Princess Rowena Da. of Hengist A. D. 455, Tab. 479. But HORTIGER Son of HORTIGER expell'd the Saxons to Thanet, the Place of their first landing, and HORTIGER also upon his Restoration turn'd an inveterate Enemy to the Saxons, which made HENGIST use Cunning more than Arms, and therefore appointed a Meeting at Salisbury-Plain on 1 May, to accommodate all Differences. But there he chcerously slew 300 of the British Nobility with the Loss only of 16 Saxons, slain by EDOLL Duke of Gloucester who escap'd. HORTIGER was taken Prisoner, and forc'd for his Ransom to confirm to HENGIST the Counties of Kent and Norfolk, Table 470, and was accounted the first Monarch of the English. He † 488. But others say, he was Battel or taken by EDOLL Earl of Gloucester and beheaded at Canisborough. | II. OERIC, surnamed Oisc or Erc, succeeded 488, having before signaliz'd his Valour in the Battel of Creganford, so that the Britons ever after fled from him like Lightning. He establish'd his Kingdom by good Laws and contracted his Dominions within Kent as most sensible. After him the Kentish Men call'd themselves Oisings. He † 512, but was not accounted the 2d Monarch of the English.   | Horsa or Horsa came with his Brother into Britain, but was slain in the Battel of Aylesford in Kent A. D. 455.  |
| HATWAKER or Andwara, the eldest Son was Prince of the Saxons in Germany when his Father came to Britain. See his numerous Posterity in Table 215.  | III. OCTA succeeded his Father 512, reign'd 23 Years without any thing memorable.  | IV. HERMENRIC, or LEMERIC or LEMERIC K. of Kent 535. Of him nothing memorable is record.  |

King of Kent 561, being then a Youth and therefore much mock'd by his neighbour Princes, particularly Thraen King of the West Saxons invaded his Country and routed his Army A.D. 567, the first Battel among the Saxons since they landed; yet afterwards he grew very potent, and greatly extend'd the Bounds of his Kingdom, and is therefore accounted the sixth Monarch of the English, Tab. 486. He was the 1st Christian K. by means of his first Wife, and was baptiz'd by St. Augustine the Monk, sent hither by Pope Gregory the Great. This Austin call'd a Synod, where a great Contest arose between him and the British Bishops about the Celebration of Easter, which was afterwards remov'd. He † 24 Feb. 616, according to venerable Bede he was buried at Canterbury. His 2d Wife N. N. afterwards the Wife of her own Step-Son. | Founder of the Kingdom.   |

LORIC succeeded his Uncle LOTHARE 686, reign'd but 2 Years † 689, and his Wars with his Subjects made his Kingdom a Prey to several Usurpers, and CRADWALLA the West Saxon endeavour'd to annex it to his own Dominions, who with his Brother WOLLA enter'd and greatly wast'd Kent; but being at last overmatch'd by the Kentish Men, WOLLA was burnt: yet CRADWALLA aveng'd his Death by wasting most part of the Country and during these civil Wars FROTE was slain: So that there was an Interregnum in Kent for five Years.   | XI. WIGTRIED or WIGTRIED succeeded after the death of LORIC 693, but was forc'd to flee to the West Saxons, who gave him Money. ## II. Kingdom.

The KINGS of Suffex, or of the South-Saxons.

THIS Kingdom consisted chiefly of a great Forest, call'd by the Romans Anderida and by the Saxons Andredstoad, containing the Counties of Suffex and Surrey, was the obscurest of all the Heptharchy, had the fewest Kings and was the first that was made tributary. The Kings are descended as in this Table from Esa or Desa the 11th from Woden. See Table 480.

ELLA, at the Request of King HENGIST landed in Britain 476, and in spite of all the Opposition of the Britons came to Whittering in Suffex, besieged and took Andred-Chester, and put the Britons to flight; but Anno 487, AMBROSIVS the British King obtain'd a signal Victory over ELLA, which oblig'd him to retire to his Fortifications and crave more Aid from Germany; and next Year HENGIST dying ELLA took the Title of King of Suffex 591, and next Year was made Monarch or General of the Anglo-Saxons or Englishmen, which had been vacant since the Death of HENGIST. He † 514. There is a great Contention among Authors about the beginning of his Reign. Coppa.
Ida King of Bernicia Table 480.

II. CISSA succeeded his Father as King of Suffex (but not as Monarch of the English) 514, and enjoying long Peace he built 2 Cities, Chichester and Cisbury, and dying without Issue 590, CEOLINE K. of Wessex usurp'd this Kingdom, and tho' he was defeated by a Confederacy against him, yet his Nephew and Successor CEOLWOLF kept Possession of Suffex, and the South-Saxons could never quite shake off the West-Saxon Yoke; for they revolted 607, against King CEOLWOLF, tho' in vain at that Time; but Anno 648, when CENEWALCH King of Essex was in exile among the East-Angles and PENDA King of Mercia was Master of Wessex, the South-Saxons took this Opportunity of making

III. ADELWALCH, or EDILWALCH, or ETHELWOLF their K. who during these Civil Wars was captivated by WOLPHER King of Mercia, when he took Suffex and the Isle of Wight. But ADELWALCH turning Christian, WOLPHER releas'd him and complimented him with the Isle of Wight; and doubtless after WOLPHER's Death he was restor'd to the Throne of Suffex, being mention'd in the Saxon Annals as King 686; but he was that same Year defeated and slain in Battel by CEDOWALLA a fugitive West-Saxon Prince, who thinking to make himself King was bravely oppos'd by ADELWALCH's two Sons, viz. Authun and Berthun, by some call'd his Kinsmen.

IV. AUTHUN and his Br. Berthun return'd about their Father's Death on an Expedition into Kent, and CEDOWALLA hearing of it, went thither and was made King of Wessex, while these two Royal Brothers were crown'd Kings of Suffex. Berthun was slain in Battel by the said CEDOWALLA 688.

V. AUTHUN reignd alone after his Brother's Death, tho' as a Vassal to the King of the West-Saxons, who after his Death would never let the Throne of Suffex be filled. The South-Saxons often contended for their Liberty; for tho' they took up Arms under Arnald King of Wight.

I. CENEBICK or CENEBICK being much reverend in Germany, went to Britain with his Son CENEBICK 495, who first crown'd when King Arthur was slain, to him Hest and Somer set, which then was all his Kingdom, which he enlarg'd with the Provinces of Berk, Wilt, Dorset, Dorset, Dorset, and the Isle of Wight, which Isle he gave to the Government of his Nephew's Druff or Thirgar, which last slew the Britons, and so obtain'd the Title of King. He was crown'd at Winchester his Capital, and the 3th Monarch of the English 532. He † 534.

VI. Kingdom.

THE Mercian Kingdom was of larger Extent than any of the Heptarchy; for it was spread from Humber in the North near to the Thames in the South comprehending these Shires, Cheeshire, Darbyshire, Nottinghamshire, Leicestershire, Lincolnshire, Huntingdonshire, Rutlandshire, Warwickshire, Oxfordshire, Gloucestershire, Buckinghamshire, Bedfordshire, and part of Hertfordshire. The Kings (except some Intruders) are all descended from Benobald or Cunobald the 10th from Woden. Table 480.

I. EGBERT of the Blood Royal of the West-Saxons (Tab's 483) whose King BRIGHTRICK fearing his Grandeur, oblig'd him to fly to Offa King of Mercia, and next to Charlemain King of France, under whom he learn'd to be both a valiant General and a politick Prince. Upon the Death of BRIGHTRICK, He became King of the West-Saxons 800, was crown'd at Winchester Monarch of the Engles upon the Death of KENWOLF King of Mercia 819, began to reduce the Heptarchy and conquer'd Kent 823. He first call'd the South Part of the Island England after the Angles from whom he was descended. The Danes landed with 23000 Men in the Isle of Shippet, by whom King EGBERT was defeated: But Anno 834, He engaged them in a second Battel and expell'd them the Island. He † 4 Feb 836, and was buried at Winchester. He made in present Death for any Briton to pass Offa's Ditch.

The Genealogy of the Norman Kings of ENGLAND.

THE NORMANS call'd from their first Situation in the Northern Parts of Europe, Normans or Men of the North, and Nordlandi the Northern People, a mixt Nation of the Heres, Vegetians, Swedes and Danes, who turn'd Pirates and Sea Rovers about Anno 800; for in the publick Litanies of the Church this was added, From the Rags of the Normans, God LOR deliver us. Some of these settled in Neustria in France, from them call'd Normandy, and came to be distinguish'd from the Dacni and the other Northern Rovers. They seem to have come most from Norway and Denmark, probably of a Gotick Original, because we find those plant'd in France had the same Form of Government as the Goths in all other Nations. So that in reality the Normans were but a 2<sup>d</sup> Edition of the other Gotick Nations, the Saxons and Danes, who had invaded Brittain before. GODFRAY the Norman D. of Frisia quarrelling with France Anno 885 was invited by the Emperor CHARLES the Great to a Conference at an Island on the Rhine, where he was massacred with his Normans; which so enrag'd their Fellows, that under STURGEON they enter'd the Seine with 700 Barks and an incredible Number of other Vessels, and the City of Paris landing in their Way endur'd a 3 Years Siege, till the Emperor was forc'd to come in Person to its Relief which he effected rather by Gold than Steel. Afterwards they receiv'd a great Overthrow 899, by the Emperor ARNOLD who killed such Numbers of them that a Bridge was made over the Meuse with the Bodies of the slain. After this historians give us an Account of ROLLO the first Duke of Normandy, whose Genealogy is here exhibited thus.

Roguald surnamed the Rich a Danish Earl, the Favourite of Harald Harfager K. of Norway. Hilder Da. of Harolff Nefo.

Poppe his first Wife Da. of Brengaricus Count of Bayeux.

King George I. the Father of his present Majesty

GEORGE II. King of Great Britain, France and Ireland.

N.B. The French say that the English Claim to the Crown of France is very foolish, especially where the Salique Law prevails. 1. Because Charles Count of Valois Brother of King Philip IV. had a Son who legally came to be King of France, call'd Philip VI. the first of the Valoisian Race. 2. Allowing the Crown of France to be entail'd upon Heirs in general, Male or Female, even in that Case Edward III. Son of Isabel Queen of England had not so good a Claim as the numerous Offspring of her two Brothers King Lewis X. and King Philip V. So that King Edward III. being a very ambitious and heroic Prince, only made use of that Pretension and sham Claim (of his Mother's being alive after her three Brothers were dead) to raise War and conquer France, the true Cause of that War.

The Original of the Meats, and of the Caledonians or Picts.

THE most antient Inhabitants of the Britannic Isles seem to be Colonies of the Celtick Gauls, who at various Times sail'd over and settled here, as appears by the Accounts of them preserv'd by the Roman Historians, particularly Julius Caesar and Tacitus; and these Gauls, or ancient Britons, did in Time gradually fill the Country; so that long before the Roman Invasions, the Northern Parts of the Island were inhabited by them under as various Names and Subdivisions in Proportion as the Southern Parts. But their more general Denominations were the Meats, and Caledonians or Picts, as discover'd by the Romans in their Northern Wars. As for the Scots, the Time of their first coming into Britain is much disputed among learned Antiquaries, and therefore before I speak of them I shall first discuss the Meats, and Caledonians or Picts, because they seem to be the most ancient Inhabitants or the Aborigines.

The MÆATS or Midland Britons inhabited the debateable Lands between the two Roman Walls, viz. that in Northumberland and that between the Friths of Clyde and Forth, and according to antique Testimonies it appears that they had a Kingdom of their own call'd Regnum Cambrense, or Cumbrense, extending on the Western Coasts from the Northern to the Southern Walls; and that the Capital of the Kingdom was that impregnable Castle call'd Alcluyd, or Areclud, or Petra Cloythe, now Dunbritton or Dumbarton. (See Joceline's Life of St. Mungo or Kentegern and the Chartulary of Glasgow) and that They had their own Kings and Princes till the Norman Invasion, is evident from these and other Testimonies; for Mabillon in his Life of St. Gildas, from a MS. of the Library of Fleury, records, that in the fifth Age

Gylas was born at Areclud or Dunbritton, and was the Son of CAUNUS or NAVUS King of that Country, which CAUNUS was succeeded by his Son Hoel.

In the 6th Age Joceline says that St. Mungo, being ill us'd by MARKEN or MARCUS, K. of the Meats, retir'd to Wales, where he remain'd until he return'd to Glasgo at the Invitation of the pious RADERIC or RODERIC, one of the Successors of MARKEN. This RADERIC was the Son of Lothball and the particular Friend of St. Columba and reign'd at Dunbritton. Langhorn gives us a Series of seven or eight of the Successors of RADERIC down to DUMMAEL who reign'd about the middle of the tenth Century; but tho' that Succession may be debated, yet better Authority assures us that the Britons possess'd Alcluyd or Dunbritton till A. D. 756, when Edbert King of Bernicia or Northumberland and Dengus King of the Picts took it from them on Conditions. Afterwards this Country of Clydesdale and Galloway became a Prey to the Picts, Daxes, Scots and Saxons; and tho' the Mixture of so many Nations, with their daily intestine Wars, oblig'd many of the Inhabitants to retire elsewhere, yet many of those Meats or Midland Britons, then called Welch or Walenses, continued in or near Clydesdale, Galloway and other Western Countries of the Diocess of Glasgo, and were known there by that Name in the 12th Century, tho' subject to the Kings of Scotland, as is evident from some authentick Charters of K. MALCOLM IV. and King WILLIAM the Lion. But since that Time there is no mention of the Walenses as a distinct People, They being so incorporated with the rest of the Inhabitants of the Country, that in process of Time They were call'd by the common Name of Scots. But that hinders not great Numbers of them being originally Britons, and perhaps more of them of a British than of a Scotish Extraction; for the first Inhabitants were not extirpated.

The CALEDONIANS who preserv'd their Liberty against all the Power of the Roman Empire at the height of its Grandeur were not a foreign People come in upon more ancient Inhabitants, but were the first known People of North Britain, and were the same with the Picts; for in Tacitus's Time they were able to dispute their Right with the Romans; and tho' sometimes they were worsted, yet they were neither destroy'd, nor their Country reduc'd into Provinces; nay, 20 Years after the Death of Severus, they were look'd upon as the most formidable Enemies of the Roman Empire in Britain; consequently there was no Place for new Inhabitants to come in and people their desert Country; and the Roman Historians of those Times call the Caledonians and Picts the same People. 'Tis true they were not call'd by the Name of Picts or Picti, before the third Century by the Orator Eumenius; which induces the modern Historians to reckon them a new Colony; but the Reason of that Name was because they continued the Custom of Painting, even after the Southern Britons (under the Roman Jurisdiction and civiliz'd by the Roman Polity,) had left it off; and all the unconquer'd Britons receiv'd this Name of Picts from the Romans, to distinguish them from the provincial Britons; and it was given them about the 3d Century, because then Severus enter'd Caledonia, and march'd his Army, tho' with incredible Loss, to the utmost Bounds of Caledonia, and there observ'd that the Caledonians were all painted, a Custom long exploded among the Provincial Britons. Some say, with Bede, that it was reported that they came from Scythia, or the Northern Parts of the Continent of Europe; but seeing Tacitus, in his Description of Great Germany, comprehends under it all the Northern Nations in the European Continent, he differs from Bede in this Matter only in Name, both agreeing that the Caledonians came from the opposite Coasts of the Northern Part of the European Continent. But these Authors founding this Opinion upon a Conjecture only (ut perhibent) I judge it more probable to think, that as the Southern Britons came gradually from the nearest Coasts of Gaul, so after they had peopled the Southerly Parts, they advanced to the more Northern, carrying along with them the same Customs and Language, deriv'd originally from the Celts or Gauls. This Origin is confirm'd by Herodian, Dio and other Roman Writers. However, it is no wonder that the long habitation of the Romans among the Britons so alter'd their Customs and Language, that, after some Ages, the Caledonians and Picts were thought a People of a different Origin and Language, tho' originally the same. The Kingdom of the Picts extended Northward to the Extremities of the North of Scotland, especially towards the East Coast, even to the Orkney and Dun Caledonian Ocean, or Pictland Frith, as it is called to this Day; but the Scots upon their first landing got Possession the Western Parts on the North Side of the Frith of Clyde, and the western Islands. The South Territories of the Pictish Kingdom were anciently limited by the Friths of Clyde and Forth, yet the Caledonians miss'd no Opportunities of extending their Dominions over the Midland Britons in the debateable Lands, and took Possession of the East Coast about Anno 426, even to the Northumbrian Wall, (while the Meats reign'd at Dunbritton and over all old Galloway towards the western Coast) which remain'd the Bounds of this Kingdom till the coming in of the Saxons about Anno 449, who in Time subdued the Picts between the Walls until Anno 685, when Egfrid King of Northumbria invaded the Pictish Territories, but was slain, and totally routed by the Picts under the Conduct of their King Bruce, Son of Willi. After this, They recover'd their Dominions South of the Friths: for we find that A. D. 710, they were advanced as far as Heseld or Carehouse near the Northumbrian Wall, and they became so powerful, that Alfred King of Northumbria shelter'd himself with Ninon King of the Picts A. D. 774, Table 465; and when they were united to the Scots we find they possess'd all the Midland Territories from the Tweed to the Friths, and destroy'd the Kingdom of the Meats.

The Picts were anciently govern'd by Kings, but when that Form of Government commenc'd on their first Settlement in Caledonia can no otherwise now be determin'd but by probable Conjecture; and altho' there be no Monuments to shew whether Caledonia was at first govern'd by one Monarch, or whether it was partition'd into little States, of which every one had its King, yet there seems to be no Ground to doubt that the initial Government of the Picts was Monarchical.

Thomas Innes A. M. of the Scots College at Paris, in his Critical Essay on the ancient Inhabitants of Scotland, has with great Judgment proved from the best Antiquaries of England, Scotland and Ireland, that the Caledonian or Pictish Kingdom was erected many Ages before the Romans invaded this Island, as will appear from the Catalogue of the Kings themselves. Mr. Innes found a Manuscript call'd Chronica de Origine Antiquorum Pictorum, written above 400 Years ago, which belong'd to Secretary Cecil Lord Burleigh, (whose Name is upon it written with his own Hand) which Camden perus'd; and when Cecil's Library was put to sale, this Manuscript, with several others, was bought by Order of the famous Monsieur Colbert Minister of State to Louis XIV, King of France, who employ'd Mr. Baluze to make his rich Collection of Manuscripts, by whose Means Mr. Innes came to the Knowledge of it, and according to it has given us the Names of the Pictish Kings, both before and after they were converted to Christianity, the best now extant, as follows.

D. 565 (which is the regulating Era of the Reigns of these Kings) then we shall see that DRUST began Anno 406, and ended 451, during which Time the Gospel was first preach'd to the Picts by St. Ninian, and afterwards by St. Palladius to the Scots, and St. Patrick to the Irish between A. KENNETH MAC ALPIN King of Scots became King of Picts by Succession and Conquest, or the first King of All Wotland, see Table 501, for he and his Successors are often call'd Kings of the Picts, which shews that the Picts were not all extirpated, as some Scottish Historians assert, but long after this are mention'd in the Wars as a People existing, particularly in old Galloway and the North, the Extremes of their ancient Kingdom. But in Time their Language was quite wore out (as That of the Old Scots is much wore out by the Language of the Saxons) and all the Inhabitants of Scotland being subject to the Scottish Kings, the Name of Picts was at last forgot, and many Families in Scotland cannot well prove whether they are of a Pictish or a Scottish Original. Thus by summing up the Years of those Pictish and Caledonian Kings, and allowing only 70 Years for the seven Sons of King CAUDINE, because they were Cotemporary, or the Years of his Son FORTEIM, we find CRUIDNE commenced his Reign before the CHRISTIAN Era. 966, 2 Before Fergus II. 1042, 2691 Years. In the 13th Year of Rehoboam King of Judah, or A. M. 1042, 2691 Years. And this Kingdom ending A. D. 842, it appears to have lasted 1804 Years, till KENNETH MAC ALPIN. But see the Scottish Catalogue of the Pictish Kings in Table 501.

The Origin of the SCOTS.

This is accounted for in three different Ways, viz.

I. According to some learned Highland Gentlemen of my Acquaintance, the Scots are deriv'd from the Picts, who, under the Name of Celts, left Africa very early about a great Navy, and landed in that part of Greece call'd Albania. Afterwards a Colony of them sail'd up the Adriack and peopled old Leontary, where they got the Name of Galls. From thence in time one Colony of them went and peopled the Country in the Upper Banks of the Rhine, who afterwards got the Name of Franks or Freres, for not having been conquer'd by the Romans. Another Colony of them sail'd among the Celts, and in the South Parts of present France, and it call'd over the Pyrenees into Spain, and made a principal Settlement near the River Iber in present Arago, who came thence to be call'd Celtiberi: From whence they mov'd Westward towards the Coast of present Wales, Gallia and Portugal, under the Command of one GATHELUS. Nor was it long before a Colony of them from GATHELUS (that took the Name of GATH or Gail, or the Frugency of GATHELUS) found means to sail over to Ireland, call'd Hibernia and Celtia properly, from the Iberi that first landed there; and from Ireland a Colony of the Celtiberi or Celt's Gail sail'd over to the Western Isles of present Scotland, the Country of Argyle or Argyle and Galloway, and the most part of the West Coast, and call'd their Settlement: Alba from old Albania, and themselves Gail Albainich, as they in Ireland are call'd Gail Celtia. Their Language at this Day is much the same with that of the Province of Connaught, & not far from that of the old Celts. Their Manners, Customs, and like those of the old Britons, their Clothes and Armour are much the same as were used by the old Britons, and the Gail Bractach, afterwards limited by the Romans. Their Bonnets and short Jackets are still used in Leontary, and all in Galatia, where the Picts were over Conquer'd by King Scaes without Heels and of their Proper Tunes and way of Dancing to this Day. Their Bonnets and short Jackets are still used by the Lancers, & the Picts, & the Name of the Nation is still the same. The Name of the Nation is still the same. The Name of the Nation is still the same.

II. A short Scots Chronicle in Latin Verse subjoin'd to most of the Copies of the Scots-Chronicle (written in the Reign of King Alexander II. who died A. D. 1249.) gives an Account of Queen SCORA (from whom Scotia the Wife of GATHELUS a noble Scythian, who came from Egypt to Spain with the Marble Chair, or Jacob's Stone on which he slept in the Field of Luz, and that in 1002 Years, after his Race had been much propagated in Spain, Milla King of the Spaniards, who had many great Sons, gave to his Son SIMON BARAC the said Stone of GATHELUS or Gathiglas as a special Present, foretelling to him that his Offspring should reign wherever that Stone was plac'd, and SIMON sail'd with the Stone to Ireland, where, having sail'd many Years, until the valiant LOTUS brought a Colony of them over to Cragadig or Argyle A. M. 3661, or before Christ 443, where this Nation first liv'd for many Years under the Law of Nature, and without a King, till a bold Man call'd FERGUS brought the forefild Stone to Argyle and became the first King of the Scots. But this was not FERGUS I. the Son of FERQUHARD, but FERGUS II. the Son of ERCH, because of the Catalogue of the Kings that follows in this Chronicle, and from ERCH their first Settlement was call'd Cragadig, now Argyle. But according to the modern Scots Historians and the vulgar Opinion of that Nation, the said SIMON BARAC brought a large Colony by Sea into Ireland after the Exodus of Moses 1004 Years or A. M. 3415, before Christ 489, who brought with him the said Marble Chair or Jacob's Stone, and was the first Founder of the Pictish Race in Ireland; whereas the modern Irish Antiquaries make one HERMANN the first King of that Race 700 Years sooner and make 40 Kings in Ireland prior to SIMON BARAC. But the Scots Tradition is confirm'd by the said Latin Chronicle, IV. and by Nennius a British Author who wrote in the 9th Century of Christianity, and says, he had it from the most learn'd among the Scots (whether the Scots in Ireland or the Scots in Britain is uncertain) and this is older than Psalter Gail that was writ only in the 10th Century. But the Scots in their Letter to the Pope in the Days of King ROBERT BAYEN don't say that the Scots came from Spain into Ireland and next to Britain, but that they came thence from Spain to Britain. The common Tradition of Scotland adds, that the Scots liv'd long in Peace intermix'd with the Picts in the South-West Parts of the Country of Argyle (while the great Bulk of North Britain was possess'd by the ancient Picts or Caladonians, as in the last Table) until great Famine Quarrels and National Jealousies and Fears made them separate from the Picts, who sided by the ancient Britons resist'd at once to expiate the Scots; therefore the several Tribes of the Gail Albainich or Scots coalesced under a King in their own Defence; but their Chieftains or Patriarchs being of equal Authority, would not stoop to one of themselves, and therefore join'd to invite over Prince FERGUS (the Son of FERQUHARD a King of the Gail Crinitch or Scots in Ireland, a People near of Kin to them and of the same Language) who by the public Consent of the People was call'd King of the Gail Albainich or Scots in Alba, who is call'd FERGUS I. and commenc'd his Reign in the Year before the Christian Era 360, or A. M. 3674. The Tradition further adds, that the Picts, an insatiable People cut down the Woods, cultivated the Ground, encourag'd Arts and Sciences, built fine Cities and strong Castles, and became at last a trading Kingdom, but that the Scots being more add to Hunting and Pasturage became a Military Kingdom, ever ready to be mov'd by Women or Children, but only by an Imperator or Conqueror of an Army, or a great King.

III. Those Historians that insist upon proper Vouchers for any considerable Fact asserted, finding no Certainty in the Irish Accounts of the Pictish Race, or of the Scots in Ireland, neither of the Time they came first into Ireland, nor when they first made their Descent upon Scotland, have, according to foreign Histories and the best Chronological Conjectures they could make, prov'd it rational to believe (according to Mr. Thomas Jones) first, That the first Inhabitants of Ireland came from the nearest adjacent Coasts of Britain that was originally peopled with the Celts, and so the first Inhabitants of the Britannick Isles were Celtic Gauls, and their different Nations or Tribes spoke only the different Dialects of the Gailic, many uncertain Ages before the Incarnation of CHRIST. 2. That the first Scots were Scandinavian Scythi or Celtic Cantabrian Scythi or both, who came into Ireland much about the Time that CHRIST dwelt upon Earth, because about that Time the Roman Empire had hemm'd in the Northern Nations by Land, and their teeming Tribes had no way to penetrate into other Parts as formerly, but by Sea. 3. That as soon as they had been well settled and multiplied in Ireland, they made at various Times little Descents upon Britain, viz. on Galloway and Argyle, especially the last, where by Degrees they became a considerable Body in several Tribes or Clanships, without being disturb'd by the powerful Kingdom of the Picts, who needed their Assistance against the Romans and the Provincial Britons. 4. That accordingly they assist'd the Picts against the Romans and Provincial Britons, till the Romans were quite evacuated out of Britain, and then against the Saxons who came to assist the Britons; but that in no exotic Authors are the Scots mention'd once, till about A. D. 360, for they are not once nam'd by Caesar, Diodorus Siculus, Strabo, Mela, Ptolemy, Tacitus, Pliny, Solinus, &c. who speak of Ireland but never mention the Scots; and the first Account that Ammianus Marcellinus gives of the Scots in Britain is as of a People unsettled, or Scoti per diversa vagantes. 5. That the Clans or Tribes of the Scots in Britain did not unite under one Chief or Monarch till FERGUS II. call'd the Son of ERCH, which ERCH seems to have been a K. of the Scots in Ireland, and sent over his Son FERGUS with a considerable Force to be K. of the Scots in Britain, for that all the Scottish Monuments of ancient History now extant before A. 1291, (when K. EDWARD I. of England began to get Possession of the Records, Archives and Chronicles of Scotland) begin with FERGUS the Son of ERCH as the first K. of the Scots, and reckon his Successors regularly down to KENNETH MAC ALPIN the first K. of All Scotland. But seeing we have good Vouchers for a Genealogical Catalogue of the Princely Ancestors of FERGUS the Son of ERCH, that were publicly recited by a principal Scottish Bard at the Coronation of K. ALEXANDER III. A. D. 1249, (which is not deny'd by those that plead for this third Scheme) and seeing those Clans in the said Scheme make between 50 and 60 of the Ancestors to be Ks of the Scots, I shall leave the Controversy to General Historians, whose Business it is to decide it) and extend the Table of those first Kings according to John Fordun, until we come to the more certain Catalogue that begins with FERGUS the Son of ERCH.

1. FERGUS the brave Prince, came with an Army of Scots from Ireland and was chosen King of the Gael Albionich (or Scots in Britain) by universal Consent A. M. 3672, bef. Ch. 37, in the Time of Alexander the Great. Having defeated the Britons and slain their K. Coilus, the Kingdom of the Scots was enfolded upon his Obedience for ever. He went to Ireland, where being settled awhile, he was drown'd on his Return launching from the Shore near the Harbour (call'd Carrick Fergus to this Day. A. M. 3699, reign'd 27 Years. His two Sons being Minors, the Nobility, foreseeing the Danger of a Minor King, enacted that the nearest Adult Relative of the last K. should first succeed, and then the King's Sons when of Age. In his Time the Walls built Agneda or Edinburgh Castle.

FERLEGUS being banish'd, went first to the Picts, who not receiving him courteously, he went to South Britain, where he liv'd a slavish Life, and the Kingdom was confer'd on his Brother.

4. DORNADILLA succ. A. M. 3743, bef. Ch. 261, the 24th Year of Ptolemy Philadelphus K. of Egypt. He was a good Judge but spent too much Time in Hunting. † A. M. 3771, reign'd 28 Years.

11. DURSTUS succ. A. M. 3900, bef. Ch. 104. He was a lewd Prince, but perceiving his Nobles to conspire he feign'd a Reformation and invited many of them to a Feast and murder'd them. N. N.

20. DARDANUS (the Son of COBRAD being a Minor) was King A. D. 67. 24. CONARUS assist'd at his Father's Murder and succeeded A. D. 145, was imprison'd for his Tyranny 147, and Argadius a Nobleman was made Regent, who becoming insolent was rebuk'd in Parliament. Then Argadius rul'd to the Satisfaction of all, and CONARUS † in Prison A. D. 159.

Corantius.

ACCORDING to the Scots Historians after the Death of Eugenius I. and during the Banishment of his Family, or the Interregnum of 27 Years, ERMODIUS or ERCHADUS his Brother sail'd into Scandia or Denmark with his Son ERTH or ERCH, and his Grandson FERGUS, where they were well us'd by SIVALDUS III the King of that Country, and where ERCHODIUS and ERCH died. But FERGUS growing up a Military Man, began his Fortune among the Franks against the Gauls, till his Name became famous among the neighbouring Nations; and the Picts found soon their Mistake in confederating with the Romans, by being enslav'd under the Roman Laws and Tyranny as if they had been a conquer'd Province, and began to repeat of overthrowing the Scottish Kingdom: Nay, tho' the Roman Garrisons in Britain were much weaken'd by constant Draughts to defend Rome itself against the Barbarians that threaten'd them on all Sides, the Picts had not Courage to retrieve their Liberty alone; and therefore sent to the Hebride Islands and adjacent Continent (which the Scots were still possess'd of and were never under the Roman Yoke) to desire their Assistance against the Romans. But the Scots declining to assist the Picts, ERCH, who being ambitious of Glory accepted of their Conditions, and sailing with a Body of Danes of his Acquaintance, he landed in Argyle among his own Subjects, whither the exil'd Scots flock'd to him apace from South Britain, Ireland and the Islands, resolv'd to extirpate the Romans: and so, with the Consent of the Picts, FERGUS mounted the Throne of his Forefathers A. D. 403, or with some 404, being reckon'd the 40th King of the Scots, though by others call'd only the first King. I think either the foregoing Kings fabulous, or else only Chiefs or Generals of their Armies without Royal Authority; which Controversy I leave to be decided by the Antiquaries, and must (as in other Tables) follow the received Histories of Scotland.

N. B. The Kings in direct Succession from FERGUS II. are DONGARD, GORAN and AIDAN; but FERGUS dying A. 419, and AIDAN dying 604, there must be between their Deaths no less than 185 Years, which makes some accurate Enquirers think, that either the beginning of FERGUS can be no higher than about An. 500, or else that AIDAN cannot be the 3d in Descent from FERGUS, but rather the 10th, which is most likely: And seeing all the Scottish Historians own him to be the 3d in Descent, those Criticks are for commencing this Restoration rather A. 503, than 403: but from the death of AIDAN to the end of the Pictish Kingdom there is no such Chronological Doubt.

43 CONSTANTIN, while a private Man, liv'd moderately; but upon his mounting the Throne 457, he fell into all manner of Vices and would receive no Advice. He made Peace with the Britons against the Saxons and Picts. Some say he was slain by Dugall a Nobleman of the Æbuda, (whose Da. he had ravish'd) after he had reign'd 15 Years, but others say he † a natural Death Anno 479, and buried at Dun Staffae.

45. GORANUS, OF GABRAN, OF GABHRAN, OF GAURAN, OF GOWREN, OF GOVERNAN, or CONRANUS, succ. his Br. 501, a wife and excellent Prince. He first instituted the Office of the King's Advocate. He persuaded Loth a Pictish King to league with UTER PENDRAGON K. of the Britons (and who mrd Pendragon's Da. Table 478) against the Anglo-Saxons Anno 502. And when the famous King ARTHUR mounted the British Throne he aided him against the Saxons. GORANUS was at last cut off; for one Concretus the supreme Judge of Capital Crimes, a cruel and covetous Man, expecting easy Pardon of the King, the enraged People therefore cut him off; but finding they could not obtain the King's Mercy, they next slew the King himself at the Infatigation of one Donald of Athol 535, reign'd 34 Years. His Queen and Children fled to Ireland. Others say he † after a tedious Sickness, and was buried at Icolmkill the Royal burying Place.

48. KINATELLUS succ. his Br. Congallus 568-
He courteously entertain'd AIDAN SON of GORANUS, and on his Death-bed resign'd to him. He † 570, reign'd near 2 Years, buried at Icolmkill wth his Brs.

49. AIDANUS, or AIDAN, or ADDAN, or EDAN, or EDAIN, or EDHAN succ. his Cousin 570, and receiv'd the Royal Insignia from St. Columba, a Man at that Time of such Authority, that neither King nor People did any thing without his Consent. AIDAN's first Expedition was against the Robbers of Galloway, whom he suppress'd and severely punish'd their Chiefs and establish'd Justice in the Realm. But divers Nobles falling out at Hunting, many were slain. The Offenders to avoid Punishment fled to BRUDEUS King of the Picts, who protected them, and would not deliver them up, which occasion'd a War between the Scots and Picts; but by Means of Columba a Peace soon ensued. Mean while the Heptarchy being establish'd in England, the Saxons, not contented with their Dominions, Ethelfrid K. of Northumberland, a covetous ambitious Man, excited the Picts to commit Robberies in the Land of the Scots. AIDAN smelling out the Design renew'd the ancient League with MALGO a K. of the Britons, who sent his Son Griffinus and his Siwils great Forces, and tho' he was attack'd and defeated on his War by the Scots and Britons, yet being join'd with the rest of the Saxons, the Scots were totally routed, and Griffinus and Brendinus were slain on their Side; and King Ethelfrid lost one of his Picts, who he pursued them and kill'd came to the Battle, where the Scots and Britons obtain'd the Victory. Eleven Years after this Victory they appointed a Day to invade the Saxons; and AIDAN, tho' an old Man, went in Person to the Action, but the Britons were defeated. AIDAN and Griffinus were slain, and the Saxons were near quite destroy'd. AIDAN surviv'd this Loss but a short Time,

Dongardus the 3d Son slain in Battel agasnt the Picts and Saxons.

At the end of a Truce with Northumberland, Egfrid aided by the Picts, invaded and pillag'd Galloway; but the Picts leaving off to fight, he was totally routed by King EUGENIUS, and next Year defeated by the Picts, who recover'd the large Country they had lost in the former Wars; and by the Aid of the Scots and Britons they so reduc'd the Northumbrian Saxons that they never recover'd their former State. Soon after EUGENIUS † 692, having reign'd 4 Years, buried at Icolmkill.
57. EUGENIUS VI. In his Time it is said that it rained Blood in Britain for 7 Days, and that Milk, Butter and Cheese were all turn'd into Blood.
58. AMBERKELETHUS, OF AINCEALLACH, OF ARMCALLACH, OF ARINCHELLACH, OF ARMELLECH, OF AMRIKELLETH succeeded EUGENIUS VI. 702. Some say while he was pressing among the thickest of the Enemy he was slain. He reign'd but 2 Years.
59. EUGENIUS VII. OF HEOGHAN, OF EOGAN, OF EWAN, OF EWEN, that the Army might neither be disbanded, nor want a Governor, was elected King 704, but not relying on his Forces, he made a Peace with the Pictish King Gernard and mrd his Da. Spondana, who was soon after slain by two Atholians, who intended to have kill'd the King; but the Authors of this Fact were in time taken and executed. The King after this, spent much of his Time in hunting, and order'd that the Actions of the Kings should be preserv'd in the Records of the Monastries; and having recommended Mordacus for his Successor he † in Peace at Abernethy 721, reign'd 17 Years, buried at Icolmkill.

He growing old, committed the Government of the Kingdom to 4 Viceroys or Assistants viz. Donald Thane of Argyle, Gernard Thane of Galloway, Colane Thane of Athole and Conrath Thane of Murray; but tho' they confounded all Things by their Mismanagements, yet the Cruelty of Donald eclips'd the Wickedness of all the rest. The King † (some say he was slain invading Northumberland) 761, reign'd 31 Years and was buried at Icolmkill.
62. EUGENIUS VIII. (see the various Names of EUGENIUS VII. above) succ. ETEFINUS 761. He succeed and punish'd Donald and his Associate Mordacus, find the rest of the Tyrants and gave Satisfaction to the People who had been robb'd of their Goods. 63. FERGUS III. OF FEARCUS succ. EUGENIUS VIII. 764, turn'd also a Tyrant and was poison'd by his Wife 767. Others say that his Wife reproving him for keeping many Concubines, strangled him by Night. And that she openly confess'd the Fact and stab'd herself. He reign'd 3 Years. Wife, Etholia Da. of the K. of the Picts. He was buried at Icolmkill.
64. SOLVATHIUS, OF SEALBHACH, OF SELVACH, OF SELVAC, OF SEALUANG, OF SEALUANG, OF SEWALD, OF SELWATHIUS III. succ. FERGUS III. 767, grew impotent by the Gout 770, and might justly be reckon'd among the best Kings: his Lieutenants quell'd the Rebellion of Mar Donald and his Son Dirlolumbus. After this ACHAIUS aid Hungus K. of the Picts with 10000 Men, under his Son ALPIN, against Athelstan a Ruler in Northumberland, which he wast'd; but when Athelstan pursu'd them, Hungus pray'd to St. Andrew, who with his Cross appear'd and promis'd the Victory: so Athelstan was routed and slain, and the Place call'd Athelstan's Ford to this Day. so ever since the Scots have carried St. Andrew's Cross in their Banner. Then the Pictish Male Race being extinct, ALPIN Grandson of Hungus, being the nearest Heir, claim'd the Crown. But the Picts rejected him, because he was a Stranger and FEREDITH OF FREDARIE was chosen. See Table 501. Then DONGALLUS preparing to aid ALPIN was drown'd in the River Spey Anno 831, reign'd 7 Years. Buried at Icolmkill.

Then the Picts made his Br. DRUSKENUS their King. But while he was settling Affairs a few Scottish Youth went by Night and brought the Head of K. ALPIN to K. KENNETH, who rewarded them with Lands. KENNETH then call'd a Parliament to persuade his Subjects to war against the Picts; but his Senior Nobility dissuaded him from it till they were more recovered after their late Losses, and a Peace followed for 3 Years. Then KENNETH craftily got his Nobles Consent to this War, and accordingly march'd an Army against the Picts, slew their King and all his Nobility, and defeated them 7 times in one Day. Tho' the Strength of the Picts was quite broken, and few of their great Men were left alive; this happen'd An. 839, others say 842, the 8th Year of KENNETH's Reign, who thus became King of All Scotland. Cromwell dissolv'd the Rump 20 Ap. 1653, and put the Government into the Hands of 120 Persons, call'd the Convention, with a Council of Officers who met 5 July, while the Dutch were twice miserably beat at Sea. The Convention resign'd and solemnly install'd OLIVER CROMWELL in Westminster Hall as L. Protector of England, Scotland and Ireland 16 Dec. 1653. General Ponk return'd to his Command in Scotland and defeated Donaldson's Forces there 19 July, and in Sept. the King was forc'd to leave France, and resided with his little Court at Cologne near two Years and a half. ANN 1 Aug. 1714 he was proclaim'd King of Great Britain, France and Ireland, &c. at London, as at Edinburgh on the 5th, and at Dublin on the 6th. He arriv'd with the Prince his Son at Greenwich on 18 Sept. and on the 20th he made his publick Entry from Greenwich thro' Southwark, London and Westminster to St. James's Palace, the most august and crowded Entry that ever was known, with the Attendance and Acclamations of all sorts of People: He was crown'd in Westminster Abbey 20 Oct. 1714. The Pretender sent over his Declaration in Nov. while all the foreign Ministers (even He from France too) in the Name of their Masters, congratulated his happy and peaceable Accession to the Imperial Throne of Great Britain. But upon his changing the publick Officers and dissolving Queen ANN's Parliament, the Peace was disturb'd in the next Elections. He met his first Parliament 17 March 1714, and the Commons appointed a Secret Committee of 21 (of which Robert Walpole Esq; was Chairman) to enquire into the Transactions of the last Reign. Ld Bolingbrook fled to France, and after him the D. of Ormond; but they 1714, N. S. the Earl of Mar set up the Pretender's Standard in the Highlands of Aberdeenshire, and proclaim'd him by the Name of King James VIII. of Scotland, &c. and thence marched to Perth, where many thousands join'd him, and sent Mackintosh over the Forth with a band of Men, who join'd Ld Kenmore and others on the Borders, and march'd into England, the Battel of Dunblain on 13 Nov. 1715, and tho' Mar had four times the Number of Men, he was forced to return to Perth; the same time that the King's Generals in England, Carpenter and Mills, blockaded Forster in Preston, with the Lords and all their Men, and forced them to surrender; and they were brought Prisoners pinion'd into London in triumph 9 Dec. But while General Cadogan and 6000 Dutch Troops with a Train of Artillery was sent to reinforce the D. of Argyle, the Pretender privately landed near Aberdeen 23 Dec. and made his publick Entry into Perth on the 9th of Jan. but upon the Approach of Argyle he fled from Perth on the 30th, and sail'd from Montrose for France on the 4th of Feb. 1715. After which the Great Men of his Party were either attainted or condemn'd. and the E. of Derwentwater and Ld Kenmore were beheaded on Tower Hill 24 Feb. for the Others were either pardon'd or escap'd beyond Sea: Some few of the lower sort were executed, some transported to America and the rest were pardon'd. The King went for Germany 7 July 1616, leaving his Son the Prince of Wales Guardian, and returned 8 Jan. following. Count Gyllenburgh the Swedish Envoy was seiz'd and sent Home for plotting. On the 29th of Nov. 1717, the King order'd the Prince of Wales to move from St. James's upon a Misunderstanding at the Christening of the Prince's Son, but were afterwards happily reconciled. The Emperor having join'd to make the Triple Alliance Quadruple, Sir George Byng destroy'd the Spanish Fleet near Syracuse 31 July 1718. The K. of Spain entertain'd the Pretender like a crown'd Head at Madrid 1719. The King embark'd for Germany 11 May, and on the 10th June General Wightman defeated Marshal, Seaforth and Cullibardin at Glenhill, and took 300 Spaniards that They had brought with them from Spain. Ld Cobham took Fige 1 Oct. and Sir George Byng much assisted the Imperialists in taking Messina on the 19th. The King returned 14 Nov. and the K. of Spain accepted his Terms of Peace 26 Jan. 1723. After which the South Sea Company's Stock increas'd apace like a Meteor, being 800 per Cent. when the King went for Germany 15 June 1720. But in his Absence the Lords Justices on 15 Aug. order'd a Writ call'd a Scire facias against the other Stocks or Bubbles that had rose in Proportion, whereby the Stock of the South Sea fell from above 1000 per Cent. gradually, till it came at last to a Par, and many thousand People of all Characters were much hurt or quite ruined, who had engaged too deep in those wild Transactions. The K. return'd 15 Nov. and the Parliament enquir'd into the Affair of the South Sea. He made Pope Clement XI. ask Pardon for arresting the E. of Peterborough 1720. The K. made a Progress into the West of England in Sept. 1722. Layer's Plot was defeated, he was hang'd and Dr. Atterbury Bishop of Rochester was excommunicated and banish'd for it 1723. ## The Old Kings of Man.

MAN call'd by Ptolomy Monœda to distinguish it from Mona or Anglesey, by Pliny Monabia, by Bede Menabia, by Gildas Eubonia, by the Welsh Menaw, and by the English Man, in Length 30 Miles, was first inhabited by the ancient Britons for many Ages, and upon the Declension of the Roman Empire taken by the Scots, who possess'd it till Edwin the Great King of Northumberland in the beginning of the 7th Century took it from them, and the Saxons kept it till the Norwegians, after they had conquer'd the Hebrides or Western Isles of Scotland, and some Parts of the North of Ireland, sail'd round and took this Island about A. D. 800, and tho' they kept it many Ages, yet we have not a Catalogue of their Kings, till upon the Death of Edward the Confessor King of England 1065, Harald Son of Godwin Earl of Kent mounted his Throne, against whom Harald Harfager King of Norway came into the Field and fought the Battel of Stainford Bridge, where the English put all the Norwegians to flight, out of which Chace Godred surnamed Crovan Son of Harald Niger of Island came for Protection unto

1. GODRED 1. Son of Spyric (then King of Man) who honourably receiv'd him and † 1066.

2. FINGAL succeeded his Father 1066, and then Godred Crovan (who had returned to Norway) invaded Man, and was twice vanquished by the Mankmen. But his 3d Invasion prov'd more successful, for he routed them and forc'd them to become his Subjects.

Harald the Black of Island.

3. GODRED II. Crovan having subdued the Mankmen became their King 1066, and having reign'd among them in Peace for 16 Years he † in the Island call'd Isle A. D. 1082.

4. LAGMAN succeeded 1082, and reign'd 7 Years. His Brother Harald rebell'd until Lagman having taken him Prisoner order'd his Eyes to be put out, and his Members of Generation to be cut off; but afterwards repenting of this Barbarity he took a Journey to Jerusalem and † 1089. Then the Nobility requested Purecard Wrien King of Ireland to send a fit Person of his Blood Royal to be King during the Minority of his Brother OLAVE. Purecard therefore sent DONALD Son of Tade, as on the Right.

7. OLAVE 1. succeeded MAGNUS I. and was a peaceable King. He † 1144. His Wife was Africa Daughter of Fergus of Galloway. He had several Concubines.

Harald rebell'd against his Brother LAGMAN, who severely punish'd him, as on the Left.

5. DONALD Son of Tade began his Reign 1089, but he reigning with great Cruelty, all the Nobility conspir'd against him and expell'd him to Ireland, after he had reign'd 3 Years 1092. Then

6. MAGNUS 1. King of Norway assum'd the Government of Man 1092, and reign'd till 1102, or according to others 1111. when Olave Son of Godred Crovan mounted the Throne.

8. GODRED III. was created King of Man 1144, and King of Dublin 1147. Wherefore Purecard King of Ireland sent Osbeip his half Brother with 3000 Men to Dublin, but they were routed and Osbeip slain by GODRED and the Dublinians. GODRED proud of this Success return'd to Man and began to tyrannize, wherefore one Thorla Son of Otter, came to Summerled and made Dulgal (Summerled's Son) King of the Islands, which Godred understanding rigg'd out a Fleet of 80 Ships, and 6 Jan. 1156, fought with various Success, and next Day the Islands were partition'd, as on the Right. GODRED being defeated by Summerled 1158, sail'd to Norway for Aid against Summerled, who in the mean time was slain, and after 4 Days his Brother Raignald Son of Summerled assuming the Rule, GODRED came upon him with a Norwegian Army, took him Prisoner, and bereft him both of his Eyes and genital Members 9 Nov. 1187, but a few Days after he † and his Body was translated to the Isle of Ely. He ordain'd that his Son OLAVE should succeed him, he being legitimate, but the People of Man seeing he was but 10 Years of Age sent for RAIGNALD, natural Brother of OLAVE, and made him King.

Raignald a natural Son was depriv'd of both his Eyes and genital Members by his Brother the King.

Lagman and Harald two natural Sons.

N. N. a natural Daughter Wife of SUMMERLED Pr. of Herergudel, fought against his Brother-in-Law GODRED 1156, with dubious Success, and then partition'd the Kingdom of the Isles between them, which occasion'd the Overthrow of that Kingdom. He defeated GODRED 1158 and intending to conquer All Scotland, he was vanquish'd and slain.

Dulgal King of the Islands, as on the Left.

Raignald. Engus. Olave.

10. OLAVE II. having defeated his Br. RAIGNALD 1230 succ. and partition'd the Kingdom with his Nephew Godred Don, after whose Death he obtain'd the Kingdom of the Isles. He † 20 May 1237, in St. Patrick's Island, and was buried in the Abbey of Ruffin.

9. RAIGNALD 1. a natural Son being set upon the Throne 1187, there were great Divisions and many turbulent Attempts which had no End till the Battel of Tnignalla, where his Br. OLAVE was victorious and RAIGNALD was slain 1230, and his Body buried in the Abbey of St. Mary de Fourneys.

GODRED DON obtain'd the Islands, but was slain in the Isle Lodhus.

11. HARROLD born 1225, succeeded his Father 1237, went to the King of Norway 1239, who under his Great Seal confirm'd this Kingdom to him, his Heirs and Successors, and all the Islands possess'd by his Predecessors. He return'd to Man 1242, had Peace with England and Scotland, and that same Year went again to Norway and married the King's Daughter, but as he return'd with his Wife 1249, he was drown'd by a Tempest near the Coasts of Radland.

12. RAIGNALD II. succeeded his Brother 1249. He was slain by one Quar a Knight in a Meadow near Trinity Church, 1252, and was buried in the Church of St. Mary of Ruffin, after he had reign'd 3 Years.

13. MAGNUS II. came to Man and was King 1252. He return'd to Norway 1253, and staid there till 1254, † 1265, and was buried in the Church of St. Mary of Ruffin. Next Year ALEXANDER III. King of Scotland having seiz'd the Hebrides or Western Isles from the Norwegians, brought the Isle of Man under his Dominion as one of the Number, and the Scots kept Possession of this Isle till 1340, when WILLIAM Montacute Earl of Salisbury subdued it by force of Arms. He sold it and his Regalia 1393, for a large Sum of Money to WILLIAM Scoop, who being behended for High-Treason it came into the Hands of HENRY IV. King of England, who granted this Island to HENRY Piercy Earl of Northumberland 1399, who rebelling 1403, the King sent Sir John and William Stanley to seize the Isle and Castle of Man, the Inheritance whereof he afterwards granted to Sir John Stanley and his Heirs by Letters Patent, with the Patronage of the Bishoprick, &c. so that his Heirs and Successors who were honour'd with the Title of Earls of Derby were commonly call'd Kings of Man.

TABLE DXX.

The Origin of the IRISH Monarchy.

THE learned Antiquary Thomas Innes M. A. of the Scot's College at Paris, in his Essay of the ancient Inhabitants of Scotland, modestly begins his Enquiry with wondering that the learned Men of the Irish Nation have not (like those of other Nations) yet publish'd the valuable Remains of their ancient History, whole and entire, with just Translations, in order to separate what is fabulous, and only grounded on the Traditions of their Seanachies, Poets or Bards, from what is certain History; whilst O Flaherty, Keating, Toland, Kennedy and other modern Irish Historians have render'd all uncertain, by deducing their History from the Deluge, with as much Assurance as They deliver the Transactions of Ireland from St. Patrick's Time.

IRELAND, no doubt, says Mr. Innes, was inhabited very early, most likely, from the nearest Shoars of Britain, as the first Britons came from the nearest Coasts of Gaul, for so the World was at first planted by Degrees after the Deluge; for the ancient Britons and Irish were much alike in their Language and Customs, and They might have had many petty Kings, like the Britons, before the Christian Era: but Camden pleasantly and justly says, That if what the Irish Writers relate of their Antiquities be true, those of all other Nations, compared with them, are but of yesterday: for they say, that Nain's three Daughters before the Flood, took Possession of Ireland, mention'd (according to Keating) in Leabhair Drommasuachta, or Book with the white Cover, written (as Kennedy says) by their Pagan Ancestors: But Keating owns that Story to be fabulous, as also the Story of Ceasrach the Niece of Noah or else the Daughter of Beatha mention'd in Psalter Casbel. They are also particular and positive in their Accounts of the four first Colonies that came into Ireland, the first after the Flood 270 Years, and the fourth landed A. M. 2507, or six Years before the Exodus of Moses, according to Keating, but according to O Flaherty a little before the Siege of Troy; with the Names of their Chiefs, the precise Time and Place of their landing, the Names and Reigns of their several Kings, their memorable Actions and proper Dates, the precise Time that each Lough emerged in Ireland (a Circumstance not matched in other Histories) their Genealogies from Psah, the Year when each Colony expired, and the precise Number of Years that Ireland was a Desert, between the Expiration of one Colony and the landing of the next.

After this, They give yet more circumstantial Accounts of the Milesian Colony and their Predecessors from Fenius Farsaidh or Fenissa Farsz, (Great Grandson of JAPHET) and his Son Nial and his Offspring, with their Circuits backward and forward between Scythia and Egypt, up and down through Europe, Asia and Africa, until They settled in Spain, as in Table 522. And how afterwards HEREMON the Son of Milesius arrived with his Colony in Ireland on Thursday 1 May and 7th of the Moon, before the Christian Era 1400 Years, or according to Keating 1300, Table 523, which O Flaherty has reduced to 1000 Years. But DONALD O Reil King of Ulster and the other Princes of Ireland, in their Letter to Pope JOHN XXII. A. D. 1317, inform the Pope, that according to their Bards, the Milesian Colony settled in Ireland 2200 Years before Christ, with a List of 136 Irish Kings of that Race, which the Moderns have reduced to 127.

But in order to explain this Antiquity, there is a mighty Difference between the Scottish and Irish Accounts of the Milesian Race; for the Scots in Britain who derive their Pedigree from Ireland, have no History of Irish Antiquities but what They copied from those of Ireland, as Kennedy affirms: but having no private Views to tempt them to make any Alterations in the Traditions They received of Ireland before They came into Britain, the Scots may be supposed to have preserved them as at first delivered, or more pure than the Irish Antiquaries, who have the Honour of their high Antiquity so much at Heart: Therefore the Scots affirm in the general, that They have preserved the Genealogies, the Names of Founders with their Chronology, just as They receiv'd them at first from the Irish Bards; (as in Fordun Edit. Tho. Hearne p. 487.) whereas the modern Irish have alter'd the Accounts of the more ancient Bards, in order to polish their first rude Draughts, for the Honour and Antiquity of their Kingdom. Thus, 1. The Scots affirm the Milesian Descent from GOMER; but the Irish from MAGOG. 2. The Scots make 104 Descents from ADAM or 94 from NOAH till King CONARC MOR about the Time of the Incarnation of Christ; but O Flaherty cuts off 30 of them to make the List near suitable in Number to the Descents of Christ's Progenitors. 3. The Scots affirm, that GATHELUS, or Gadelglusi, or Gadelas the Son of Nialus, having fled from Greece or from Scythia to Egypt, mrd SCOTA, Pharaoh's Da. in the Days of MOSES, and with her leaving Egypt, because of the Plagues, arriv'd at length in Spain and founded there the Kingdom of the Scots (so call'd from SCOTA) and from thence he sent the first Colony to Ireland under his Son Ugher (from whom it was call'd Ughernia) and that from Gathelus in the 13th Degree descended MILESIUS, or Muchus, or Miledespaun King of the Scots in Spain: That this Account was confirm'd to Fordun by the Irish Bards and learned Men, among whom he travell'd on purpose when composing his Chronicle in the 14th Century, not long after the said Letter of King DONALD O Reil. 4. Whereas the more modern Seanachies or Bards of Ireland becoming more learned in after-Ages, and discovering the first Draughts of their Antiquities to be inconsistent with sacred History, thought with Reason that They had as good a Right to correct and reform their Antiquities as the Old Bards had at first to invent them: and so observing that MOSES being the 16th from NOAH could not be Contemporary with GATHELUS the 7th from Noah; there being about 600 Years between them, according to O Flaherty; but not willing to part with the Name of SCOTA, They have found a new Lady SCOTA, the Da. of a new Pharaoh; and Milesius travelling from Spain into Scythia, and thence into Egypt, mrd her there and thence carried her with his Followers into Spain, the Mother of a long Race of Kings, as in Tab. 522, and 523. 5. The Scots affirm from their Traditions that their Milesius sent a second Colony from Spain to Ireland with his three Sons, viz. HEREMON, PARTHOLOM (or Bartholom) and HYBERT; that the two last remain'd in Ireland, but that HEREMON return'd to Spain and succeeded his Father Milesius, whose Royal Race continued in 20 Generations, until King FORDUIN or Fondulph, who sent a third Colony from Spain to Ireland under his Son SIMEON BREAC, who brought with him the famous fatal Stone (Jacob's Pillow in the Field of Luz) and placed it as the Seat of his Throne at Themur or Thembra, the Capital of the Kingdom of the Scots in Ireland, founded about 600 Years before the Christian Era, and that from him all the Kings of Ireland are descended and afterwards the Kings of Scotland too. Whereas the modern Irish resolving to raise the Antiquity of their Monarchy, affirm that HEREMON did not return to Spain, but remained in Ireland and founded the Irish Monarchy (as above express'd) that SIMEON BREAC was never in Spain nor out of Ireland, being the 38th King of the Milesian Race in Ireland descended from HEREMON; and that he was hang'd or torn to pieces, as in Table 523. 6. The modern Irish depreciate the Scottish Traditions; for that John Fordun a private Churchman who wrote in the 14th Century, is not to be compared with CORMAC CULLENAN, who was both a King and a Bishop, the Author of the Psalter Casbel in the 10th Century. But the Scots reply, that John Fordun's Book is publish'd, but not the Psalter Casbel, which is kept conceal'd with the other Works of the old Seanachies. And farther, that as the Psalter Casbel quotes the old Book with the White Cover, that of the Immigrations and some old Irish Poems; so John Fordun for his Chronicle quotes alia Chronica with Grossum Caput, the Legenda Brandani, Legenda Congalli, &c. which are as good Vouchers as the others. 7. The Scots quote Stennius a Writer in the 9th Century (more ancient than Psalter Casbel, or any Irish Book yet publish'd) saying, He had his Accounts from the most learned among the Scottish Nation, and that the Scots (descended from SCOTA the Daughter of Pharaoh) came from Spain to Ireland 1002 Years after the Egyptians were drown'd in the Red Sea, which according to the Hebrew Chronology is 489 Years before the Christian Era. This then was the Common Opinion long before the Psalter Casbel was written, confirms Fordun's Account, and makes it probable that the Scottish Traditions were preserved as at first deliver'd. But since the Psalter Casbel was written, the Irish Seanachies have alter'd the old Traditions in order to raise their Antiquity higher, and have added 40 Kings to the Catalogue from HEREMON to SIMEON BREAC. 8. Therefore it is incumbent on the learned Gentlemen of the old Irish Nation to publish their best Records, that the World may be able to make some Judgment of their Antiquity: Nay, 'tis long'd for much, especially that Sir James Ware, a Gentleman of Learning and Fortune in Ireland, says, Antiq. Hybern. Cap. 4. pag. 10. That the ancient Histories of Ireland before King LEOGAIRE, are fictitious, or strangely mixed with fabulous Narrations, and therefore in his Account of the Kings he begins no higher than LEOGAIRE, who began his Reign A. D. 427, and that the Reputation of Sir James, Archbishop Usher, Camden, Whittingfleet, the ancient Stennius, Soetnius, Opela, Strabo, Macinus, and many more, preponderates That of the modern Irish, unless these produce and publish such proper Vouchers as can refute the Others: for from those learned Authors one must conclude, that there is no Village of Learning or Letters among the Irish before King LEOGAIRE and his Contemporary St. PATRICK, and that it was the Misfortune of the Island not to be invaded by the Romans, who polish'd all their Conquests, and even those They fought against.

But seeing They have generally so great an Esteem of their ancient Kings, and give out that They can prove 'em by proper Vouchers in due time, I think it my Duty to exhibit them in my Genealogical Disposition, as I have already the uncertain Kings of other Nations.

TABLE DXXXI.

A Brief History of IRELAND from King HENRY II. A. D. 1172, to his present Majesty King GEORGE II.

AFTER the petty Kings and Princes, the Nobility, Clergy and People of Ireland had voluntarily submitted themselves to King HENRY II of England, as to their Lord and King (for he did not conquer Ireland) A. D. 1172. They received the Laws of England in a publick Assembly at Lismore; and having allow'd them the Freedom of Parliaments, he was pleas'd in five Years to erect it into a Kingdom, creating his youngest Son JOHN King of Ireland, aged seventeen, A. D. 1177. See Mollyneux's Case of Ireland stated, concerning its being bound by Acts of Parliament made in England printed 1720.

King JOHN went thither, and tho' he soon returned, he acted as King of Ireland during his Father's and Brother's Reign over England; nay, if his Brother King RICHARD I. had left Issue, JOHN's Issue would have been Kings of Ireland, without any Dependence on the Parliament of England. But RICHARD dying without Issue, JOHN, who had been King of Ireland 22 Years, succeeded to be King of England also A. D. 1199, and so the Crowns were united. King JOHN visited Ireland again A. D. 1216, and having received the Homage of twenty petty Kings, he (not as King of England, but) as King of Ireland appointed Vice Counts and other Officers to rule according to the Laws and Customs of England, and returned. He † 1216, and in November that Year his Son a Minor, viz.

King HENRY III. by his Guardians at Bristol granted a Magna Charta to Ireland the same with that of England, and granted the People the same Privileges as the People of England enjoy'd; and A. D. 1228, he empower'd his Lord Justice RICHARD de Burgh to assure the Irish he would inviolably preserve all their former Charters; and we read, that when King HENRY was in France warring against the King of Castile, his Queen, then Regent of England A. D. 1254, wrote to the Parliament of Ireland, requesting Men and Money to support the King.

Thus from these Three Kings (not from the Parliaments of England) Ireland received the same common Law and civil Constitution with That of England, with their own free Consent, Allowance and Acceptance, as a distinct and separate Kingdom, without any Subordination to or Dependence on the Parliaments of England: nay, the Learned of Ireland say, that no Statutes or Acts of an English Parliament were of old obligatory in Ireland, till re-enacted by an Act of the Irish Parliament, that gave them all their Force and Vertue in Ireland; or unless the Irish Members did sit and vote in the Parliaments of England, as They did in the Reigns of EDWARD I. and EDWARD III. affirming also that otherwise no Instance can be shewn of an English Statute binding Ireland till A. D. 1642, occasion'd by the Massacre and Wars; for in CROMWELL's Time the Representatives of Ireland sat and voted in his Parliaments at Westminster. Yet tho' They have never sat and voted there since the Restoration, but have had Parliaments of their own in Ireland, the Parliaments of England and of Great Britain have claim'd a Superiority over Ireland, of which the People of Ireland complain, as of an unjust and grievous Innovation.

But as to the Aborigines in Ireland, commonly call'd the Native Irish, They never could set up a Monarch as formerly, not having had a Military Chief to train them up in martial Discipline, and could never shake off the English Yoke: For when the Irish King of Connaught A. D. 1169, despising the Forces that King HENRY III. had left in the English Garrisons, attackt them with a great Army, They prov'd only a great Mob upon a Battel; for the Lord Justice GEOFFREY PARRE slew 20000 of 'em and took their King Prisoner. See Rapin. Next in the Reign of King EDWARD I. the Old Irish groaning under English Tyranny (as they call'd it) sent for Aids to ROBERT BRUCE King of Scotland, and he sent them some with his Brother EDWARD BRUCE A. D. 1315, who joining the Irish conquer'd all the Island, and was crown'd Monarch of Ireland till A. D. 1341, when PORTIMER came from England with a powerful Reinforcement and took the Field against King EDWARD BRUCE; upon which King ROBERT BRUCE went in Person to Ireland to succour his Brother, but at his Arrival he found his Brother had been slain in a Battel wherein he had too rashly engaged; and so ROBERT return'd to Scotland.

Their next Insurrection was in the Reign of King RICHARD II. when the English in Ireland petition'd England for Aids against the Natives A. D. 1393, and a great Sum of Money was rais'd to support that King's Expedition into Ireland 1394, who made some Progress against the Natives, but Winter made him retire to Dublin; but in the Spring RICHARD chose rather to return to England and suppress the Lollards, in order to conciliate the Favour of the Clergy. Then the Irish Chiefs took to Arms with one Accord, and ROGER PORTIMER Earl of March the English Lord Lieutenant was by them slain in Battel A. D. 1398, upon which King RICHARD arriving with a numerous Army at Waterford 31 May 1399, march'd to Dublin and had some Advantages over the Irish, till suddenly he was diverted by a general Revolt in England under Henry of Bolingbrook.

Tho' the French Wars and the Civil Wars of England kept the Kings of Holk and Lancaster from minding much the Affairs of Ireland, yet the Irish attempted not to set up a Monarch of their own, thinking now that the Kings of England were their natural and rightful Sovereigns. In the Reign of King HENRY VII. A. D. 1486, when the Impostor LAMBERT SIMNEL call'd himself the Earl of Warwick and came to Ireland, he was receiv'd, and at Dublin crown'd by the Name of King EDWARD VI. So PERKIN WARBECK was well received there A. D. 1497. In the Reign of King HENRY VIII. they made no Sir, because he was by his Mother the Grandson of King EDWARD IV. and he was also terrible to Them: Now in the 32d Year of his Reign A. D. 1541, his Parliament at Dublin enacted Ireland to be a Kingdom, and that the Kings of England for the future should be stiled also Kings of Ireland, being heretofore stiled only Lords of Ireland: And in his Daughter Queen MARY's Reign, Pope PAUL IV. made a Kingdom too.

But the native Irish being under the Influence of Rome, abhor'd Queen ELIZABETH, and would not assist in her Irish Parliament (which They call'd therefore a pack'd Convention) nor would submit to her New Oath of Supremacy; nor durst she execute her penal Laws in Ireland till after the Defeat of the Spanish Armado 1588, and when They came to be executed, the old Irish Chiefs under the Earl of  Tyrone were exasperated into an open War, that lasted till near her Death, when her Deputy MONTJOY persuaded Tyrone and his Confederates to accept of a general Amnesty, with the free and open Exercise of the Romish Religion, and the full Possession of their Estates A. D. 1603.

This was confirm'd next Summer by her Successor King JAMES I. when Tyrone submitted to him in Person, and was honourably receiv'd at Court. And the Native Irish believing King JAMES lov'd them (having in Queen ELIZABETH's Time privately assisted them more than Spain did publicly) were disturb'd by his Reign; tho' They were much provok'd: For artful CECIL employ'd one St. Laurence to entrap the Earls of Tyrone and Cromwell, the Lord of Delvin and other Irish Chiefs into a Sham Plot, which had no Evidence but his; but those Chiefs being basely informed that Wrenn was to be hanged against them, foolishly fled from Dublin, and to taking Guilt upon Them, They were declar'd Rebels, and Six entire Counties were forfeited at once forfeited to the Crown, which was what their Enemies wanted. See Ireland's Case briefly stated, printed 1695.

In the Reign of King CHARLES I. the Earl of Stratford Lord Lieutenant seiz'd many large Estates for frivolous Causes, not to serve his Master but to enrich himself, as Lieutenants and Deputies were wont to do: Nay, he seiz'd a very large Territory in Kilkenny County A. D. 1625, only 10 Years before King HENRY II. was intitled to it 463 Years before. But when King CHARLES I. had consented to Stratford's Execution and to make the English Parliament perpetual, the Native Irish were very sorry for it, and being well inform'd (as They thought) that now They must either turn Protestants or depart the Kingdom, or be hang'd at their own Doors, They took to Arms in their own Defence, especially in Ulster, where the six Counties had been forfeited.

Mean while, the King sent by the Marquis of Antrim his private Instructions to the Earl of Ormond the Deputy, to join the King's Army in forcing Parsons and Burghs, the two Parson Lords Justices, and in taking Possession of the Government there for the King against the Protestants, which Order was to be executed on the 16th of November 1641. But Ormond not having communicated this Order to the Ulster (whose secret Enemy he was; for he lov'd Papists too well) and They soon discovering it (Ormond's Friends say by Antrim; and Ormond's Friends both deny it) They were hugely enraged at the Concealment, thinking Themselves as good as Ormond, and more capable to promote the King's Interest: Therefore to shew their flaming Zeal for the same Cause, They conspired to be beforehand with Ormond, and even to go beyond his Instructions, without acquainting the King therewith, which They had Cause to repent of at Leisure.

For to get the Start of Ormond, They agreed on a General Massacre of the Protestants to begin on the 23d of October 1641. It was happily prevented at Dublin the Night before, by the Discovery of O'Conelly, when Lord PAR BURKE, PAR WATSON and others were taken for attempting to murder the Lord Justice and the Castle of Dublin. But Sir PHILIP O'NEIL and the other Chiefs of the North, not knowing of the Mischance at Dublin, actually observed the last Day for the General Massacre of the Protestants, pretending They had the King's Broad Seal for it; tho' They could shew that Seal from off a Royal Grant of Lord CAULFIELD's at Charlemont, and affixed it to their Swam Commission; Nor did ever any of 'em assist, by dying, that King CHARLES I. so much as advis'd the Massacre, tho' some of 'em were offer'd their Lives for the Discovery.

But as They destroy'd many thousand Protestants by various cruel Deaths, so the Government cut off, without Quarter, as many of the native Irish as could be found; so that 'tis hard to say whose Party lost most Lives; only the Roman Catholics will not allow of 20000 Protestants being slain, because there were not so many in the Island. And finding no Hopes of Peace, most of the Irish Chiefs met at Kilkenny, enter'd into an Association, or a sort of Covenant, rais'd a good Army to extirpate the Protestants and recover their Independency; but still with all Expressions of Love and Loyalty to King CHARLES I. who therefore, when his Affairs grew worse and worse in England, sent Orders to Antrim to influence the said confederated Chiefs to his Behalf. But when that King was beheaded, the Native Irish were next punish'd by General CROMWELL, who, They say, made his Soldiers shew the Irish ought to be dealt with as the Canaanites in Joshua's Time.

After the Restoration of King CHARLES II. none of the forfeited Irish were restored who had been guilty of Murder and Massacre; but upon their Restrictions and Explanations many thousand innocent and noble Families were undone: And tho' that King was unmindful of them, neglecting the oaths had been forfeited for their Loyalty to his Father and him too; yet They never disturb'd his Reign. But in the next Reign, or of his Brother King JAMES II. They became considerable; for when he abdicated the Throne of England A. D. 1688, he went to France and from thence to Ireland, where he set up his Royal Throne, acted as King of Great Britain and Ireland, and demanded the Allegiance and Obedience of all his Subjects, even in Scotland and Scotland; then the Native Irish all rose up in Arms in his Cause, and made a noble Stand for him, till by King WILLIAM They were defeated and King JAMES was forced to sail back to France.

They have not disturb'd the Government of England since the Peace of Utrecht, but have ever since liv'd quiet, as now They do under the Administration of his present Majesty GEORGE II. King of Great Britain, France and Ireland.

T A B L E DXXXII.

The Chief Governors of IRELAND from the voluntary Submission made to King HENRY II. of England A. D. 1172, to the Deposition of King RICHARD II. A. D. 1399.

THE Government of Ireland is by Vice-Kings, (tho' they have not that Name.) They were first call'd Governors, and Keepers, or Wardens, Generals, Lords Justices, and now Lords Lieutenants and Deputies of Ireland.

Their Authority is ample and Royal, having Power to make War, to conclude Peace, to make all Magistrates and Officers, except a Few, to pardon all Crimes, except High Treason, to dub Knights, &c. Nay, in all Christendom, no Viceroy comes nearer the Majesty of a King for Jurisdiction, Authority, Retinue, Fortune and Provision. He is assisted in Council by the Lord Chancellor of the Realm, the Lord Treasurer and others, the Earls, Viscounts, Bishops, Barons and Judges, which are all of the Privy Council, form'd much in the same manner as in England.
